U. S. TO FACE DEBT BARRAGE

TRACTION PLANS AND FEES COST CITY $4,124,537

Hope to Call Halt on Expenditures.

Since 1911 the city of Chicago has paid $4,124,537 to transit experts, lawyers and commissions for the preparation of traction ordinances, subway plans and for litigation that has accompanied the various attempts to settle Chicago's transportation problems, it was shown yesterday in reports of the city controller's office.

These expenditures have been mainly out of the city's transit fund and, it was pointed out, have been characterized by waste and the compilation of a weighty stack of documents seldom disturbed by city officials. Now, according to reports in the city hall, steps are to be taken by the administration to halt further expenditures out of the traction fund until the city is actually ready to build the State street subway. Such a decision is expected to be reached at a series of conferences scheduled to start when Mayor Cermak returns to the city.

These conferences will also decide whether the city is to continue the special assessment proceedings now in court for the purpose of settling the amounts property owners in the central business district and vicinity are to pay for the construction of the State street subway.

Begin on Appropriations.

Following these conferences the council finance committee will begin work on the next year's appropriations and a concerted effort will be made then to halt the expenditure of any more traction money.

"I am opposed to spending any more traction money," Ald. William A. Rowan [10th] said yesterday, "unless there is a guarantee that some work on the subway will be done next year and some men employed."

"I want all expenditures from the fund stopped," said Ald. John J. Hoellen [47th], "if, as it appears, subway construction is going to be delayed for years. In that case there is no necessity for spending out of the fund."

The property owners contend they cannot pay a special assessment now for a subway. They have pointed out that the transit fund, built up out of fares of street car riders, is invested in tax anticipation warrants so that the city could not pay the portion of the cost described as a public benefit. They have pointed out that the transportation companies, some of which are in the hands of receivers, have not accepted the new ordinance, and that it may be years before the consolidation of the companies is effected.

Favors Cutting Expenditures.

"If the property owners cannot pay," said Ald. James B. Bowler [25th], chairman of the council local transportation committee, "the city should give them some time before asking for payment of special assessments for the subway.

"I'm in favor of cutting expenditures out of the traction fund to a minimum, but I don't believe that we should drop the special assessment cases. It may be two years or more before other litigation is concluded but at the end of that time I would like to see the city in a position to build the subway." However, we should decide before any moves are made just what the situation is in relation to the proposed subway construction."

The special assessment cases are to come up Nov. 28. Before that date Corporation Counsel Sexton and Irving Rooks, attorney for the board of local improvements, expect to confer with the mayor, Col. A. A. Sprague, commissioner of public works, and Ald. Bowler as to the course the city will pursue.

The inability of the traction fund of approximately $64,000,000 to pay for the subway construction is shown in the daily reports of City Treasurer Kearns. On Nov. 9 the city had in its treasury $97,610,754, of which $7,548,105 was in cash and $90,062,648 was in securities, mostly tax anticipation warrants.

Traction Fund "Frozen."

The city's money and securities are lumped together into an "aggregate of funds." Separating this fund into its several units the transit fund would emerge with only $4,960,000 in cash and $59,040,000 in securities. As the tax warrants held by the city are not to be redeemed until after those held by the public, no city official would predict yesterday when the transit fund again will be liquid.

Current expenditures, however, are depleting the cash in the transit fund.

SEVERE COLD PUTS ROOSEVELT IN BED FOR REST

G. O. P. Radicals to Get Patronage.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Assurances that the ailment which caused the President elect, Franklin D. Roosevelt, to take to his bed today was no more than a severe cold, were given tonight by Marvin H. McIntyre, the governor's press secretary.

Mr. Roosevelt was running a "slight" fever, Mr. McIntyre said, and has been troubled in the last few days with a sore throat.

Today the Roosevelt family physician, Dr. L. W. Gorham, was calling at the executive mansion to treat one of the governor's associates, so Mrs. Roosevelt asked Dr. Gorham to see the President elect.

No Appointments Until Tuesday.

The physician, after a thorough examination, declared the governor had no signs of any chest or throat infection, and he prescribed a complete rest which Mr. Roosevelt already had decided upon.

The governor will make no appointments until Tuesday, Mr. McIntyre said. He had planned a three day rest anyway, at his Hyde Park home, but because of the raw weather in northern New York, with snow threatening, he decided today to abandon his plan to go to Hyde Park and he will take his rest at the governor's mansion.

Meanwhile the work piled up for the governor in connection with his remaining duties as executive of the state of New York and will stay piled up until next week. The only plan thus far announced by the governor is that he will leave about Nov. 20 for his Warm Springs, Ga., home for a two weeks' vacation, during which he will meet congressional leaders to plan a policy course for the December short session of the lame duck congress.

Has Ambitious Plan.

Political advisers of the governor revealed today that he has ambitious plans for making the Democratic party the majority party of the country by fusing the radical Republican groups with the regular Democratic organization into a single, permanent organization.

In this aim, Mr. Roosevelt, as President, is expected to deal with such radical Republicans as Hiram Johnson of California, George Norris of Nebraska, the La Follettes of Wisconsin, and others, as regular party members, giving them patronage privileges and important committee posts in the new congress.

HOOVER RETURNING EAST

BY JOHN HERRICK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Palo Alto, Cal., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—President Hoover left for Washington, D. C., tonight to carry on the business of government for his final four months in office.

His special train pulled out of Palo Alto at 8:35 p. m. on a schedule which will bring Mr. Hoover back to the White House next Tuesday noon.

The family reunion which the President and Mrs. Hoover have been enjoying for the last four days was carried aboard the train with them. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hoover Jr. and their three children—Peggy Ann, Herbert III., and Joan—and Alan Hoover are to travel with the party as far as Pasadena, where the President and Mrs. Hoover will stop for a brief visit to the Herbert Jr.'s new home.

Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Ray Lyman Wilbur and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Esberg also will accompany the President to Washington.

The President was the central figure in an Armistice day celebration on the lawn of the Hoover home. The President pinned the recently revived Order of the Purple Heart on Andrew W. Nielsen, who was wounded in the Argonne.

In his turn Mr. Hoover had had pinned on his lapel by Lansley Shoemaker, one legged veteran, the forget-me-not of the disabled veterans.

U. S. Backs Japan's Plea to Outlaw Gas Reprisals

GENEVA, Nov. 11.—The United States, through Hugh R. Wilson, disarmament delegate, put its weight today behind the proposal Naotake Sato of Japan made on Wednesday that gas reprisals against violators of the ban on gas warfare be forbidden. This leaves Britain as the only great power that has not joined in this movement.

JAPAN'S RECORD BUDGET REVEALS BIG WAR CHEST

TOKIO, Nov. 11.—The draft budget for 1933-'34, as adopted by the cabinet yesterday, amounts to the unprecedented total of 2,235,000,000 yen [$463,350,000 at the current rate of exchange or about two-fifths of parity].

The war office's estimates absorb 662,000,000 yen [$139,020,000] and the navy's 372,000,000 yen [$78,120,000].

As the ordinary revenues are put at 1,330,000,000 yen [$279,300,000], the deficit reaches 905,000,000 yen [$190,050,000], which is also a record.

Holding that the depression makes increased taxation inadvisable, Finance Minister Takahashi has proposed to raise this sum by issuing bonds, which will amount to slightly more than 1,000,000,000 yen. While criticism of the army is still regarded as heresy, signs of discontent are seen. These signs foreshadow growth of agitation between now and February when the budget will be presented to parliament.

Movie Flyer Falls in Sea But Saves Self

HONOLULU, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Lieut. Charles D. Fator, U. S. A., has narrowly escaped with his life in providing a scene of realism for a movie "battle" which cost the army his plane.

While cameras clicked on the bluffs of Koko Head yesterday Fator's plane climbed high over the ocean to "attack" a navy submarine lurking 200 yards off shore and also aiding in the production of the war movie. Fator swung his plane into a power dive.

"I was making 275 miles an hour when the motor sputtered just as I was flattening out close to the water," the flyer said today. "I zoomed up sharply, working the pump. The motor sputtered once or twice more and quit cold.

Leaves Safety Belt Fastened.

"To get near the submarine I had to land down wind. I had managed to get up about 600 feet in the zoom.

"As the ship came down I debated whether to unfasten my safety belt. I changed my mind three or four times, and finally decided to leave it fastened and braced my left hand on the instruments."

The plane struck hard, watched by grimly winding cameramen on the cliff, and then sank.

"When I opened my eyes, I was under water," Fator said. "I unfastened the safety belt, but when I tried to crawl out, the parachute caught. I had to unfasten the harness to crawl out. That took a minute or more.

Grabs Floating Parachute.

"When I came up, the parachute floated and I grabbed it. The submarine turned and nosed up to me, so I swam over. A tugboat alongside assisted me."

Fator joined the Caterpillar club in February, 1931, when he deserted a burning plane over the San Jacinto mountains of California, escaping with a few scratches.

Seized for Store Holdup, Confesses 150 Robberies

John O'Dea, 19 years old, 6451 Yale avenue, was arrested late last night as he was about to follow two companions from a drug store at 1327 East 79th street where they had just robbed Stanley Brodrick, the owner, of $50. O'Dea, police said, confessed 150 recent robberies and other crimes, and named his two accomplices. The pair, whose names were given as "Chuck" Hewitt and John Griffen, are being sought. Two women passing by saw the Brodrick holdup and notified Policemen Michael Boyle and Frank Lumpp, who were cruising nearby. They hurried to the drug store in time to catch O'Dea.

MRS. RINEHART IS EXCLUDED IN HUSBAND'S WILL

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—[Special.] — Mary Roberts Rinehart, the novelist, will not share in the $76,021 estate left by her late husband, Dr. Stanley M. Rinehart. His will, probated today, referred to the widow's exclusion, stating that she had been left out at her own request.

"I have made no provision in this will for my beloved wife, Mary Roberts Rinehart, as she does not desire to share in my estate," a provision of the document states.

Mrs. Rinehart is named, however, as beneficiary of several life insurance policies, the amount involved not being made known. She is named as one of the executors of the estate along with Stanley Jr. and the Riggs National bank. Two other sons survive Dr. Rinehart. They are Alan G. and Frederick H. Rinehart. The will left the entire estate to the sons.

TURKS RACKING THEIR BRAINS FOR FAMILY NAMES

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Millions of Turks were racking their brains today to choose family names for themselves while the minister of interior prepared a law to enforce this latest western reform. Any names may be chosen as long as they are consistent with Turkish customs.

Heretofore family names have been nonextant in Turkey, thousands of women being simply "Fatimas" and thousands of men "Mustaphas" or "Husseins." Sometimes men have added names indicating they are the sons of a six fingered man or a fish monger—just for distinction.

Names must be chosen within six months after promulgation of the new law.

MEET BRUMLIK!! PINCH MITTING FOR GREETER GAW

Any fears that Chicago will be without an official greeter during the incapacity of "Col." [Kentucky] George D. Gaw were dispelled yesterday. It was announced on the official stationery of the city of Chicago that "Col." [Mex] George Brumlik, dance hall owner and politician, has been appointed by Mayor Cermak to take up the duties of interim greeter until "Col." [Kentucky] Gaw can get back to work. At present the regular incumbent is unable to perform such duties, as an injury to his right hand at a Halloween party prevents him from extending the felicitous grip of welcome without infinite misery. "Col." Brumlik's greeting hand is in good condition.

EUROPE OPENS UNITED DRIVE FOR REPUDIATION

Washington Sends Gov. Roosevelt Copy of Notes.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—Armistice day! Fourteen years after the United States, which staked the flower of its youth and all its vast wealth to save the allied nations from defeat, was faced today with a move by those same nations to force America to pay the bill.

United allied Europe has descended on Washington determined to gain postponement of the Dec. 15 war debt payments and thus pave the way for repudiation during the Roosevelt administration of the 11 billion dollar obligation owed the American government. Repudiation of this debt would also cost the United States ten billion dollars in interest.

Britain and France Deliver Notes.

When he went home tonight, Secretary of State Stimson left behind him under lock and key new communications from France and Great Britain seeking modification or postponement of the $13 million dollars in principal and interest which the two powers are obligated to pay the United States on Dec. 15 under the terms of the war debt funding agreements. This sum represents all but about $10,000,000 of the total war debt installments due from the eleven debtor powers on that date.

	Interest.	Principal.	Total.
Belgium	$ 2,125,000	.....	$ 2,125,000
Czechoslovakia	.....	$ 1,500,000	1,500,000
*Estonia	245,370	111,000	356,370
Finland	132,235	56,000	188,235
France	19,201,433	.....	19,201,433
G. Brit.	65,050,000	30,000,000	95,050,000
*Hungary	28,444	12,285	40,729
Italy	1,245,437	.....	1,245,437
*Latvia	102,652	46,200	148,852
Lithuania	92,386	.....	92,386
*Poland	3,070,980	1,357,000	4,427,980
Totals	$91,849,936	$33,084,485	$124,934,421

*Governments of these countries have advised the treasury that they will take advantage of the options granted to them in the respective debt funding agreements by postponing for a period of two years from Dec. 15, 1932, the payment of the principal of the bonds first issued under the funding agreements due on that date—Estonia, $90,000; Latvia, $37,000; Poland, $1,125,000. Greece defaulted yesterday on a $444,930 payment. This was the first default of any of the debt payments due since the expiration of the moratorium.

Negotiations Are Secret.

The British note was delivered yesterday by Ambassador Sir Ronald Lindsay. That of France was placed personally in the hand of Secretary Stimson today by Paul Claudel, French ambassador. The state department admitted that the notes had been received, but refused to shed any light on their contents beyond confirming reports that they touched on the war debt problem.

The understanding is that both communications had as their objects an extension of the Hoover moratorium, which already has deferred European payments to the United States of 246 million dollars.

Notwithstanding that the stake of the American public in this new European move amounts to more than 11 billion dollars in principal and 10 billions in interest, the negotiations are being carried on in secrecy. Secretary Stimson has guarded the negotiations so closely that even officials of his department usually informed on international developments have been kept in the dark.

Secrecy Shrouds Pleas Sent to Hoover.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Europe's great drive for the repudiation of its war debts to the United States is on.

The drive, which would unload on the taxpayers of the United States debts of eleven billion dollars, a remnant of the tremendous sums which America originally loaned to Europe to carry on the world war, is cloaked in the greatest secrecy. In addition to the eleven billions principal, the American taxpayers would be forced to assume the burden of ten billion dollars interest on the debt.

Great Britain yesterday presented a note to the United States, pleading inability or undesirability of paying America the installment and interest on its debt of $95,500,000 due on Dec. 15.

Debtors Form United Front.

The contents of the note, which are being kept secret, were communicated today to the Belgian, French and Italian ambassadors by Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon, and it is expected that similar notes will be addressed to the United States by these powers shortly.

Britain's action in working closely with the other debtor nations is in accordance with the "gentlemen's agreement" signed at the Lausanne conference at the time the reparations due them from Germany were scaled down from 26 billion dollars to 714 million dollars. The total German reparations debt was 95 billion dollars.

Under the "gentlemen's agreement," the debtor nations agreed that the German reparations settlement should not become effective until a corresponding reduction in war debts had been granted by the United States. Simultaneously Great Britain and France signed a "consultative pact," under which they agreed to keep each other fully advised of all international negotiations which either might undertake. This pact was later opened to all the other debtor nations.

Claim Stimson Hails Publicity.

British officials today refused to make public its note to the United States, claiming that this was at the request of Secretary of State Stimson. The British officials said they had nothing to hide and urged immediate publication of the note, but, they said, Stimson insisted that nothing be made public until after President Hoover's return to Washington next Tuesday morning. It is not certain that the note will be published even then, unless the British take the matter into their own hands, these officials said.

The negotiations leading up to the presentation of the British note by Sir Ronald Lindsay, British ambassador at Washington, were declared here to have been carried on directly between Simon and Stimson. Efforts were made in the British foreign office to prevent any of Simon's assistants from learning anything about the negotiations.

This secrecy extended even to an attempt to hide the fact that Great Britain had presented the note. A newspaper leak broke this veil of secrecy.

Seek Final Favor from Hoover.

While Simon and other officials remained silent today, authoritative sources revealed that the European powers proposed to use all their diplomatic and financial power to get a final favor from President Hoover—some sort of an extension of the present moratorium, pending negotiations for a tremendous scaling down of their debts to America or perhaps even cancellation.

Some British diplomats consider President Hoover more friendly than President Elect Roosevelt might be to a "readjustment of world finances," and they hope to induce him to take some step which will commit the new administration in Washington to an agreement to negotiate for a reduction or cancellation of war debts.

It is now accepted here as settled that the world economic conference scheduled to be held in London cannot be held before April or May, and there is even talk of a longer postponement if conditions seem to make this desirable.

"REVENGE ON HOOVER"

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 11.—That the British demand for postponement of the Dec. 15 war debt payment to the United States, which was followed today by instructions to the French ambassador in Washington to make a similar request in the name of the Paris government, was part of a concerted European plan, agreed upon months ago and thought out to the last detail, became apparent today.

This plan is really Europe's revenge on President Hoover for the moratorium on German reparations which he proposed to Europe as a surprise. It goes all the way back to the Lausanne conference, which scaled down the German reparations, and which adopted that famous "gentleman's agreement," and received its final touches during the recent visit to London by a high official of the French treasury, Jacques Bizot, the significance of which THE TRIBUNE indicated at the time.

No Surprise to Europe.

(It was related that Bizot and Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, British expert, discussed the question of a combined Franco-British offensive on war debts. This, it was assumed, included the French scheme for separation of the "commercial" and "political" parts of the debts. At the same time Premier Herriot of France made a statement denying that he had ever told anybody that France would make the payment due the United States Dec. 15).

So, far from coming as a surprise to the Paris government, the British move was communicated to Quai d'Orsay last Wednesday and at the same time the Italians and Belgians were assigned their zero hours for the offensive. They will be coming over the top almost any day now.

By agreement among the debtor powers, it was arranged that nothing would be done until after the American elections, and that no time would be lost then in launching the attack.

Britain Leads the Way.

By common consent it was agreed that the British should lead the way, since Britain would be able to invoke powerful considerations of national emergency. She could say that meeting the payment might have a disastrous effect on the pound. It was decided that the French onslaught would come not more than 24 hours later, before Washington had a chance to take an official stand on the question, and that the justification invoked would be that Hoover had intervened in the Lausanne conference to persuade the French to give up reparations and that thereby America had incurred the moral responsibility for granting a new deal on the war debts.

It is understood that the four governments established among themselves the exact texts of their notes to Washington, as well as the order in which they would be served. The British and French notes were timed accurately to hit Washington in the absence of President Hoover and before he has had a chance to hold any consultations with the President elect or congress. Thus, Washington is face to face with an accomplished fact.

Premier Herriot worked out a plan of strategy for the future today in consultation with Finance Minister Louis Germain-Martin and treasury experts. At the same time former Finance Minister Pierre-Etienne Flandin, who is working hand in glove with the Herriot government and is expecting to get the London ambassadorship, was dispatched to England to acquaint Prime Minister MacDonald with the French plan and above all to make sure that no rift enters into the united front which has been so painfully patched up in the last six months.

In a semi-official note by the Havas agency justifying the French government's stand, it is stated that "this move is justified by the fact that at Lausanne France consented, in accordance with American suggestions and as a consequence of the Hoover moratorium, to make a heavy reduction in the German debt."

Pastor Gives Up Watchman Who Flees After Shooting

Patrick Scully, 18 years old, of 3 Studio place, was shot in the right leg last night while in front of 314 South Lincoln street, near the Second Baptist church, 1357 Jackson boulevard, by Wilbur Hall, a watchman for the church, who claimed Scully and another boy were trying to strip an automobile. This the Scully boy denied. Hall fled, but later surrendered to the police, accompanied by the Rev. Ralph Schell, pastor of the church, to whose home at 1946 South Wesley avenue, Oak Park, he went in fright after the shooting.

Woman Loses 3 Rings Valued at $3,800 in Hotel

Mrs. L. T. Starkel of the Hotel La Salle reported to police last night the loss of jewelry valued at $3,850 in the Hyde Park hotel at Lake Park avenue and Hyde Park boulevard. She said she had been visiting a friend, Mrs. F. H. Burke, there, and that she left three rings in a washroom. When she remembered them and returned they were gone. One of the rings was valued at $2,000 and the others at $1,200 and $650.

MAYOR SEES 5C BEER SOON AND MAKES A PLEDGE

To Mayor Cermak a prediction that beer will be retailed in Chicago in the near future at five cents a glass seems to be reasonably prophetic. In fact, he had enough faith in that prospect to make a pledge not to touch the beverage or any liquor until beer is within the reach of Chicagoans at that price.

"I will not touch liquor," declared the mayor, "until I can buy beer at five cents a glass."

There are two motives behind the pledge, the mayor said. One is a willingness to comply with his physician's orders and the other is a belief that five cent beer will be a reality within a short time, perhaps within sixty days. The mayor's confidence in five cent beer seemed to politicians to spell the end of the hoodlums' tribute on liquor dealers. They pointed out that it would mean a maximum price of $20 a barrel to the retailer.

HOOVER TO TALK OVER WAR DEBT WITH SENATORS

Reported He Will Confer with Roosevelt, Too.

ered the communications so important that they were immediately telegraphed to President Hoover, now en route to Washington from California. It is understood the purport of the communications also has been communicated to President Elect Roosevelt. President Hoover is expected to take the debt matter up with members of the cabinet next week and later with Republican and Democratic senators and representatives.

All indications today were that the delivery of the notes was part of a prearranged secret understanding whereby the British, French, and other debtor governments held up their requests until after the elections so as not to embarrass the Hoover administration. Whether Norman Davis, American delegate to the Geneva disarmament conference and confidential agent of the state department, paved the way during his recent trips to London, Paris, and Rome was not made known.

Advise Hoover to "Sit Tight."

It is believed, however, that Great Britain and France are counting on the Hoover administration to take such steps on postponement of the Dec. 15 installments that the incoming Roosevelt administration will be committed to a reopening of the question.

One thing seems certain. From now until March 4 those who watch the Washington stage will see both the President elect and the retiring President jockeying to dodge the responsibility for what happens in the debts matter.

The President's advisers are urging him to make no move without consulting either President Elect Roosevelt or other Democratic leaders. It is pointed out that inasmuch as the Hoover administration was voted out of office, the entire responsibility for handling the debts lies with the incoming administration.

Hoover Can Delay Principal.

The President can, at his discretion, defer the payments, but only congress can postpone the interest charges. The President's advisers are urging him not even to defer the principal installments.

Should the President dump the problem in the lap of congress, he would, in effect, be handing it over to the new Democratic administration, as the Democratic congress would take no action on such an important matter without consulting Gov. Roosevelt.

Should Europe succeed in repudiating the war debts, American taxpayers will be compelled to dig up more than 11 billion dollars to retire Liberty bonds which otherwise would have been paid off by the debt payments. In addition, they will have to pay the interest on these bonds until retired.

SENATOR ROBINSON DECLARES AGAINST DEBT CANCELLATION

Fayetteville, Ark., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Senator Joseph T. Robinson, senate Democratic leader, said in an address here today that "it seems the part of prudence" for the United States to declare a fixed policy for collection of war debts and "end the agitation which is certain to gather volume soon in favor of cancellation."

Senator Robinson said that since the debts now due the United States by European powers were used for rehabilitation of commerce and the war torn areas he could see "no equity in the appeal for cancellation, particularly as the adjustments [war debts] are for amounts but little more than the advances made following the armistice."

He characterized Premier Mussolini's recent speech asking the United States to "forgive Italy's war debts" as an "amazing method of popularizing his rule at the expense of a friendly foreign government."

ILLINOIS TO MEET INDIANA IN GAME OF LEGISLATION

Friendly Rivals at Keeping Platform Pledges.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

French Lick Springs, Ind., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Indiana may challenge Illinois to a test of speed in the keeping of campaign pledges. Or, if Indiana is slow in getting into action, Illinois may be the one to challenge.

This prospect developed here today with the arrival of the first impending post-election conferences. Judge Henry Horner, governor elect of Illinois, arrived with Mayor Cermak of Chicago, and other Chicago and downstate Democratic chieftains either are already here or are expected tomorrow and Sunday.

At the same time Tom Taggart, the junior of a famous sire who led the Hoosier Democratic forces through many battles when going wasn't so good as last Tuesday's, is expecting the Indiana winners to arrive here on Monday for a similar powwow. Among those expected are Paul V. McNutt, governor elect, and Frederick Van Nuys, who defeated United States Senator Watson, Republican floor leader.

Friendly at Big Convention.

No joint conference is scheduled, but the victors in the two states, it is predicted, would mingle freely in the hotel lobbies and rooms, even if the way for close communion had not been paved at the Chicago convention, where, it will be remembered, Mayor Cermak cast the votes of both Illinois and Indiana for Roosevelt on the big final roll call that settled the nomination.

The early arrivals already have begun to thresh out the comparative triumphs of the Democratic victories in the two neighbor states and from these amicable arguments as to which made the better showing for the party has come the report that before the conferences are over there will be a friendly rivalry established which probably will attract the attention of the nation.

Naturally such conversations turn to the subject of prohibition, and it is in this field that there is a challenge or a double challenge in the making.

Started by Illinoisians.

The Illinoisians here started it by predicting that when their general assembly meets on Jan. 5 plans will be complete for the repeal of the state prohibition laws in record time. The Hoosiers promptly came back with the statement that their legislature meets on the same day and offered to wager a small amount—or a large amount if that be desired—that their lawmakers can and will go through the repeal faster than will the Illinois solons.

In each state matters of organizing the legislature ordinarily take some time, but the indications are that this time each body will try to find the shortest cut possible to final action on the prohibition question. The Hoosiers contend they will have the easier time in eliminating red tape, as the majority of Democrats in each chamber of their legislature is, as one of them put it, "darn near unanimous."

Both Governors Elect Wet.

In Illinois the Democrats will have a good majority of the senate. The house, in which until last session the former repealers always were beaten, will show only a small majority. In order to pass an emergency act by a two-thirds vote the Illinois representatives must have wide support on the Republican side. But here in Indiana the Democrats say they can go it alone and are just waiting for the opportunity.

The governors elect of both states, Judge Horner and Col. McNutt, ran on wet platforms. The Illinoisian said it would give him pleasure to sign a repealer and the Hoosiers' next governor has taken the same position. Both are expected to urge repeal in inaugural messages.

Therefore it is considered likely that when the two legislatures meet, after having been prepared for the situation by their advance scouts here, there will be a challenge to a speed contest in repeal legislation.

Horner and Cermak Late Comers.

Judge Horner and Mayor Cermak, having been misdirected on the road, did not reach here until midevening and found they had been preceded by Congressman William H. Dietrich, United States senator elect; Bruce A. Campbell of Belleville, downstate campaign manager, and his chief aide, John Stelle of McLanesboro; Justice Norman L. Jones of the Supreme court, Scott W. Lucas and other downstaters, in addition to others of the Chicago contingent.

Judge Horner immediately spiked rumors that there would be a "Dolly Gann" at Springfield during his administration.

"I have entertained without assistance in my home in Chicago for years," he said, speaking in a slow, emphatic manner, "and after I am inaugurated my home will be the executive mansion, where the same practice will be observed. I see no reason for any change, and the question of social amenities is the least of my problems. I have far more weighty matters to consider."

Restaurant Union Agent Surrenders; Denies Plot

George B. McLane of Cincinnati, organizer for the Hotel and Restaurant Employés and Beverage Dispensers' International alliance, surrendered last night on a conspiracy warrant obtained by Gus Terzakis, president of the American Restaurant association. With four others, who were arrested on Thursday, McLane is to appear in felony court on Monday. McLane said the union has limited its activity to peaceful picketing in an effort to establish a living wage for restaurant employés.

Kerner to Order Investigation of Len Small Interest Suit

In his chambers in the First District Appellete court at 30 North Michigan avenue, Judge Otto Kerner, Democratic attorney general elect, yesterday, outlined his official program. His first official act, he said, will be to order a complete investigation of the compromise settlement of $650,000 made by Len Small in payment of the $1,300,000 he was adjudged to have taken from the treasury as state treasurer. The investigation will be directed toward forcing payment of the $650,000 balance.

Judge Kerner said he will, at the same time, prosecute the cases pending for the last eleven years against Andrew Russel and Fred Sterling, both former treasurers. There are two claims against Russel and one against Sterling, now lieutenant governor, but defeated for reëlection on Tuesday. Small will be involved in the Russel prosecution as he is surety on two of the latter's bonds.

Blue Sky Laws.

Further Judge Kerner pledged himself to more stringent enforcement of blue sky laws to protect investors and to active coöperation with state's attorneys. He said he would appoint able, energetic and experienced lawyers as his assistants and pointed out that his experience on the Circuit and Appellte benches would serve him well in rendering opinions as attorney general. He said such opinions would be based on the law rather than on political expediency.

"I consider my election a mandate from the people to investigate the Small settlement," Judge Kerner said. "Under our constitution no one can release an executive officer from a financial obligation to the state. If the legislature cannot do it, the attorney general should not have done so.

"I will make a complete investigation. If I find the settlement to have been unwarranted I shall prosecute the collection of all money due the state from Small. I shall also prosecute the cases pending against Russel and Sterling.

Sue in Sangamon County.

The cases against Small, Russel and Sterling will be brought in the Circuit court of Sangamon county, the judge said.

As attorney general Judge Kerner plans to spend three days a week in Springfield and two days in the office here, which houses the inheritance tax branch, one of the state's sources of revenue.

As to his relations with state's attorneys, Judge Kerner said: "The office of the attorney general is a powerful weapon for law enforcement. It can render valuable assistance to state's attorneys. It also provides a check when these fall down. This phase of the office has for many years been neglected.

"I propose to tour the counties of the state and visit with state's attorneys. If at any time I should hear complaints which are substantiated upon investigation I shall not hesitate to step in."

Vigorous enforcement of the blue sky law in recent years would have saved investors much money, the judge said. He declared under his régime every effort would be made to protect investors from stock frauds.

Engineer on Golden State Limited to Retire Today

Napoleon F. Briggs, 70 years old, 310 West 71st street, will make his final trip today as engineer of the Golden State limited. The arrival of the train at the La Salle street station will mark his retirement after fifty years' service with the Rock Island lines. Briggs said that he plans to cruise Lake Michigan in his motorboat after his retirement.

U. S. Senator Lewis Goes to Hospital for a Rest

Senator James Hamilton Lewis entered the Henrotin hospital yesterday for a rest at the orders of his physician, Dr. M. L. Harris. The senator will return to his duties in a few days, the doctor said. The rest was ordered, Dr. Harris said, because the senator has been harassed by job seekers and has been worn by the campaign.

IRISH REPUBLICAN ARMY MEN RIOT; POLICE CLUB MOB

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Sharp fighting occurred in the streets of Dublin tonight when the police broke up a parade of several thousand young men of the Irish Republican army.

After the demonstrators had marched around St. Stephen's green and Merrior square they attempted to pass Trinity college. A large force of police blocked their way. The police drew their batons and charged again and again to break up the demonstration. Many persons were injured and removed to hospitals. Several were arrested.

Members of the crowd threw stones at shop windows displaying Armistice day poppies and snatched poppies from the lapels of pedestrians. The police said that many young men were equipped with brass knuckles and other weapons. The situation became so ugly all available police reserves were called out. As the night advanced the police charges became more and more frequent.

WINTRY WEATHER WILL CONTINUE OVER WEEK-END

Wintry weather prevailed in Chicago yesterday and, according to the official forecast, will continue today and tomorrow.

Yesterday's temperature clung close to the 28 mark and there were flurries of snow from dark gray skies. The forecast indicated there would be a fall in the mercury to about 22 above zero early this morning and that the light snowfall would continue at intervals. Tomorrow is expected to be clear but continued cold.

The conditions are radically different from those on the similar date in 1931, when the maximum temperature was 60.

Cold was general over the country east of the Rockies. Carbondale, Ill., had a two inch fall of snow, more than was recorded at any time last winter. In southwestern Minnesota twenty inches of snow lay on the ground and huge drifts were piled on the highways. Temperatures fell to 15 above zero in the blizzard swept area. Freezing was forecast last night for Tennessee, Georgia, and Alabama, while light frost was looked for in northern Florida.

HOTEL MEN READY TO SERVE BEER ON 24 HOURS' NOTICE

'It Can't Come Too Soon,' They Chorus.

Chicago hotel men were jubilant yesterday as they contemplated an early authorization of the sale of beer, probably with meals, to their guests. Most of them are in a position to start serving beer within 24 hours after the word is given, it was revealed.

"The sale of good beer with meals will greatly stimulate food sales in the hotels," said Walter L. Gregory, manager of the Palmer house, who is chairman of the committee for prohibition repeal of the American Hotel association. "Persons who wanted beer with their meals formerly contributed to the pockets of the speakeasy proprietor with his gangland connections. That money will now help legitimate business."

"Can't Come Too Soon."

Karl Eitel of the Bismarck hotel declared that legalization of beer "can't come too soon."

"We made a specialty of selling near-beer in steins that was so good that many of my friends thought it was real," he said. "We've got the steins and the equipment and we're all set to serve real beer."

Alexander Hannah, of the famous old liquor firm of Hannah & Hogg, and now owner of the Brevoort hotel, said that the round crystal bar of the hotel, now used for serving luncheons, would be available as a service bar for real beer at a day's notice.

Tracy Drake, speaking for the Blackstone and the Drake hotels, said the hotels will be ready to sell beer to their guests on short notice.

"I don't know bout bars," he said. "We must wait and see what form of sale will be permitted by congress."

Expect Service Bars.

All the hotel men pointed out that President Elect Roosevelt and President Hoover both have declared against a return of the saloon. Installation of service bars in hotel may be permitted, however, it was pointed out, the beer being drawn at the bar and brought to tables.

"The College Inn has a service bar which would be ideal for serving beer," said Eugene Byfield of the Sherman hotel. "We have also installed a modern type bar for sandwiches in our lobby within the last month. Both these may be used for beer if the law permits."

John Burke, manager of the Congress hotel, which once housed a famous bar and café, added his voice to the happy chorus.

"We're all ready for beer," he said. "When the word comes from Washington it will start flowing in our hotel."

A Corned Beef Stand.

The mention of bars caused speculation concerning the whereabouts of many of the popular bars of pre-prohibition days in Chicago. Righeimer's, political hangout on Clark street across from the county building, is one of the few in which the shining mahogany bar still survives. It has been a corned beef sandwich shop for more than a decade.

Stillson's and the Marine bar in Dearborn street, the Chapin & Gore barroom in the Majestic theater building, and many others are no more. Former Alderman Michael Kenna, whose Workingmen's Exchange in South Clark street boasted the longest bar in the world, yesterday revealed, with a touch of sadness in his voice, that the historic bar had long ago been broken up and sold for junk.

JUDGE ASSAILS DRYS FOR USING CROOKS TO CAPTURE CROOKS

Crooks should not be employed to catch fellow crooks, Federal Judge Thomas W. Slick declared in the Hammond District court yesterday in condemning methods used by dry agents in a case before him.

The case was that of Richard Mather, charged with selling liquor at Lafayette. Dry agents testified they had used the friendship of another bootlegger to trap Mather. Judge Slick gave the defendant a 60 day suspended sentence on his plea of guilty.

"I don't believe in using crooks to catch crooks," said Judge Slick. "If a law cannot be enforced without using these methods, something is wrong."

Reduce Size of New Prison If Dry Law Is Repealed

Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 11.—(AP)—"Prospects for repeal of the eighteenth amendment" were offered today by J. O. Parr, architect, as the reason for reducing the proposed capacity of the new El Reno federal reformatory at a saving of $1,300,000. "The bureau is of the opinion," Parr said, "that, with prohibition repealed, there will not be a need for so many prisons."

GALENA MAYOR ASKS ORDINANCE FOR BEER SALE

Galena, Ill., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Upon request of Mayor Robert I. McKeague City Attorney Louis A. Nack began work drafting a city ordinance to repeal the existing liquor law ordinance and to provide for the licensing of places for the sale of beer upon the action of congress and the state legislature.

This repeal ordinance will be presented to the next meeting of the city council, which is overwhelmingly wet, and an easy passage is assured. Galena never went dry under local option and had thirty-three saloons, two breweries, and two wholesale whisky houses, which paid a license of $15,000 to the city.

The loss of this revenue has never been replaced, and the city looks forward to collecting it again so that taxes may be reduced. Plans are also under way here by a group of Galena business men to restore one of the old breweries and have it ready for operations.

2 NORTH SHORE SOCIETY WOMEN THROWN AT HUNT

Two north shore society women were thrown from their mounts yesterday during a special hunt at the Onwentsia Hunt club.

Mrs. Donald M. Ryerson of 261 North Mayflower avenue, Lake Forest, was thrown while galloping over a recently ploughed field. Her horse stumbled and partly rolled upon her. She was forced to discontinue the chase and went home, but said last night that she felt no ill effects.

Mrs. Merrill Hubbard of 1078 Edgewood road, Lake Forest, was thrown when her mount stumbled at a jump, but she continued the chase on another horse.

PROSECUTOR HALTS RAIDS AS NEW JERSEY VOTES DRY REPEAL

New York, Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Special Prosecutor George F. Losche of Bergen county, N. J., who has expressed himself as a dry, announced in Hackensack today that his office will conduct no more liquor raids, except on specific complaints, in the county between now and Dec. 6, when repeal of the Hobart act becomes effective. The Hobart act, the state prohibition enforcement law, was passed in 1922. A referendum, conducted with Tuesday's election, revealed the state overwhelmingly against it. The vote for repeal in Bergen county was 108,204 for repeal and only 17,883 against repeal.

TWO SENATORS PREDICT EARLY ACTION ON BEER

Filibuster Threatened by Holdover Drys.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Two Republican senators high in the leadership of the senate today announced confidence that beer legislation will be enacted into law at the coming short session of congress.

Senator Hiram Bingham [Rep., Conn.], mainspring of the fight for beer at the last session of congress said he would call up his four per cent beer bill for action at the first opportunity.

Earlier in the day Senator David A. Reed [Rep., Pa.], chairman of the military committee, said the Volstead act would be modified to permit beer without delay.

Drys Plan Filibuster.

The optimistic predictions of the two senators were made as several holdover dry Republicans, Democrats and radical Republicans prepared to filibuster to death any move to give the country beer at the short session. This group includes among others, William E. Borah [Rad. Rep., Idaho]. It is understood that Senator Charles L. McNary [Rep., Ore.], assistant majority leader of the senate will work with the groups attempting to sidetrack legislation designed to modify the Volstead act.

In the face of the threatened filibuster move both senate and house leaders today went ahead with plans for putting the beer question up to congress at the earliest opportunity.

After Senator Bingham had announced his program Representative John McDuffie [Dem., Ala.], Democratic whip in the house came out with the assertion that the recent election should be followed at once by modification of the Volstead act. Representative James M. Beck [Rep., Pa.] takes the same position.

Bingham Outlines Plan.

Senator Bingham, who was defeated for reëlection, said that the surest way to get beer legislation would be for both the senate and house wets to rally back of the four per cent beer bill which he sponsored at the last session. He pointed out that a new bill or a bill sent over by the house would have to go through a hostile committee to reach the senate floor.

"It seems to me," said Mr. Bingham, "in view of the votes on prohibition in all the states which had referenda and the tremendous vote for wet candidates plus the fact that the Democrats have an immediate repeal and modification plank in their platform, that the only way to stop passage of a beer bill at this session is for the drys to filibuster.

"In view of the unmistakable sentiment of the country I hope there will be no filibuster."

The Bingham bill provides for sales of 4 per cent beer in hotels, restaurants and to the home, the latter purchases in case lots.

Representative McDuffie said he saw no reason beer legislation could not be enacted at the short session.

"The people have spoken in no uncertain terms," he said. "They indorsed the Democratic platform which promised beer. There can be no mistake as to their wishes. I see no need for waiting for the new congress to act."

Japanese Envoy Leaves for U. S. by Way of Siberia

TOKIO, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Katsuji Debuchi, ambassador to the United States, left today for Washington, D. C., across Siberia and Europe. He should reach New York by the middle of next month. His wife and daughter are accompanying him.

MICHIGAN'S 'LIFE FOR PINT' VICTIM MAY BE FREED

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Governor Elect William A. Comstock's promise to free prohibition offenders now serving prison sentences may curtail the imprisonment of Fred Palm, the state's original "life for a pint" law victim, it was pointed out here today.

While Palm was technically sentenced to life imprisonment as an habitual criminal, the actual offense which brought about the maximum penalty was possession of a pint of gin. Palm pleaded guilty, but has since contested his sentence, finally carrying his case to the United States Supreme court without obtaining a reversal.

Palm is now serving a sentence of from 7½ to 15 years in Jackson prison, his life sentence having been commuted during the term of Gov. Fred W. Green after the legislature had modified the drastic "life for a pint law." Green's commutation, however, provided for no credit for good behavior, so Palm must serve out the full 7½ years, which will keep him in prison until early in 1935 unless amnesty is granted him under the incoming governor's announced policy of clemency for victims of the prohibition law.

CUBA RUSHES AID TO STORM AREA; DEATH TOLL 1,700

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Nov. 11.—Under the personal supervision of cabinet ministers, Cuba today was pouring all the relief facilities it could muster into the hurricane stricken provinces of Camaguey, Oriente and Santa Clara, and particularly the town of Santa Cruz del Sur, where 1,000 persons were killed or drowned. Soldiers, doctors and nurses labored unceasingly to help the victims of the worst storm in Cuba's history.

A few restored communications are hour by hour adding verification to the appalling toll taken by the hurricane, which swept northeastward across eastern and central Cuba Wednesday, tearing down everything in its path. The total death toll tonight reached 1,700.

Town to Be Abandoned.

Secretary of Public Works Onetti pictured the horror of the scene at Santa Cruz del Sur. A 20 foot wall of water from the sea accompanied the 130 mile gale and engulfed the town of 3,500, which was founded on swampy ground. Not a building was left standing. Bodies were found floating and lodged in trees. Facilities for burial were so insufficient that cremation was ordered. So complete was the destruction that the secretary advised that the seaport town never be rebuilt. Possibly 70 small boats in the habor were swamped in the storm, which lasted 12 hours.

Yesterday and today airplanes flew across the island to take stock of the damage. Special trains with relief personnel and supplies were pushed as far as the rails were intact. They carried quinine, vaccine, and preventive serums to guard particularly against typhoid and gangrene. Emergency hospitals were set up. Last night doctors performed operations by candlelight.

Carry Injured out of Area.

Other trains were bearing injured out of the torn district, where there were no provisions or care available for them. Two gunboats were sent to Santa Cruz del Sur to afford relief, and a ship was sent from Trinidad, a port of Santa Clara province. Soldiers were set on guard at the most severely stricken towns to prevent looting. Squads of men picked over the débris for bodies. A little progress was made in clearing highways and restoring telephone and telegraph lines.

In Camaguey province outside the towns it was apparent that all standing crops were blown down, stock was killed or drowned, rivers were swollen, and nine out of ten houses were damaged or demolished.

Camaguey towns in the path of the storm were Santa Cruz del Sur, Camaguey, Ciego de Avila, Moron, Nuevitas, Jatibonico, Florida, Sibanico, Piedrecitas, Minas, Majagua, and a number of smaller villages. Camaguey city and suburbs were heavily hit.

Oriente Province Stricken.

The western section of Oriente province was stricken, including Manzanillo, Palma Soriano, Victoria de Las Tunas, Hongolosongo, Yara, Estrada, Guisa, Jobado, and Menses. Deaths were reported from the first three named and fishing craft were swamped in the harbor at Manzanillo.

Apparently the greatest damage in Santa Clara province was done by a backlash of the storm, which swept through the northeastern towns of Camajuani, Remedios, and Caibarien.

Greatest damage was done to Cuba's principal industry, sugar producing. The cane crop in the affected area was practically wiped out.

SOUND DEVICES SOLD CHURCHES; $50,000 SOUGHT

New York, Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Alleging breach of contract, Mrs. Alice Nibley Smoot, relative by marriage of United States Senator Reed Smoot, has filed suit here for $50,000 damages against the Electrical Research Products company.

Mrs. Smoot claims she contracted with the defendant company to sell sound-producing and reproducing apparatus to the Mormon church for use in 2,000 Utah meeting houses and missions. The complaint states that Mrs. Smoot was promised a salary of $750 a month in addition to special bonuses, but that although the plaintiff fulfilled her part of the contract the company dismissed her after attempting to deprive her of compensation.

Mrs. Smoot is a daughter of Charles W. Nibley, second counselor and a member of the first presidency of the church.

The suit was disclosed when it was transferred from the state Supreme court to the federal court on the ground that neither party is a resident of New York state.

The bodies of five persons who were killed at midnight Thursday in the crash of a Chicagoan's airplane near Kempville, Tenn., are expected to be returned to Chicago tomorrow for burial. Murray Pendleton, a friend of Joseph F. Hirt, the pilot, who was one of those killed in the accident, left yesterday for Kempville to bring back the bodies.

The party took off from the Curtiss-Reynolds airport in Glenview on Thursday morning for Fort Lauderdale, Fla., to spend the winter there. Hirt, the pilot, who was 40 years old, was president of the Forest Products Engineering company, 400 West Madison street. He held a private pilot's license and had had about 100 hours in the air, according to attaches at the Curtiss-Reynolds airport. His plane was a Stinson Junior monoplane [Lycoming motor].

Accompanying Hirt were his wife, Inez, 33 years old, Mrs. Elizabeth Hunter, 38 years old, a widow, and her two children, Robert, 4 years old, and Inez, 2 years old. The Hirts lived at 1901 Granville avenue. Mrs. Hunter and her children lived in Henry, in Marshall county.

Hirt's business associates said he had been flying for two years, relating that he became interested in aviation during the war, when he held a contract to supply the government with wood airplane propellers. They said they did not know of any relatives of the family in Chicago.

After taking off from Sky Harbor airport at Nashville at dusk after refueling, the plane was not heard from until residents of Kempville heard it circling near the town, apparently lost. Then the craft was heard to crash. A searching party set out and found the wreck. The smallest Hunter child, Inez, was still breathing, but died of concussion of the brain soon after she had been removed to a hospital.

Hirt flew alone to Fort Lauderdale and back to Chicago two weeks ago, his employés said. The Tennessee-Georgia route that Hirt was flying was swept by rain and fog Thursday night, but the party continued onward Fort Lauderdale despite the bad weather, dispatches said.

Mrs. Helen Nagel, 46 years old, was found beaten to death with a baseball bat yesterday in the Dunesview inn, a barbecue stand which she operated at Tremont, Ind., 15 miles east of Gary.

Sheriff Bernie Maxwell of Porter county, Ind., began a search for Frederick Burroughs, crippled nephew of Mrs. Nagel, who had made his home with her family for the last 15 years. Burroughs, the last person known to have been in the Nagel barbecue stand, was seen to drive away from there Thursday.

The body was discovered by Mrs. Nagel's husband, Frank, a steamfitter employed by the Johnson Service company, 1355 Washington boulevard. He left Tremont to come to work in Chicago Tuesday morning and returned home yesterday. His wife lay across a bed in the living quarters back of the lunchroom.

Jug of Liquor Found.

The bat with which she had been killed lay nearby. A gallon jug containing a quart of moonshine was found concealed behind a cupboard in the kitchen, and several empty ginger ale bottles were lying on the floor.

The motive for the killing was apparently robbery, although Dr. J. W. Dale, deputy coroner of Porter county, gave an opinion that Mrs. Nagel had been raped. Two slot machines in the barbecue stand had been broken open and the money taken from them.

The Nagels have three children, all married and living in Forest Park. They are Andrew Nagel, 7221 Madison street, a special policeman employed at the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, and Mrs. Jewell Holub and Mrs. Arthur Mikkle, who live at 7537 Jackson boulevard.

Children Accuse Relative.

They charged that Burroughs had been a constant source of trouble to their mother. He drank to excess and their mother had to reprove him on several occasions for taking money from the purses of patrons in the barbecue stand, they charged.

Tremont is a settlement about a station on the South Shore interurban line, principally used by cottagers who live during the summer in the Dunes region north of the station. Except for the owners of a few stores and lunchrooms, the settlement is virtually deserted at this time of year.

KILLED IN ACTION NOT A DESERTER; ON HONOR ROLL

Clinton, Mass., Nov. 11.—(AP)—The Soldiers' monument in Clinton was rededicated today to include the name of William F. Kittredge, who was listed on the company roll as a "deserter" when his outfit returned from France.

The soldier's sister, Mrs. Hannah Philbin, refused to believe her brother had deserted. She kept the case before war department officials through correspondence, and several years ago a French farmer, reclaiming a portion of a battlefield, unearthed a body, which was identified through the tag as that of Kittredge.

Another search of the records disclosed the man was with his unit when it went into action on that field. The war department records were changed to "killed in action" and the man was given a soldier's burial.

Leaders in War Seek Ways to Insure Peace.

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

Atop skyscrapers in the loop flags hoisted in honor of Armistice day yesterday whipped stiffly in the frosty breezes. In the streets below snow flurries swirled about the thousands who faced east as bells clanged and whistles screeched an echo of the tumult of fourteen years ago, while the wheels of a great metropolis ground to a stop and a silent prayer went up for the men who never came back from France.

Fourteen years after the close of the war it was divergent sentiment for national defense and for the "universal brotherhood of man" that characterized Chicago's celebration of the anniversary. Pleas for and against peace pacts and armed force as the surest way to world harmony featured the largest gatherings of the day.

Gen. Davis for Preparedness.

Officially, observance of the Armistice hour focused at the La Salle street entrance to the city hall, where a meeting was held under auspices of Cook county council of the American Legion. Gen. Abel Davis, whose regiment, the 132d infantry, was in the front line trenches when the war ended, voiced his belief in the efficacy of preparedness to a throng of 7,000 veterans and civilians.

Bands and drum and bugle corps of the Police, Commonwealth-Edison, Medill-Tribune, Board of Trade, and Woodlawn posts of the American Legion headed the parade that had circled the building and halted before the stand. Members of the bonus army were in line, and men and women from many offices along the street as a bugler stationed inside a window on the fifth floor blew "Taps," repeating the strains from the speakers' stand. Charles V. Falbenburg was in charge of the program.

Hail Pact of Paris.

Less than two blocks away, at a massmeeting in the Chicago Temple where James Grafton Rogers, assistant secretary of state, addressed 1,000 men and women on "Armistice Day and Disarmament," a resolution introduced by Salmon O. Levinson was passed hailing the pact of Paris as "the paramount law of all nations," and advocating universal drastic reduction of armaments.

Copies of the resolution were addressed to President Hoover and President Elect Roosevelt. The meeting was sponsored by the world friendship commission of the Chicago Federation of Churches.

"There is no good war, there is no bad peace," Judge Samuel Alschuler quoted Benjamin Franklin to 1,000 persons in the federal building yesterday morning. Judge Alschuler and Brig. Gen. John V. Clinnin, who also spoke, were introduced by United States District Attorney Dwight H. Green. The services were conducted by the Van Buren post of the Legion.

Bar Hears Gen. Parker.

Members of the Chicago Bar association heard Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commanding the 6th corps area, at a luncheon meeting.

National defense was the theme of the Hamilton club luncheon honoring the members and their sons who died in the war. Maj. Walter R. Jeffery was chairman and Gen. Frank S. Dickson, former adjutant general of Illinois, spoke on national defense.

Five posts of the American Legion, including Brophy, Forges, Cornwall, Douglas Park, and Austin, participated in the extensive program and parade organized by the Garfield Park Business Men's association, held at Madison and Crawford.

The Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes were conspicuous on the near north side in the religious service held by Dean Duncan H. Browne at the Cathedral of St. James. British colonial veterans and members of British organizations of the city were invited to the service by Consul General Lewis Bernays.

Scouts Help Place Wreath.

In Lincoln park 280 Boy Scouts and Sea Scouts and representatives of many Kiwanis clubs gathered at the Doughboy monument for their annual custom of placing a wreath. They then adjourned to a yacht in Belmont harbor, where an address was made by Rear Admiral Wat T. Cluverius, commandant of the Great Lakes Naval Training station.

"America came into the war last," he told his audience, "and was the deciding factor. Now the nations of the world look to us to prevent future wars."

On the roof of the Flamingo hotel, Hyde Park post of the Legion conducted a memorial service. At twilight a strong searchlight was flashed on and swept Lake Michigan all night.

Program at Vets' Hospital.

At Hines Memorial hospital in Maywood 1,100 veterans still disabled from their war wounds watched from the windows and from the grounds as the flag raising ceremony was held at 11 o'clock. Men of the Maywood and the Proviso posts of the Legion, the auxiliary of the Maywood post, the 33d division tank corps of the Illinois National Guard, and the Proviso High school band cooperated.

In the Italian district on the near southwest side, pageantry, flags, and festivities followed the solemn moment at 11 o'clock. Squads of the Bersagliere, Italian Alpine police, were present for the ceremonies held at 922 South Claremont avenue.

On the north shore the various suburbs held individual celebrations, the most pretentious being in Evanston, where Mayor Charles Bartlett took part in the services at Fountain square. Veterans of Foreign Wars held a meeting in the park at Main street and Chicago avenue.

British and Colonial Veterans organization will hold a dance tonight at the Hotel La Salle, coöperating with the women's auxiliaries.

Square post of the Legion will assemble at 8 p. m. tomorrow at Drexel Park Presbyterian church, 64th street and Marshfield avenue, for its annual memorial service. The ladies' auxiliary will attend as guests of honor and the Rev. C. C. Cox, pastor, will speak.

King George Places Wreath at British War Memorial

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Headed by King George and Queen Mary, members of the royal family and cabinet ministers, Great Britain today paid its annual homage to the dead of the world war with a two minute period of silence.

KING GEORGE.

King George laid a wreath at the base of the Cenotaph for the first time since his illness, brought on by a chill suffered at the 1928 Armistice day ceremonies. A brigade of red-coated guards, wearing huge bearskin hats, surrounded this most sacred of British monuments.

The prince of Wales was absent from the ceremonies in London. He represented his father in Scotland, where, at Edinburgh, he laid a wreath on the stone of remembrance.

Smaller crowds attended the ceremony at the cenotaph compared to last year. A few hours after the ceremony a small procession of communists carrying a wreath bearing an insulting communist slogan marched towards the monument. They were dispersed by the police.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 11.—France commemorated Armistice day by holding ceremonies at the tomb of the unknown soldier under the Arch of Triumph, at the tombs of Marshals Joffre and Foch and in the churches. Graves of the American dead were visited and wreaths were laid at their graves. Slight disorders were caused by the communists.

BERLIN, Nov. 11.—This day was not observed as Armistice day in Germany. The nation has honored her war dead since 1892 on the "Day of Repentance," which this year falls on Nov. 16.

DUBLIN, Nov. 11.—Sixty thousand persons attended at Armistice day service in Phoenix park. A minor incident occurred when a small group of former service men attempted to seize a British union jack, but a crowd closed in and prevented it.

Honor War Dead in Warsaw.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, Poland, Nov. 11.—In contradiction to constant rumors of Dictator Josef Pilsudski's serious illness, the marshal unexpectedly appeared today after three years of seclusion and reviewed the assembled troops in the main square of the Polish capital, despite cold weather and rain.

Marshal Pilsudski, clad in a thin overcoat, was enthusiastically cheered.

Today's fourteenth anniversary of Polish independence and of the armistice was celebrated with special fervor. The aviation corps was prominent in the celebration. Last night 886 aviators, including three Americans, who were killed in the world war, failed to answer the roll call when Chief of Aviation Colonel Rayski read their names during a ceremony at the military airdrome. Torches surrounded every aviation regiment.

President Ignace Moscicki today unveiled a huge monument as a memorial to the dead aviators.

Services at Gibraltar.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GIBRALTAR, Nov. 11.—The Armistice day celebration here was attended by the governor, army, naval, and civilian authorities and the consular corps. Wreaths were placed at the war memorials, including the one to officers of the U. S. S. Chauncey, which was lost on patrol duty in the Straits of Gibraltar.

DEDICATE TOMB IN ARLINGTON TO UNKNOWN DEAD

Hurley Speaks; Hundred Veterans Leave.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—The American Legion today, on the fourteenth anniversary of the armistice, dedicated to the memory of America's unknown war dead a simple marble tomb in Arlington cemetery bearing the inscription "Here rests in honored glory an American soldier."

Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley delivered the principal address of the short, but impressive ceremony in the Grecian amphitheater at Arlington. As he rose to speak a group of nearly 100 war veterans rose and left the amphitheater in protest to the secretary's attitude toward the recent bonus expeditionary force.

Visit Graves of Victims.

Earlier the ill feeling toward Mr. Hurley on the part of certain elements of the Legion had become apparent in the refusal of the Victory post drum and bugle corps to enter the theater where he was to speak. Instead this group escorted several former members of the bonus army to the graves of William Hushka of Chicago and Eric Carlson, the bonus marchers who were killed by police in the riots which preceded eviction of the bonus army from the capital last summer.

As he stepped to the front of the platform where Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams and other high army and navy officials were seated, Mr. Hurley gave no indication that he had noticed the hasty departure of the veterans in the audience.

He proceeded with his address, calling for a "rededication of our lives to American institutions and ideals" regardless of creed, race, or party.

"This soldier's body," he said, "was chosen from a group of fallen comrades, all of them known only to God. His body was designated for the immortal honor of serving to eternity in his own native soil as America's unknown soldier."

Preparedness Is Urged.

Louis L. Johnson, national commander of the American Legion, preceded Mr. Hurley on the program of speakers. He asked for constant preparedness as the greatest safeguard against war, and he quoted the utterances of George Washington to lend weight to his plea.

"Despite precept and costly experiences in every war the United States has ever had," said Mr. Johnson, "our people have reverted in time of peace to traditional carelessness and false security."

Following Mr. Hurley's address government officials and representatives of veterans' organizations formed a long line to place wreaths from each state on the tomb.

HANGS HERSELF IN HOME.

Talk of Sales Tax, and Not Economy, to Balance Budget

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Enactment of a new revenue bill at the coming short session of congress has been placed on the tentative legislative program worked out by Republican leaders, it became known today as the deficit for the current fiscal year approached 700 million dollars.

Senator David A. Reed (Rep., Pa.), one of the ranking members of the senate finance committee, said today that enactment of a sales tax at the coming session of congress is inevitable in view of the failure of the nuisance tax to provide revenue needed to balance the budget.

His views along this line were echoed by other Republicans who discussed the question. No voice was raised in support of further drastic governmental economies as a means of balancing the budget.

Nuisance Taxes Fail.

Senator Reed said the new nuisance taxes had proved a failure, while the returns from the income tax laws would prove "shocking reading" next spring. The Pennsylvania senator made no predictions as to how much income taxes would drop, but unofficial estimates have indicated that returns from this tax will go at least 250 million dollars below estimates, a 25 per cent decrease.

"Necessarily some action must be taken by congress as quickly as possible on tax legislation at this session," Senator Reed said. "The gasoline tax, one of the largest items in the revenue bill passed last session, is only in effect for one year and it must either be continued or substituted for."

View of Congress Unknown.

Senator Reed said he had "no ideas as to the change of congressional sentiment on the sales tax." He added, however, that he thought a "larger number of senators will support a sales tax in the coming session than did in the last." He said he believed the business pickup might increase revenues from existing taxes, but hardly enough to offset the steadily mounting deficit in the treasury.

"Income taxes next March will be a shocking surprise," he declared. "Revenue from that source will be shown to be pretty low. The so-called nuisance taxes have been a failure."

Senator Reed suggested as an "ideal" sales tax arrangement a plan whereby the treasury would have power to reduce the blanket levy whenever revenues exceeded needs.

ARMISTICE DAY NOTE IS CLIMAX OF COOKS' SCHOOL

Classes Ended with Final North Side Session.

With a flare of drums and presentation of the colors reminiscent of the signing of the armistice 14 years ago, the second annual CHICAGO TRIBUNE School of Cookery was brought to a close yesterday afternoon at the Aragon ballroom, 1100 Lawrence avenue.

This meeting was the last of 12 sessions on the south, west, and north sides of the city at which thousands of housewives have taken lessons in cooking from Mrs. Ida M. Chitwood home economist and food authority.

Snow flurries and low temperatures didn't keep away any of the north side cooks. In fact, they were on hand earlier than ever yesterday morning to get front row seats for their last cookery lesson this year. Similar crowds had jammed the ballroom on three previous days.

Tribute to War Heroes.

At 11 o'clock the vast audience, waiting for the opening of the school, rose and faced east in tribute to the country's world war heroes. Again at 1 o'clock it stood in silence as the colors were presented by the Medill Tribune post of the American Legion with the assistance of Joseph A. Hathaway of the Board of Trade post, recognized as America's best snare drummer, and Larry Hammond of the Elmwood Park post who has taken state honors as a drum major.

After a short address by Dr. John Thompson, a pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Chicago, and a group of patriotic songs sung by Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Dickerson, the cooking school pupils settled back to hear Mrs. Chitwood describe a turkey dinner from the stuffing to the last rose apple trimming.

Details of Turkey Dinner.

"Of course the turkey is the piece de resistance, but lots of your husbands will take the stuffing rather than the best piece of breast," she explained as she displayed a large bowl of bread, oats and bran.

"You know we used to make dressing out of cornbread, but that day is gone. Bran contains more food and mineral value and that's what we need on turkey day. Of course you can use chestnuts instead of bran, but those are too expensive for most of us these days."

The stuffing recipe prepared by Mrs. Chitwood calls for one loaf of white bread, one loaf of wheat bread [and this doesn't mean whole wheat], one box of crackers, one and a half cups of oats, and two cups of bran. One quart of milk, three well beaten eggs, and a half a cup of boiling water hold together these dry ingredients. The recipe provides enough stuffing for a 15 pound fowl.

Directions for Roasting.

"After you've cleaned the turkey be sure to rub it with baking powder: this tenders it," Mrs. Chitwood went on to explain. "And after this is done give it a second treatment with shortening and don't be afraid to use your hands.

"Then pop the fowl into the roaster, add two cups of boiling water, and put it into a 400 degree oven. As soon as it begins to steam turn down the heat to 375 degrees and then let the turkey roast 12 minutes for every pound."

The Entertainment Program.

After Mrs. Chitwood's demonstration came the entertainment program Phil Maxwell, master of ceremonies, introduced Donald Meek, the vice president in the current play "Of Thee I Sing," who advised that "an onion will build you up bodily but pull you down socially." Gaile Darling and John Cherry, other members of the same cast, drew laughs and applause with songs and cookery stories.

The Elaina Baker students of the North Shore School of Music were presented in a program of dance novelties, Miss Mildred Waterman sang a group of songs, and Mrs. Phil Maxwell joined Mr. Maxwell in the duet, "In Old Shanty Town." William Donahue, TRIBUNE advertising manager, addressed the cooking school during the intermission. Miss Eleanor Nangle of THE TRIBUNE staff was introduced, and Noble Cain, Chicago choral director, accompanied by Philip Warner, led community singing.

ARREST DIVORCEE AND N. Y. MAN ON CHARGE OF FRAUD

Lawrence C. Ives, 29 years old, and Mrs. Sarah Moise, 38 years old, a divorcée, both of Greenwich, Conn., were arrested in their room at the Drake hotel last night by Detectives William Bergan and John Shanahan of the detective bureau at the request of Sergt. William A. Murphy of the New York City police. Murphy aided in the arrest.

Police refused to discuss the case, but it was said that the eastern police want Mrs. Moise for alleged peculations amounting to $15,000 from her employers. She is said to have been a former secretary for a New York man. The concern itself, as near as could be learned, was Cowan & Delanger.

Mrs. Moise refused to talk, but intimated she would return to New York. Ives insisted that Mrs. Moise is his wife. They registered at the hotel Saturday under his name. Police said that Ives is a promoter and that he served eleven months in Elmira, N. Y., for grand larceny in 1925 and 1926. Police said Ives would be held as accessory.

Indiana Candidate for Governor Seeks Parole

Putnamville, Ind., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Trustees of the Indiana state prison farm today took under advisement the parole petition of Theodore Luesse, Indianapolis, communist party candidate for governor in Tuesday's election. He has served more than a year on charges of inciting a riot, and communist leaders have made frequent pleas for his release to Gov. Harry G. Leslie.

HELD FOR TRAFFIC DEATH.

Michigan City, Ind., Nov. 11.—Charles McConnell, 47, a salesman, was arrested at Long Beach, near here, following the death of Edw. J. Rosentreter, 40, Michigan Central crossing watching. McConnell did not stop, but the car was traced by police through a bumper lost in the impact, which threw Rosentreter's body 40 feet.

BRITAIN DRAFTS BILL TO REGULATE "MEANS TEST" FOR JOBLESS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 11.—The contents of a bill dealing with the "means test," which fanned the unrest in London during the recent invasion of the British "hunger marchers," was released tonight.

The "means test" is administered by local authorities. It determines the bare living necessities for the unemployed who have exhausted every source of income, including the dole. Previously its administration has been under wide interpretation by the local assistance committees. Some of them have been deducting sources of income which others have ignored. These irregularities have been the chief source of trouble because a war veteran who is drawing a pension in one district is docked while another war veteran in another district drew both the war pension and the dole.

A bill treating with these irregularities will be introduced in the house of commons next week. It provides that one-half of army pensions and workmen's disability pensions shall be deducted from the "means test" benefits. Investments (meaning chiefly postoffice savings) will not be considered below a sum of $135. Investments between $135 and $1,500 shall be computed on a basis of an income of 25 cents on each $135. Income from property shall be disregarded.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ATHENS, Greece, Nov. 11.—Samuel Insull celebrated his 73d birthday at the Aretaeion clinic today with policemen checking in and out the arriving guests. The former Chicago utilities magnate seemed to be in good spirits as he blew out the 73 candles on his birthday cake and then sliced it for his guests.

More than fifty persons called, mostly Greco-Americans. The room was filled with flowers. A large sheaf of telegrams and cables of congratulations were on a table.

Prosecutors at Naples.

NAPLES, Italy, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Charles A. Bellows and Andrew J. Vlachos, assistant state's attorneys from Chicago, arrived today on the steamship Roma en route to Greece, where they will attempt to secure the extradition of Samuel Insull, former Chicago utilities head. They said they were confident they would "bring Insull to justice in the United States," where he is under indictment on charges of larceny and embezzlement.

Charles Farrell, Film Star, to Undergo Nose Operation

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Charles Farrell, movie star, was off the Fox Studio pay roll today as a result of his determination to take a rest from picture making in order to conserve his health. Farrell was removed to a hospital to undergo an operation on his nose.

MOTHER OF FIVE KILLED BY AUTO NEAR HER HOME

Mrs. Elsie O'Hara Brandolph, 40 years old, mother of five children, was killed last night in front of 4919 Belmont avenue by an automobile. She lived at 5311 Fletcher street, and had just stepped off the curb when she was hit. The driver stopped, then turned off the lights of his car and drove away. Witnesses took Mrs. Brandolph to the Belmont hospital.

This fatality and two others increased the Cook county motor toll for the year to 972. The other victims:

Andrew Cheatham, 33 years old, a Negro, of 4414 Calumet avenue. Died in the county hospital. He was hit by a car at 41st street and South Park avenue Wednesday.

Elizabeth Tomlinson, 63 years old, 3439 Prairie avenue. Died yesterday in Mercy hospital. She was struck by a truck Thursday as she crossed Prairie avenue near her home.

Daniel Milkovich, 33 years old, of Johnstown, Pa., was killed by a hit and run driver yesterday in Industrial highway near Indiana Harbor. Milkovich had started to hitch hike to Detroit in search of employment.

FINAL FIGURES COMPILED ON ILLINOIS VOTES

Totals Bear Out Estimates of Pluralities.

Final compilations of the votes cast in Illinois were completed yesterday by the Associated Press, confirming the estimates of the pluralities given successful Democratic state and national candidates. The results of this compilation will stand until the state canvassing board makes its official report in a few weeks.

The last figures on the race for President were based upon returns from 6,801 precincts out of 7,211 in the state. They gave Roosevelt 1,795,246, and Hoover 1,361,244. Downstate, 3,286 precincts out of 3,689 gave Roosevelt 878,804 and Hoover 677,993. Only seven of Cook county's 3,522 precincts were lacking and here the vote was: Roosevelt, 921,352, and Hoover, 683,251.

43,378 Votes for Thomas.

Norman Thomas, the Socialist candidate, polled in 5,244 precincts, a vote of 43,378. Downstate, 1,729 precincts gave him 10,641 while 2,515 precincts in Cook county showed a Socialist vote of 32,737. William D. Upshaw, the Prohibition candidate drew only 3,359 votes in 5,244 precincts, of which 2,251 were cast in Cook county and 1,108 downstate. William Z. Foster, the communist, drew from the same number of precincts only 12,301 votes —11,917 in Cook county and 384 downstate.

The final vote compiled on governor by the Associated Press was tabulated from 7,056 precincts, which gave Judge Horner 1,852,038 votes and Len Small 1,313,829. Downstate 3,541 precincts gave Horner 849,385 and Small 739,750; in Cook county 3,515 precincts gave the judge 1,002,653 and Small 574,079. Roy E. Burt, the Socialist, polled 19,277 votes from 4,365 precincts.

Senate Race Closer.

For senator the tabulations show Senator Otis F. Glenn receiving 1,334,644 votes and his successful opponent, Congressman Dieterich, 1,541,382. This vote was based on returns from 6,747 precincts. Downstate 3,232 precincts gave Dieterich 743,146 votes and Glenn 627,935. In Cook county 3,515 precincts gave Dieterich 743,646 and Glenn 706,709.

Thomas F. Donovan, Joliet Democrat, defeated Lieut. Gov. Sterling by more than 263,000 votes on the basis of 6,587 precincts. The vote was: Donovan, 1,533,199 and Sterling, 1,279,624.

Edward J. Hughes' lead over Secretary of State Stratton, Republican, was about 99,000 in 6,759 precincts. Hughes received 1,500,182 votes and Stratton 1,401,677. State Treasurer Barrett defeated Harry G. Wright, Republican candidate for state auditor, by more than 300,000 votes in the returns from 6,608 precincts. These gave Barret 1,556,008; Wright, 1,238,752.

Martin Wins by 150,000.

John C. Martin, Democratic candidate for state treasurer, was victor over C. Wayland Brooks, Republican, by 150,000 votes. Returns from 5,390 precincts gave Martin 1,429,572 and Brooks 1,288,204 votes. The attorney generalship fight was decided in favor of Judge Otto Kerner by more than 200,000 votes. Kerner received 1,468,987 votes from 5,385 precincts, and John E. Northup, his Republican opponent, got 1,237,201.

The vote on congressmen at large was compiled from 6,270 precincts. These gave: Martin A. Brennan [D.], 1,450,707; Walter Nesbit [D.], 1,440,068; Richard Yates [R.], 1,284,526, and Julius Klein [R.], 1,174,052.

The three Democrats running for trustees of the University of Illinois also were successful. From 5,324 precincts Dr. Karl A. Meyer received 1,346,884 votes, Mrs. Nellie V. Freeman 1,223,112 votes, and O. M. Karraker, 1,205,097 votes. The vote for their Republican opponents was as follows: William L. Noble, 997,263; Emma B. Rhea, 950,169, and William B. Wheat, 926,576 votes.

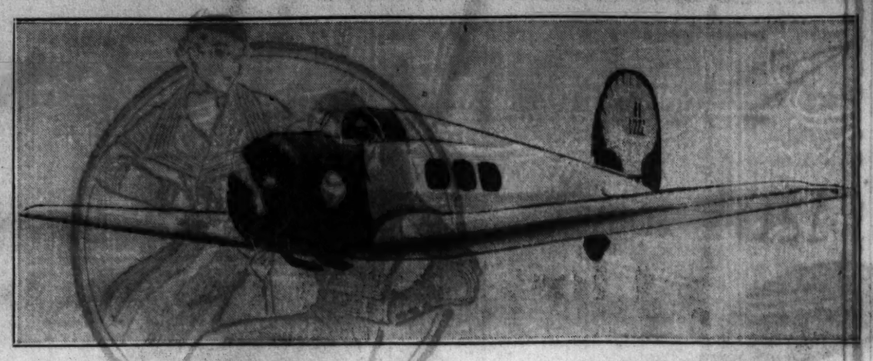
DOOLITTLE TO SEEK NEW AIR RECORDS



Maj. James H. Doolittle, holder of world's land plane speed record, in the cockpit of his fast Lockheed Orion monoplane (Wright motor), in which he will attempt to set new records flying out of Chicago for six days after Nov. 23.

DOOLITTLE WILL TEST NEW PLANE IN TOUR OF U. S.

Plans 9,000 Mile Flight from Chicago.

Maj. James H. Doolittle, holder of the world's land plane speed record, will start a 9,000 mile flight out of Chicago on Nov. 23 in an attempt to establish a new series of intercity speed records, it was announced yesterday. He expects to complete the flight in six days, demonstrating the possibilities of air transport with modern high speed planes.

Maj. Doolittle will fly a transport plane of his own design, a low wing Lockheed Orion, fitted with retractable landing gear, an improved motor cowling, an automotic variable pitch propellor, and powered by a 700 horsepower Wright Cyclone motor.

Will Take Four Passengers.

The plane will carry two way radio equipment, new blind flying instruments, and de-icing equipment on the wings to enable it to fly in any weather. There will be four passengers on the trip.

In tests the plane has attained a speed of 245 miles an hour and a cruising speed of 230 miles an hour, double the speeds of most transport planes now in use. He considers the plane the "fastest and safest transport plane in the world" in spite of its speed. The flights will be made in daylight only.

Twenty Cities to Be Visited.

Maj. Doolittle will take off from Chicago airport. His itinerary will be through Buffalo, Toronto, New York City, Washington, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Tulsa, Houston, New Orleans, Atlanta, Nashville, Detroit, Omaha, Denver, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Santa Fé, Kansas City, and Chicago.

Maj. Doolittle is manager of the aviation department of the Shell Petroleum corporation of St. Louis.

GATEWAY ACT FAR BEHIND IN LATE RETURNS

With returns from nearly a half of the downstate precincts on the propositions submitted at Tuesday's election still unreported, the proposed Gateway amendment to the state constitution was still running far short of the total needed for ratification.

The $20,000,000 relief bond issue and the amendment to the banking act are sure of passage, however. In 5,376 precincts out of 7,211 in the state, the relief bonds mustered 2,001,088 votes to 183,934 against. The bank act amendment was carried, apparently, by more than 6 to 1.

A constitutional amendment must get a majority of all votes cast in the election. To date only 781,842 votes have been cast for the amendment in 5,376 precincts, which would put the final vote in the neighborhood of 1,026,000. About 1,500,000 would be needed for passage.

FAMOUS HOTEL HIT BY FIRE.

Mauch Chunk, Pa., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Two fires, apparently of incendiary origin, today damaged the old Armbruster hotel and the historic Mansion House, both abandoned. The Mansion House management in its de luxe days, 40 years ago, boasted of having been the hotel where John Jacob Astor spent his honeymoon.

BALBO TO LEAD 20 PLANES FROM ROME TO CHICAGO

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Nov. 11. — The most spectacular Trans-Atlantic flight in history is scheduled to take place in June, 1933, according to an official announcement by the Italian government today.

Although the details are withheld, it is understood that Gen. Italo Balbo, minister of air, will lead a squadron of 20 tri-motored military planes from the ocean training station at Orbetello in a flight to Chicago by the northern route for the Century of Progress exposition.

It was also announced that the return trip will be made by air. It is understood the air armada will hop from New York for Rome via the Azores. For months Italian air scouts have been surveying the route of the flight to Chicago, which will probably include Ireland, Iceland, Greenland, Newfoundland, Washington, or New York.

HITLER'S STORM TROOP LEADER SENT TO PRISON

SCHWEIDNITZ, Germany, Nov. 11. —(AP)—Edmund Heines, Nazi member of the reichstag and chief of the Hitler storm troops in Silesia, was sentenced to six months in prison today in connection with a bombing last summer.

His adjutant was sentenced to four months in jail, one storm trooper was condemned to five years in the penitentiary, and another received a one year sentence for attempted assassination.

Heines was one of three sentenced to three months in jail last May for assaulting a newspaper man in the reichstag lobby.

HARVARD BEGINS A RACIAL SURVEY OF IRISH NATION

Anthropological Study to Take Five Years.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 11.—(AP)—The qualities of character making an Irishman will be brought out in a unique anthropological survey of Ireland announced tonight at Harvard university.

The survey, covering the complete racial history of Ireland, from prehistoric times down to the modern Irish Free State, is announced by Prof. E. A. Hooton of the department of anthropology.

Undertaken with the approval of the president of the Irish Free State, the project is regarded as a pioneer anthropological survey of a modern nation.

The study will cover five years, dealing with social and economic life of the Irish people of the present and the past, their material civilization and their racial characteristics.

Preliminary Survey Made.

During the last summer two members of the department of anthropology at Harvard visited Ireland to make a preliminary survey. Excavations were undertaken at several points. New evidences of early Irish life were revealed, both in prehistoric and early Christian periods.

On the basis of this study, the five year survey is now being planned by Dr. Hooton—to approach the subject from three angles—archeology, sociology, and physical anthropology.

The archeological phase is executed by Dr. Hugh O'Neill Hencken of Harvard. The survey of social and economic life is directed by another Harvard man, W. Lloyd Warner. The third phase, dealing with a racial survey, will be under direction of Dr. Hooton, who superintends the entire project.

Ancient Dwellings Found.

During this summer's survey, Dr. Hooton announces, there was discovered a "crannog," or lake dwelling of the 10th century A. D., at Ballinderry in County Westmeath. It was an immense wooden building erected on a raftlike platform of logs in the center of a lake. High palisades of stakes surrounded it. Nearby were remains of dugout canoes.

This structure, it is believed, had been inhabited for nearly 1,000 years by the ancient Irish, probably as many as 40 persons at a time. Among the finds were truckloads of animal bones, horse, deer, wild boar, domesticated cattle, sheep and goats, wooden tubs and barrels, iron knives and axes, bone combs and bronze pins.

Another discovery was a huge cairn or stone grave mound dating back to the prehistoric bronze age. It is situated on the 600 foot hill of Knockast, traditionally known as the Hill of Victory. Here were unearthed 43 burials belonging to at least two separate periods of remote prehistory in the bronze age, dating back to about 500 B. C.

FINAL SUICIDE ATTEMPT FATAL.

Ignatz Mandel, 54 years old, who shot himself three times last April in an unsuccessful suicide attempt, hanged himself yesterday in the basement of his home at 1553 North Hoyne avenue.

A FARM WOMAN WINS CONGRESS SEAT IN INDIANA

Beats Two Congressmen to Get Victory.

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Mrs. Virginia C. Jenckes, Terre Haute, was elected to congress on the Democratic ticket in the new Sixth district in Tuesday's election. She is Indiana's first congresswoman and she favors the immediate repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

She was born in Terre Haute, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Somes, and the great-granddaughter of Henry Vanderburgh, first judge of the Northwest Territory. She is the widow of Ray Jenckes, farmer and elevator man. Since his death several years ago Mrs. Jenckes has managed several farms and grain elevators.

Defeats Political Veteran.

Mrs. Jenckes won her election with a large plurality in Vigo county and a good vote throughout the district against the veteran Fred Purnell. She made her campaign on economy in government, farm relief and on the Democratic platform declaration advocating repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

She has one daughter, Miss Virginia Jenckes, 19, who served as her manager in the campaign.

"Farming is my greatest interest," Mrs. Jenckes said today. "I want to help to give the farmer a market. When this is done every unemployed man will have a job."

When Mrs. Jenckes decided to run for congress friends advised against it. Indiana had just been redistricted and Vigo county found itself in the Sixth district, composed of ten counties. In the district were two congressmen, Courtland C. Gillen, Democrat, of the old Fifth district, and the veteran Purnell, of the old Ninth.

Defeats Congressman in Primary.

Undaunted, Mrs. Jenckes beat Gillen by 3,808 votes for the Democratic nomination in the May primary.

With her daughter, Mrs. Jenckes then started a 18,000 mile automobile campaign, probably the most strenuous made by any candidate in Indiana. The daughter did the driving while the mother thought up her speeches. Sometimes daughter Virginia spoke herself.

"My entire crop won't pay the taxes on my farm," she told gatherings of farmers in discussing an 1,160 acre farm near here which included 500 acres of corn and 250 of wheat.

"Send me to Washington and I'll fight for higher farm product prices by repealing prohibition and reestablishing the brewery markets for corn."

SIMPSON GAINS IN CANVASS OF CONGRESS VOTE

The peace conference luncheon of County Commissioner Charles Weber and James Simpson Jr., rivals for the congressional seat of the Tenth district, was indefinitely postponed yesterday. Weber, the Democratic candidate, went scurrying off to Waukegan, where the official canvass looped the vote he had received on police returns. Simpson went into a huddle with his lawyers to consult on plans for the canvass of the city and country town precincts which opens Monday.

With three precincts still missing, Simpson claims to have been elected with a vote of 100,523 to Weber's 96,658. Weber's managers made no claims. Early returns had Weber leading by from 400 to 2,000 votes.

The luncheon engagement had been made by a friend of Simpson for the purpose of burying the election enmities. The fight was the most hotly contested in the state. The entry of Ralph Church, who lost the nomination to Simpson in a recount, as an independent, gave Weber a chance at victory in a normally Republican district. Church polled more than 34,000 votes.

State's Attorney A. V. Smith of Lake county announced last night he has been engaged as counsel by Weber, with instructions to "keep Simpson out of congress." Mr. Smith said that if Simpson should have a small plurality a recount would be demanded, and that, in any event, an attempt would be made to have congress bar him on the ground that he had spent too much money in his campaign.

TRANSIT EXPERTS AND PLANS COST CITY $4,124,537

Maj. R. F. Kelker Jr., city subway engineer, said his force has been reduced to four men who are making working drawings for the river section of the subway so that that portion can be built at the same time the department of public works constructs a new State street bridge.

Fees to Attorneys.

The heaviest withdrawals from the fund go to the city's transit attorneys. Walter L. Fisher, special counsel for the local transportation committee, gets $5,000 a month; George A. Mason, subway attorney, receives $125 a day while working out of court and $150 a day for court appearances; Mr. Rooks gets $5,000 a year besides his corporate fund salary. All are docked 78 days' pay, the same as other city employés.

In 1931 the traction fund expenditures reached its highest level. In that year the city paid out $1,097,107. The payments for the period Jan. 1 to Nov. 20 this year totaled $276,409 and are continuing. For other years payments for transit services were:

CHINESE RENEW WAR WITH JAPAN OVER MANCHURIA

Opposing Armies Plan Major Drives.

BY JOHN POWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Nov. 12 [Saturday].—Both the Chinese and Japanese forces in Manchuria are planning major offensives. Their object is to synchronize them with the opening of the session of the league of nations on Nov. 21, when the Manchurian question and the Lytton report will arise for discussion.

Japan's object is to point out the impossibility of withdrawing her troops. China's object is to demonstrate the impossibility of the Japanese plan to pacify Manchuria under the puppet state of Manchukuo.

Japanese military reports tonight said that Gen. Nobuyoshi Muto's drive against Manchurian bandits and revolting Chinese troops is the most extensive yet undertaken. It includes districts along the Mukden-Hailung railway, the Kirin-Kainei and the Kirin-Changchun lines as well as in the Mukden-Changchun section of the South Manchuria railway.

Moves Against Tsitsihar.

On the other hand, both Chinese and Japanese reports state that the Chinese loyalist, Gen. Su Ping-wen, who occupies the western branch of the Chinese Eastern railway, is beginning a movement eastward, apparently in an attempt to force the Japanese from Tsitsihar and possibly Harbin. Fighting already is in progress along the Nonni river.

Japanese dispatches from Tsitsihar tonight said that 500 Chinese were slain in hand to hand fighting near Khurkhura, Chinese Eastern railway station, five miles west of the Nonni river. Three thousand followers of Gen. Su were reported to have been routed. Winter gripped the northwest area yesterday. The temperature is reported at 20 degrees below zero.

Another Japanese military report confirms that an entire Japanese cavalry detachment, commanded by Capt. Kawasaki, has been wiped out. Capt. Kawasaki led a detachment of between 60 and 100 men toward the Tsitsihar district on Oct. 28 to relieve a Japanese garrison which was besieged near Keshan by 3,000 Chinese troops. The Japanese were ambushed in the mountains and annihilated.

Airport Burns at Mukden.

Japanese scouting planes returning to Harbin reported observing bodies of eight soldiers and the carcasses of 30 horses.

The Japanese military airdrome at Mukden was destroyed by fire yesterday. A number of planes were lost. The loss is estimated at $100,000. Japanese allege the airdrome was set afire.

Dr. C. C. Wu, former minister to Washington, D. C., in an interview here today said that activities of guerrilla warfare and Chinese loyalists in Manchuria, plus the boycott on Japanese products, "is wearing Japan down, causing a fall in value of the yen."

"These factors will compel Japan to relinquish control of Manchuria, possibly causing collapse of the Japanese economic structure," he said.

Seize California Wife Slayer Suspect Here

Gus Cerney, 25 years old, sought for the murder of his wife, Idema, three weeks ago in Los Angeles, Cal., was arrested yesterday in a Western Union office at 1136 West 35th street by Sergt. Charles Coyle. Cerney denied the charge and waived extradition. He was traced here through a telegram sent Thursday to his brother in Monrovia, Cal., asking for money. He was seized when he called for an answer to his wire. Cerney told police that he left a wife and daughter in Carbondale, Ill., to go to California three years ago. He admitted that he was a bigamist.

KILLED IN AUTO CRASH.

Vincennes, Ind., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Opal Higgins, 19, of Oblong, Ill., was killed yesterday when an automobile collided with a truck near here in a snowstorm.

SOVIET DEMANDS FORCE LATVIA TO DROP TRADE DEAL

Riga Recalls Delegation from Moscow.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Nov. 11.—After five weeks of futile negotiation for a new trade treaty, the Latvian government has decided to recall its delegation from Moscow.

As previously announced in THE TRIBUNE the soviet government made the signing of a new trade treaty, accompanied by large orders to Latvian industry, contingent upon Latvia's acquiescence to certain political demands. The most important one requested the arrest and expulsion of alleged Russian monarchists, suppression of the local newspaper Sevondnja, and the deportation of THE TRIBUNE correspondent.

Make New Demands.

Although the Letts attempted to placate Moscow by arresting 22 monarchists, the bolsheviks refused to rescind their demands. Instead they made a further demand that Latvia remove customs duties on soviet oil products, sugar, grain, and other exports, which practically meant a customs union with Russia.

Following a meeting of the Latvian cabinet tonight, it was officially announced that because of the unusual character of the demands of the soviet government, the government had decided to recall its delegation for new instructions.

Discussing Russia's demands, Arvid Berg, leader of the Conservative party and editor of the Latvis, told THE TRIBUNE's correspondent that Moscow has been attempting to muzzle Riga's newspapers and discredit news dispatches from Riga for many years.

"The soviets' impertinent demand is equivalent to placing Latvia under control of the Moscow censor," Berg said. "Because of Moscow censorship Riga has become the important center of Russian news, and Moscow is anxious to destroy this reputation.

Charges "Double Crossing."

"Although Latvia has made many concessions to the bolsheviks in the attempt to cultivate friendly and business relations, our effort has failed and in our dealings with the soviet government we have been double crossed time and again. After requesting us to spend great sums to build warehouses to store and transmit goods, Moscow has refused to use them. After promising to place orders with our industries, they have refused to do so."

"Thus far our dealings with Russia have resulted chiefly in large losses, not only to the government, but also to industry and trade. Latvian public opinion is energetically opposed to signing another trade treaty with the soviets because we believe Moscow's promise is not worth the paper it is written on."

REPORT SECOND TULAREMIA VICTIM.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Nov. 11.—(Special.)—The second case of tularemia in the upper peninsula of Michigan was reported here today. Bert Willette is the victim. Willette contracted the disease in his right hand while cleaning an infected rabbit. The other case, reported at Ironwood, proved fatal.

SUSPECT SEIZED IN CHASE; SHOT HITS BYSTANDER

George Reilly, 19 years old, 6141 North Claremont avenue, sought by police for pawning a stolen ring, was captured yesterday at Wacker drive and La Salle street after a chase through loop streets.

Reilly pawned a stolen ring at the Chicago State Pawners association, 102 West Randolph street, on Nov. 7. He returned yesterday with another ring and clerks notified the police pawnshop detail. Reilly fled from the store and ran north in Clark street when he saw Sergts. Guy Willoughby and Roy Kindt approaching.

Traffic Policeman George Butenshon joined the chase and fired two warning shots. One of the bullets glanced off a building and grazed Elmer Smith, 7 years old, of 3813 Monroe street, on the chest and thumb. Reilly ran to a basement at La Salle street and Wacker drive, where he surrendered. Police said that he attended Loyola academy for a year and played for a while on one of its minor football teams. Police said they would question Reilly on recent purse thefts.

BLOODSTAINED AUTO IS FOUND; HUNT FOR VICTIM

A blood stained automobile with three bullet holes in the left rear panel was found abandoned yesterday in Torrence avenue, four miles east of Chicago Heights. Police searched the neighborhood but failed to find a victim. Blood stains were found in the front seat and in the back of the car. Police expressed the belief that a man had been shot in the driver's seat and then lifted into the back.

That the men who abandoned the car had intended to burn it was indicated, police said, by gasoline saturated rags found in the tonneau. The rear tires and headlights had been removed and police found a copper jacketed revolver bullet on the floor. A search of records was started to determine if the car had been stolen.

All Williamson County Offices Won by Democrats

Marion, Ill., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—As a result of Tuesday's election Williamson county will have all Democrats in county offices for the first time since the civil war.

DEATH AND COPS STAY AN ANGRY LANDLORD'S HAND

Mrs. Margaret Davis, colored, 60 years old, died late Thursday at her home, 4313 Cottage Grove avenue. Yesterday seven friends of the dead woman gathered as mourners there.

In the afternoon there was a call to the Hyde Park police to the effect that there was a fight in the flat. Detectives, arriving, found no disturbance. Unaware that a death had occurred, they knocked at the door and ordered that it be opened.

Dr. Roscoe Shelton, 5123 Indiana avenue, said the door was locked and that it could not be opened.

"The landlord came around here a little while ago," the doctor asserted, "and asked for six months' rent Mrs. Davis owed. We explained that we were preparing for her funeral and he locked us in with the remark that we would have to stay here with the body until he got his money."

With a crowbar the police broke in the door. Then they started a search for the landlord.

YOUR CAR WILL NEED ANTI-FREEZE TONIGHT

EVEREADY PRESTONE

You're right—it's cold. And you need anti-freeze in the cooling-system of your car at once! In unheated garages, and out on the street, cars won't be safe tonight without an anti-freeze. You must act quickly—go to your dealer or garage-man and have him put in Eveready Prestone without delay. Why Eveready Prestone rather than something else . . . ?

BEFORE YOU BUY ANY ANTI-FREEZE,

read these facts

EVEREADY PRESTONE is different from all other anti-freezes — there is nothing else like it.

In developing Eveready Prestone, the laboratories of Union Carbide and Carbon Corporation, keeping in mind the requirements of the U. S. Bureau of Standards for an ideal anti-freeze, have perfected a product that satisfies the following specifications:

Eveready Prestone does not boil away. So it does not require frequent renewals, nor does it leave the car unprotected when a cold snap follows warm weather.

The fumes of boil-away products may mar the finish of fine cars. Smelly fumes also make winter driving unpleasant, and inflammable mixtures increase the hazard of accidents. Eveready Prestone is non-inflammable and odorless. It will not affect your car finish. And it is thoroughly effective in preventing freezing.

Eveready Prestone circulates freely at the lowest operating temperatures. Yet it will not "creep." A heavy, viscous fluid, which is not free-flowing, is a poor cooling agent. Other substances in use may "creep"—leak from systems that are water-tight, but not tight enough to hold these liquids.

Many products, because of their thickness in the concentrated form, are sold as water-diluted solutions. The cost of canning and shipping plain water is thus borne by the public. Eveready Prestone is packaged as a concentrated product. It's ALL anti-freeze! You know what you are getting for your money!

NOW REDUCED IN PRICE

Eveready Prestone is now substantially reduced in price. Today it offers the safest and most economical anti-freeze you can buy for all-winter protection.

And Eveready Prestone also brings you protection against rust and corrosion. On brass, copper, solder, aluminum and zinc, it reduces the corrosive action of the water in the cooling-system at least 75%. On cast iron, 95%.

General Offices: New York, N. Y.

Unit of Union Carbide UCC and Carbon Corporation

● THIS POPULAR-PRICE CAR, operating in a cold-weather zone, needs only one-half gallon of concentrated Eveready Prestone to protect it all winter long. Cost $2.25. No scale, no corrosion—absolute safety.

If you buy a water-diluted anti-freeze for this car, remember that you are paying for a large amount of plain, ordinary water, as well as for anti-freeze material. The low cost per gallon, therefore, cannot be compared with the cost per gallon of concentrated Eveready Prestone. Obviously, you will need a much greater amount of the diluted product to get the same protection.

If boil-away anti-freeze is used, there must be one-half gallon in the cooling-system every time the thermometer drops to 20° F. Cost (?) . . . it depends on the number of cold snaps. Meanwhile, frequent renewals, checking, trouble and bother.

● THIS MEDIUM-SIZE CAR, in an average-weather zone, needs only one gallon of concentrated Eveready Prestone. Cost $4.45. All-winter protection against freezing, rust, clogging and corrosion.

The cost of enough water-diluted anti-freeze to give this car the same protection cannot be computed unless you know how much anti-freeze and how much water there is in the product you buy. Some brands contain as much as 55% plain water. Low cost per gallon, therefore, means nothing.

If boil-away anti-freeze is used, the cost per season may be a great deal more than the cost of Eveready Prestone. Meanwhile, no certain, sure protection through all weather changes. No protection against rust and corrosion.

● THIS LARGE CAR, operating in a zero-weather zone, needs only two gallons of concentrated Eveready Prestone. Cost $8.90. Complete peace of mind for the owner of a valuable car.

You can buy a water-diluted anti-freeze at a lower cost per gallon, but you will have to buy much more than two gallons to get the same protection. How much more will depend on the amount of water in the product. Therefore, the cost per gallon of such anti-freeze means nothing.

If boil-away anti-freeze is used, two full gallons must be present every time the temperature drops to zero. The cost may easily exceed the cost of Eveready Prestone. Meanwhile, no certain protection against freezing—none at all against corrosion.

LAWYERS CLASH WITH JACOBS ON CAR LINE TAXES

Attack 42 Million Value Set by Assessor.

A 12 million dollar personal property schedule filed for the 1931 tax rolls by the allied surface lines companies was declared by Assessor J. L. Jacobs yesterday to be "not worth the paper it's written on." The remark was made at the close of a bitterly fought hearing before the tax appeal board on the companies' protest against Jacobs' assessment of their personal property at $42,000,000 before Fred W. Brummel and George F. Nixon, members of the board of tax appeals.

Attorneys John R. Guilliams and Thomas D. Huff, counsel for the surface lines, and the assessor had argued for two hours. The assessor charged the two lawyers with having withheld from his office information concerning the company's property, and alleged that after they filed their $12,000,000 schedule they had informed him they would not contest a valuation of $25,000,000 on their property. Still later, he said, they had offered to accept a $35,000,000 valuation.

Want to Quiz Assessor.

The two attorneys demanded to know the basis on which the assessor had reached his assessed valuation. They urged the appeal board to place Jacobs on the witness stand and allow them to cross examine him. County Attorney Hayden N. Bell then informed the board that the law creating them provided that a citizen might produce evidence before the board but had no right to cross examine the assessor.

Nixon then appealed to the two groups to try to iron out their differences.

"We have sat with the assessor and asked him to tell us how he valued our property," replied Attorney Guilliams. "He refuses. We have agreed to give him any figures he wants, an appraisal of the property made by our men, an inventory of our holdings, anything he wants; but we can't get together."

"If you really would bring in those things, I'm sure I could make an assessment that would be fair to the traction companies and to all other citizens," said Assessor Jacobs. "But if you did bring them in it would be for the first time."

"Why, what more do you want," demanded Attorney Huff. "There you have our schedule for 12 million dollars. It is what we will stand on. It tells the whole story. It's sworn to by representatives of the surface lines."

"Not Worth the Paper."

Jacobs gathered up the papers on the table before him and turned to the lawyer.

"That schedule is not worth the paper it's printed on," he said emphatically. "It's not a true statement of the values of the company's property and you have admitted it here yourselves. Furthermore, I am going to demand that the board take under advisement my recommendation to increase this assessment.

"I am told that a complete appraisal of the holdings of the surface lines was introduced into the records of the city council transportation committee during their hearings on the traction ordinance in 1929.

"I am informed that this appraisal made by a firm of engineers not employés of the surface lines places on the personal property of the companies a value far in excess of 116 million dollars, which is the full cash value from which my assessed value figure of 42 million dollars is obtained by applying the equalization factor of 37 per cent.

"If this appraisal can be brought before the board it will be very material in determining the 1931 personality values."

Hearing Continued to Nov. 25.

Both members of the board of appeal agreed to continue the hearing until Nov. 25, and they asked that the assessor and the lawyers try to reach an agreement by that time.

At the opening of the hearing Special County Attorney Lee LaRochelle, who won a case before Circuit Judge Craig Hood three months ago forcing the surface lines companies to pay approximately $3,000,000 in 1930 personal property taxes, informed the board members that the court had fixed an assessed valuation of $42,920,572 on the companies' personal property for 1930.

Howard Busch, an auditor for the surface lines, then testified that the full fair cash value of all the companies' personal property was $12,000,000. When he was examined by Assessor Jacobs he admitted that he had not included $9,000,000 in cash which the companies hold as a renewal and maintenance fund.

The assessor then pointed out to the appeal board that the surface lines obtained a reduction of $10,000,000 from their $12,000,000 capital stock assessment for 1931 made by the state tax commission. He charged that the companies were trying to "cut both ends" of their taxes.

Crashes Into Bandits

A collision between a bandit car and an automobile in which Mayor Cermak's sister was a passenger enabled police to capture two alleged robbers late yesterday. The accident occurred at Homan avenue and Arthington street. The mayor's sister, Mrs. Antoinette Stepanek, and her husband, Joseph Stepanek of 1539 South 61st avenue, Cicero, with whom she was driving, were shaken up by the crash but not hurt.

A few minutes before the accident five men drove up in front of the Kleppel market at 3059 Arthington street. Four men, all armed, invaded the place and were about to rob the manager when their driver sounded the automobile siren for them to hurry out. Without stopping to complete the holdup, the four dashed to their car and sped west in Arthington street.

As they reached Homan avenue they met the southbound car of the Stepaneks. The five men jumped out and ran, just as Policemen John Scully and Louis La Board of the Fillmore street station drove up. The policemen caught two of the hoodlums. The prisoners identified themselves as Dominic Constantino, 18 years old, 1519 Elburn avenue, and Isie Weiss, also 18, of 1208 Washburne avenue. Constantino was armed.

SOLONS FROWN ON $30,000,000 BOND ISSUE FOR RELIEF

Legislative leaders yesterday frowned on the suggestion of Mayor Cermak that the general assembly empower the city to sell between $30,000,000 and $40,000,000 worth of bonds, without a referendum vote, to raise charity relief funds. The legislature will reconvene Tuesday.

"Where could these bonds be sold?," asked Speaker David E. Shanahan, "I understand that the county has $2,000,000 worth of bonds it can't sell. What could be done with $40,000,000?"

Mr. Shanahan and others pointed to the state-wide sales tax bill, now on third reading, as the most important piece of pending relief legislation. It was introduced by Representative Homer J. Tice who was also the author of the gas tax bill, passed before election, which permits counties to use their share of the 3 cent levy for charity purposes.

The county sales tax will probably be shelved, for the leaders believe it affords little immediate relief. Legislative leaders said it would be difficult to predict the outcome of a vote on the state sales tax, opinion appearing to be equally divided.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

BRITAIN ON THE TOBOGGAN.

At this writing the British note on the forthcoming war debt payment has not been made public, but no one has much doubt about the general tenor of the communication. The British government does not want to pay the 95 million dollars due on Dec. 15 and presumably has said so in more or less direct language.

England, having bankrupted herself by confiscatory taxes, is now trying to welsh on her debts. Her plea that she cannot pay is, in reality, a shameful confession of the incompetence of her political leaders. They taxed their people to the point where initiative was no longer rewarded adequately, and when the tax burden was piled upon the normal overhead of business the inevitable result was higher prices for British made goods than for goods from competing lands where taxes were less burdensome. Accordingly, Britain has lost her proportion of the world's foreign trade and if she continues under her present policies will suffer further losses. Her plea that she cannot pay because of a diminished export balance is merely a confession that the taxing power in Britain has been abused to the point where it is destroying Britain's economic life. The British have only themselves to blame for their plight.

The repudiation of her foreign debts is, of course, the second step. The first step was the forced departure from the gold standard. Next in order, unless there is a sharp change of policy in the interest of the taxpayers who are still solvent, will be the repudiation of her internal loans. The much advertised conversion of the British debt is, in itself, a step in the direction of repudiation. Eventually sufficient funds to maintain the navy and army will not be forthcoming and with the passing of Britain's military power the empire, already disintegrating, must dissolve and Britain will sink into insignificance. With good luck she may fill as important a minor rôle in world affairs as Holland now plays or she may sink to the status of another Denmark, a small and powerless state on the periphery of Europe.

Britain, remote from the centers of world culture and wealth, rose to dominate the world. It was a long uphill climb and the story of it is one of the most inspiring which history has to offer. Now Britain is on the toboggan, bound for the obscurity from which the nation rose. Ruinous fiscal policies are rapidly undoing the constructive efforts of centuries.

There is a moral in that record for all nations and for America in particular.

REASON AND PROPAGANDA.

Now that the great struggle for office and power, which we call a national election, is over and we are free from the din and pressure of argument and appeal, it is worth while for the intelligent citizen to review the campaign and meditate upon the processes of which he has been a part, perhaps a victim.

In this review he will observe, perhaps, two main streams of influence, that of argument addressed to reason and that of emotional appeal. Both were in use by all contestants in differing degrees, but pretty generally the latter is the greater reliance. Mankind is little inclined to submit itself to the discipline of reason, and reason is not itself infallible.

However, it is advisable to distinguish the processes of appeal to reason and of appeal to emotion, and especially it is advisable in our modern world to observe the technique of what we have learned since the late war to call propaganda. This technique has been developed highly in all activities, in business as well as in politics, and we offer the following analysis, made by a scientific student of the phenomenon, Dr. Knight Dunlap, professor of psychology in Johns Hopkins university. He gives the following principles of the propagandist:

"(a) Repeat systematically and incessantly.

"(b) Avoid argument; never admit there is another side; reserve argument for intellectuals.

"(c) Connect the desired idea with the known wishes of the audience.

"(d) Make statements in clear, repeatable form.

"(e) Use direct statements sparingly; use indirection, innuendo, implication. Use direct statement in such a way that the audience will take it in, but not reflect upon it.

"(f) For permanent results, aim propaganda at the children."

Science News Letter offers these in the hope that they will be useful in advising the helpless everyday mortal in defending himself from the menace of propaganda, and adds the warning of a writer in the Journal of Abnormal and Social Psychology who describes its effects. The writer, William W. Biddle, says that "like democracy, propaganda is dependent upon widespread literacy and rapid social communication, the telephone, the press, the radio, the motion picture. Many forms of coercion create emotional disturbance in the coerced, resentments, overcompensations, or desires for revolt. Propaganda is different in that it controls without occasioning antagonistic emotions. Each individual behaves as though his response were his own decision. Many individuals may be coerced to behave alike, each apparently guided by his independent judgment."

Self-government in the complex modern world is dependent upon self-discipline, that upon the willingness of the individual to protect his own judgment from passions and prejudices and to assume the effort required to think. This is a difficult proceeding which few are able to carry on, especially in crowds and when subjected to skillful efforts to prevent it.

The great danger to popular government is mass emotion and mental inertia. All human beings are subject to them, and in times of great stress such as in the late war and during our present ordeal they work the greatest havoc. Our first protection is knowing them when they appear and operate upon ourselves. The chief service our educational institutions can do for human progress is to train the young to be on their guard against them, to try to establish habits of care and emotional control while habits are forming. Little can be done for us when we are grown.

ROBBING THE PENSIONERS.

There are 80,000 civil servants in New Zealand, including railway workers, teachers, and employés of the various administrative bureaus. The pensions of all these government workers have been imperiled by the reckless financial policies of the government, according to THE TRIBUNE'S correspondent, Mr. Quentin Pope. On an actuarial basis, the pension funds today are insolvent. The money which the employés are paying in is being exhausted in meeting the pensions of those already retired and an insufficient reserve is on hand to meet the accruing liabilities of the fund. An accounting shows only 60 cents of assets to every dollar of liabilities. Measured in dollars, the pension fund is shy no less than $115,000,000.

That kind of pension financing is not unfamiliar to students of government in Illinois. There is scarcely a session of the legislature at which one or another of the pension funds is not shown to be in a condition of insolvency. The usual procedure is to get the legislature to increase the tax rate for such funds in the expectation of building up adequate reserves. Latterly, recourse to that method has been of little avail. Higher tax rates no longer yield increased revenues. At the same time the reserves accumulated in the pension funds are commonly invested in the short and long term securities of the governments for whose employés the funds are held, and these securities can be redeemed only through tax collections. The result is that both the present and the future welfare of public employés is jeopardized by unsound public finance. If there is any class in the community which ought to be militant in its demand for government economy it is the class of permanent civil servants. To them excessive expenditures mean not only payless pay days now but payless pension days after retirement.

This relationship seems not to have been appreciated by the great mass of public servants. Those who are performing essential services have joined with the wasters in the attempt to wring more and more money from the taxpayers, apparently unmindful of the fact that the present tax rates are so high as actually to discourage payment. The public employés whose services are essential ought to be fighting with the taxpayers against the reckless spenders. The political pay rollers and the political contractors are the common enemies. The money which is wasted is money which ought to be spent for essential services and ought to be put aside in pension funds.

PICTURE CAPTIONS.

Captions over pictures in the newspapers must be a source of minor irritation to a good many of their readers. They seem often to be written for or by childish minds. The worst are those which attempt to be funny and even perpetrate bad puns. Captions should assume that adults, not morons, are readers. They should give necessary information about the illustration clearly and as briefly as possible. Many captions explain the picture superfluously and thus waste the reader's time. We think the simplicity, directness, and adequacy of captions in THE TRIBUNE save our readers' time and temper, avoiding unnecessary verbiage, yet supplying all the explanatory information needed. It is not an easy art, caption writing, but its rule is common sense.

Editorial of the Day

CATCHING THE FLAWS.

[New York Sun.]

As a tool of medical science the X-ray machine is so commonly accepted as no longer to elicit the slightest astonishment; as a guardian of life and property in an entirely different field the work of the X-ray has only begun to be revealed. A few of its uses as a superdetective in the steel industry were described the other evening by Prof. George L. Clark when he received the Grasselli medal of the American Chemical society. As an exposer of flaws in many kinds of metal products the X-ray becomes for Prof. Clark a supermicroscope. He said it enables the human eye to look down "to the very beginnings" of the structural arrangement of metals or other substances.

As an instance of one application of the X-ray Prof. Clark told of his experience in a study of steel foils. An accident in the fencing class of a university led him to test several hundred foils for flaws that might cause a fracture of the metal. It was expected that perhaps two or three would show defects; actually at least 90 per cent of the foils "were unbelievably bad." The testing of duralumin propellers for airplanes is another use of the industrial X-ray on which the safety of life may depend. The method has been recommended not only for new propellers but for those which have been subjected to the strain of use. The speaker said that in an examination of brass castings used for gun manufacture by the United States navy the test revealed in one of the castings a very serious flaw.

A modern development in the steel industry that is likely to become of great importance in the next ten years is the improvement of alloys. Frank A. Sisco of the Engineering Foundation recently declared that the future of steel lies in "a turn to quality rather than quantity production." Of thousands of possible combinations in alloy steels only a hundred or so have been developed. Researchers engaged in devising new products of molybdenum alloys may find an increasing use for the X-ray as a tool to measure their progress toward the almost perfect metal.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

IT'S GOING TO COST eleven thousand berries to hold a special election for a congressman in Postoffice Jack Garner's district. It's too much, Postoffice Jack, while he had an abounding faith in the triumph of his party last Tuesday, and consequently his elevation to the proud position of Vice President of this great and glorious republic, still held on to his job as congressman and ran for reelection. Perhaps it was the expectation of winning two honors for Democracy; perhaps there was just a little wee doubt in Postoffice Jack's mind over the triumph of Truth, Justice, and Righteousness. However, Truth, Justice, and Righteousness won out, and now Mr. Garner has two jobs and his loving constituents have to cough up eleven thousand dollars to elect another congressman. Inasmuch as Postoffice Jack simply hasn't the heart to let go of a government job, why not let him keep both of them? He could have a motorcycle at his desk and dash madly back and forth from the senate chamber to the house of representatives. He would spend a great deal of time on his motorcycle. Which would be all to the good, because while he was on his motorcycle he wouldn't be opening pork barrels.

ARMISTICE DAY MEMORIES.

When soldiers march the others think I see you
In uniform as in that last parade,
When banners waved and gallant bands were playing,
As youth went by, half eager, half afraid.
They do not know that wet, sweet night has vanished
Into a blur of martial songs and drums—
That when I think of you, dear heart, it's evening,
I am alone when your tired spirit comes.

Once more I hear your step upon the stairway,
The eager tread that came when candles shone,
Again I see your face across the table,
I watch your smile across a fire-bright room,
You do not wear the khaki when I find you,
You have not known last taps, white flowers' bloom.

Sometimes I think we climb a hill together,
My hand in yours as on a day in spring,
When our hearts sang the loveliness of living . . .
I have your lips for long remembering.
I do not mind the colored wreaths, carnations,
Which women place where soldiers' bodies lie,
But early lilacs hurt my heart a little,
And lilac trees, rain-sweet, still make me cry.

And when I see broad shoulders that remind me
Of your tall strength, or hear a deep voice say
Words that you whispered, I am strangely blinded
With tortured grief—you are so far away.
So many years have gone since you marched bravely
To win a victory not for you to share;
Your golden star is still my sanctuary—
I think, beloved, some place you know and care.

HELEN WELSHIMER.

WE'VE WEPT GREAT GOBS of scalding tears over people who are down to their last sixteen cylinder sedan, or have let all their servants go except the butler, the chauffeur, the cook, and two maids, or who have had to give up their town house and take a suite at the Ritz, but never were our sympathies so aroused, our hard heart so touched as yesterday, when a sweet, brave soul told us that she had resolved that as long as the depression lasted she would not buy any more silk sheets for the beds.

"AND HOW CAN WE expect Mr. Roosevelt to help us," wails T. C. K., "when he pronounces it 'bare'?" He can call it "bare" if he wants to, but so long as it has foam on top and is full of the imprisoned gold of the morning sunshine and is eight per cent and costs a nickel per schooner we don't care how he pronounces it.

JUGGERNAUTS.

Sir: Our town has lately been invaded by three monstrous creatures that would have made any prehistoric saurian look and act like Mary's little lamb. They have been occupied in destroying the brick pavement on Main street and replacing it with modern concrete. We had a perfectly good street and none of us wanted it disturbed, but I suppose the appetite of these ravenous monsters had to be appeased.

Juggernauts, Frankensteins, mammoth, rapacious machines, operated by a few men and doing the work of hundreds. One device, like a gigantic potato masher, smashes up the old pavement; another grapples the débris into trucks; then comes the paver, a huge, bestial machine, all mouth and maw, that swallows, digests, and spews out a truckload of gravel and cement every two minutes. Scores of our unemployed watched it curiously, dumbly, some pathetically, their own hungry mouths working in unison with the machine's mighty mandibles. Every two minutes a truck backed into its jaws, dumped a gargantuan ration, and hurried away. The gluttonous jaws closed, the great throat gulped, the maw churned and clanked a moment; then forth came tons of mixed concrete . . .

Into the greedy maw of the machine went countless tons of gravel and cement. And other things that not everybody noticed. Taxes. Wheat and corn. Milk, eggs, and meat. And even clothing—shoes, stockings, tattered underwear. A trace of blood, too, now and then, and despairing tears.

EOLUS.

THEY'RE ALL tremendously excited and pleased over in Europe. France thinks it can pay off its war debt to the U. S. A. in wine, Germany in beer, and England in Scotch whisky. We don't believe we can drink that much, but it's nice to find out that they think about paying us in anything, money, marbles, or chalk.

STOCKS went up yesterday and now we can't figure out if it was because Mr. Roosevelt was elected and Mr. Hoover is President or because Mr. Hoover is still President and Mr. Roosevelt hasn't a word to say about things for four months yet.

HERNIA.

EVEN those who have the usual information about hernia do not know that the term is general and is applied to any condition in which some internal part slips from its proper place through an opening and into some place where it does not belong.

In certain circumstances a part of the brain gets out of the cranium and is called hernia of the brain. At times a part of a lung will get out of the chest cavity and a hernia of the lung results. But the more frequently occurring and better known hernias are those of the abdomen. For this there are several reasons. The abdominal organs are rather loosely tied together and they can move around somewhat. The abdominal wall is made up of muscle and sheet tissue, called fascia, rather than bone. In the development of the body it becomes necessary to leave some openings unclosed until the time of birth and some are never entirely closed. And finally gravity works for the formation of hernias in the lower part of the abdomen.

There are some of these congenital holes and weak places in the upper part of the cavity, but hernias rarely occur through these unless it be in circus people who perform upside down. The three well known locations for hernias are through the navel opening, the inguinal ring, and the femoral artery ring. The first of these is open for the blood vessels which carry all the food and air supply up to the time of birth. This ring is, therefore, congenitally weak and remains so always. The other two rings are kept open in part for the passage of vessels which remain there throughout life.

The abdominal wall is made up of muscles and sheets of tough fiber laid down in layers. These muscles run in various directions and they are of differing strengths and firmness. In the nature of things it is not possible to make the tissues fit snugly around the vessels that pass through these rings. The rings are always weak spots in the wall, but from birth they are weaker in some persons and stronger in others.

The rule to which there are only rare exceptions is that hernias never take place except through rings that were congenitally weak. Given a ring that closed only imperfectly at birth or thereabouts not much physical strain is required to cause some organ, such as a loop of intestine, to push through the poor closing curtain and thus bring about a hernia.

In causation of this deformity congenital conditions constitute, say, ninety per cent; and whooping cough, ordinary bronchitis, vomiting, or muscle strain is responsible for most of the remaining ten per cent.

Exercises to build up muscles and tissues are enough to cure an occasional hernia. The habitual wearing of a proper truss will cure a few cases. Operation to close the canal and opening with muscle and fascia will cure about ninety per cent of the cases at the first trial and a few more at subsequent trials. Some cases are cured by the injection method. In many, if not most, cases wearing a truss holds the hernia back satisfactorily and operation is not advisable.

FREE ADVICE.

A. E. S. writes: Winter is coming. I haven't any money to give away, so I will contribute some good health advice. Don't linger in hot waiting rooms. Get out on the platform and walk. Breathe deeply. Don't live, sleep, work, or stay in hot, dry rooms. Let the air in. Don't ride in your own or any one else's automobile without a free circulation of air. To do so is a health menace. Take open air exercises every day. Nothing beats brisk walks. Sleep eight or nine hours out of each twenty-four. Avoid outbursts of anger and heated discussions. Occupy your mind with clean thoughts free from jealousies and hatreds. Avoid unpleasant and heated discussions. Eat a mixed diet and avoid overeating. I don't like to wear an overcoat until there is a real snap in the air. If you are old don't hurry, don't run for cars, don't buck heavy blizzards, or dig snowdrifts.

BOILS.

Mrs. L. W. writes: My 12 year old boy has had boils off and on for nearly a year. How can we cure them?

REPLY.

What is the cause? Has he been examined for diabetes? Does he eat too much sweets, desserts, starchy foods, or drink sweet drinks? Is his skin properly protected from greases, oils, and dirt, and also from scratching and rubbing? Bacteriophage is used locally, but try to get behind the boils to the cause.

POSTAL FACILITIES.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—[Friend of the People.]—I wonder why they removed the mail box from the corner of West 55th street and South Kedvale avenue. It was the only box in this vicinity. I think if it were placed at Kildare and 55th street it would be in a better location for it than up where it was. We now are required to walk to Archer avenue to the nearest box. W. V.

Please be advised that upon a recent inspection of the postal facilities in the neighborhood of West 55th street and South Kedvale avenue it was found that the letter box at that location was not justified. The box was accordingly moved to 55th street and Kostner avenue, two blocks west, where there is a greater need for collection facilities. The writer will probably find this location more convenient than to go to Archer avenue. ARTHUR C. LUEDER, Postmaster.

RENEWAL UNNECESSARY.

Spring Green, Wis., Nov. 7.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Please advise if a note that is past due in Illinois should be renewed to be lawful. I had a note due in September on $2,000 loaned for five years. I received the interest, but no mention of principal being due was made. 2. Should I write and ask them if they want a renewal or just let it run, as they have paid the interest promptly? I. F.

Renewal is not necessary in the sense that the limitation period is ten years, and no lapse of time short of this period would bar the rights of the creditor. An extension agreement may be to the interest of the debtor.

2. You can do as you choose.

MORTGAGE NOTES.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 7.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My wife and myself are joint owners of a home covered by mortgage. We are unable to pay taxes due this year. The mortgage becomes due soon. Interest is paid to date. My wife has inherited a small farm (unincumbered); same is in her name. In case of foreclosure on our home, can they in any way involve the farm? R. E. K.

If your wife signed the mortgage notes, then the holder could take judgment against her and subject her other assets to payment of such judgment.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

NOVEMBER 12, 1916.

CHICAGO.—Altogether it was a record-breaking election—perhaps a turning point in American history. Political traditions were upset, precedents nullified, and signs and portents discredited. For the first time since Andrew Jackson a Democratic President has been reëlected in succession. For the first time a President has been elected without the vote of New York. For the first time Maine went Republican in September and the country Democratic in November. Jackson won the presidency by a combination of the south and the new west. Wilson has been reëlected by a combination of the solid south, Ohio and the newer far west.

LONDON.—The fate of Bucharest, capital of Rumania, hangs on the result of the terrific battle now raging in the vicinity of Cernavoda in Dobrudja. Gigantic efforts of Field Marshal von Mackensen to secure control of the bridgehead leading to the twelve mile span across the Danube, which carries the beginning of the direct road to Bucharest, is being opposed tenaciously by a combined Russo-Rumanian army equipped with the latest type of heavy artillery. Should the Germans gain control of this bridgehead at Cernavoda they will be in a position to repair the structure which was partially wrecked by the Rumanians during their retreat before Von Mackensen's drive and advance on Bucharest.

LONDON.—The steady pressure of the allies in France resulted in further gains. The British stormed 1,000 yards of "Regina trench," the important position on the northern end of the Somme front. The French have taken the greater part of Saillisel village.

PETROGRAD.—Determined counter attacks by the Russians have resulted in the recapture of a portion of the positions taken from them by the Germans near Skrobowa in the Baranovichi region, the war office announced. East of the Narayuvka river, in Galicia, southeast of Lemberg, in the region of the villages of Lipnicadolna and Svisteiniki, strong German attacks were repulsed.

BERLIN.—Russian forces tried in vain by the use of strong new forces to recapture the position stormed by the Germans the day previously at Skrobowa, near Baranovichi. All the attacks broke down under heavy losses. German troops penetrated the main Russian positions southwest of Folv-Krasnolesie and repulsed five violent counter attacks launched at night.

CHICAGO.—A bread famine! Within the next six months the people of the United States will probably be forced to cut down the amount of bread they eat. If the famine comes it will be because so much wheat has been exported that not enough is left to supply the domestic consumption. During the last two months about 75,000,000 bushels—three-quarters of the available supply—has been sold abroad. The foreign demand continues. There is grave danger of overexportation.

ANOTHER FORGOTTEN MAN.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—There has been much discussion about the man who loses his home through foreclosure. How about the poor investor who is compelled to foreclose to protect his life savings? Is the investor's money any different from the owner's money?

In most cases the investor is compelled to pay several years' past due taxes when he forecloses; he also has to pay large attorney's fees, master's fees, title fees and court costs. He is compelled to take a piece of property which he doesn't want from 18 to 24 months for possession. The property is usually in bad condition when he gets it. Then he has the worry and management and problem of renting and reconditioning.

So why picture the investor as a villain who takes away the poor man's home? In reality it is the investor who is to be pitied. He gets a piece of property instead of the return of his money, which he loaned in good faith.

The courts seem to favor the home owner in all cases. This is turning the investor away from real estate mortgages and that is one reason why so many owners cannot get property refinanced.

Why not show a little sympathy for the poor investor who worked just as hard for his dollars as did the home owner. INVESTOR.

A WELL DESERVED BOUQUET.

Gary, Ind., Nov. 9.—Allow me to congratulate your Mr. Arthur Sears Henning, head of THE TRIBUNE staff at Washington, D. C. His prediction in the last election as in previous political campaigns has been proved correct once again. MARY C. LIKAVEC.

A BITTER PILL.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—It must have been a rather bitter pill for THE TRIBUNE to swallow when it became necessary to show headlines this morning that Roosevelt was the victor.

I wondered how many people took notice that THE TRIBUNE must have searched their files for the worst possible photograph to print of that marvelous personage, our new President, Franklin D. Roosevelt. It may be well if your readers would really note that THE TRIBUNE never seems to have a really good photograph for display in their papers of those they oppose. Whoever heads your photograph department certainly must think they are getting away with something, but in reality it indicates what poor sports they really are.

MRS. E. C. BUCHANAN.

SOMETHING TO WORRY ABOUT.

Winnetka, Ill., Nov. 9.—The health of Presidents, always important, should now be a matter of constant acute anxiety. WILLIAM L. NINABUCK.

THAT'S THAT.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—Hoover, Herbert, suddenly by landslide, Nov. 8.

Remains will lie in state at Washington, D. C., until March 4, when they will be taken to Palo Alto, Cal., for burial.

He fed the Belgians
And starved the Americans.
May he rest in peace.

DESERTED.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—Herbert Hoover did not fail his people; his people failed him. Like Abraham Lincoln, he will only be appreciated for his fineness by another generation. VIOLA A. MCATEE.

MR. BOETTIGER'S DISPATCHES.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—While congratulations are being passed around I want to extend my heartiest to your excellent special correspondent, Mr. John Boettiger, assigned to accompany Gov. Roosevelt, now our President elect, on his long campaigning tours. He has made many friends for himself and for THE TRIBUNE. His enthusiasm and interest in his work, his gift of being able to present details in human interest style made his articles pleasant and interesting reading. Never impatient, never flippant, giving each occasion its full importance and still always nonpartisan. While I have never had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Boettiger, I think it only fair he should know how thoroughly so many of the TRIBUNE readers enjoyed his work.

JOS. C. SMITH.

A REBUKE TO CONSERVATISM.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—Second in importance only to the election of Gov. Roosevelt is the defeat of Senators Glenn, Watson, Smoot, Moses, Jones and Bingham. It is to be hoped that their successors in congress will understand and profit by this admonition of the American electorate. These reactionary senators have ever been the champions of special privilege, and the American people have expressed themselves in no uncertain terms against the injection of this principle in our form of government.

G. H. H.

LIGHT OR DARK?

Chicago, Nov. 9.—History tells us that the Dutch bought the island of Manhattan from the Indians for a string of beads. From the results of the past election it looks very much as though the Democrats have just bought the United States for a glass of beer.

H. E. M.

THANK YOU.

Galesburg, Ill., Nov. 10.—I want to commend you on the fairness you displayed for both presidential candidates during this campaign. C. E. F.

HE GOT HIS PAPER.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 8.—I want to congratulate THE TRIBUNE. During the broadcast of the election Quin Ryan said: "THE TRIBUNE is now on sale all over Chicago; there is a boy outside your door now." Well, I looked out, but saw no one selling papers. So I called the radio station and told them about it and in five minutes I had my TRIBUNE. May we always have this honest and truthful paper with us, one that is always the first in reporting all news. R. J. POLOCK.

ZONE FARES FOR TAXICABS.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—The fifteen and twenty-five cent zone cab service now available in many midwestern cities is one of the most convenient and economical forms of urban point to point transportation ever originated. It would be a great boon in Chicago.

CARDINAL HAYES IS AMONG 8 SUED FOR $500,000

"Religious Persecution" Charged in Action.

New York, Nov. 11.—[Special.]—His Eminence Cardinal Patrick Hayes, one of the best known Roman Catholic dignitaries of the country, was named as one of eight defendants in a $500,000 "spite and religious persecution" damage suit filed in the Bronx county clerk's office today.

CARDINAL HAYES.

The plaintiff is Raymond J. Norman, former mission worker, who described himself as "an ordained priest and minister of the American Catholic Orthodox church and treasurer of the Church of Contrology" on East 14th street, Manhattan. He sets forth that he was arrested three times and sent to Welfare island "for spite and for the purpose of religious persecution," and blamed the defendants for the ordeals.

District Attorney Accused.

In a statement given out when the complaint was filed Joseph Wheless, attorney for Norman, declared that the action was being brought as "a wholesale deterrent to the all too prevalent practice of 'railroading' innocent persons to prison for spite and for purposes of religious persecution, and, further, to break the alliance between Cardinal Hayes and the Catholic Tammany public officials under his spiritual and political dominance."

Besides Cardinal Hayes the defendants named are:

Father Thaddeus Tierney, former pastor of the Church of the Immaculate Conception; Magistrate August Dreyer, District Attorney Thomas C. T. Crain, James W. Kelly and Romaine Sullivan of the department of public welfare, Detective Charles F. Kane, and Hugh N. Hughes of 30 East 42d street.

Norman was tried in Special Sessions on Dec. 28, 1931, found guilty of petit larceny in the sale of tickets to a benefit dinner dance, and was sentenced to two years on Welfare island, according to his petition, which related that he was released later when the Court of Appeals reversed the conviction for want of evidence.

Lists Other "Persecutions."

During the fall of 1930, the complaint says, the plaintiff planned a dinner dance at a big midtown hotel and began the sale of tickets at $15 a couple, the proceeds to go to the maintenance of his "St. Peter's mission," when he was called upon by Father Tierney with a demand that he close the mission. This he refused to do. A few days later, he says, Kelly took him before District Attorney Crain, who questioned and released him. On Dec. 30 following this episode, he says, the mission was raided by Detective Kane, accompanied by Sullivan and a squad of policemen, and he and eight of his employes were arrested.

The employes were discharged by Magistrate Dreyer and Norman was held in "the exorbitant bail" of $10,000 for Special Sessions, where he was later discharged, according to the complaint.

Again Tried and Convicted.

"This arrest," the complaint alleges, "ended the business of the mission and the plaintiff's honest means of a livelihood."

Endeavoring to reestablish his mission, Norman's suit continued, he promoted another dinner dance at the Hotel Breslin on March 26, 1931, which was interrupted by Sullivan and Detective Kane, who arrested Norman at the dinner and took him before Magistrate Dreyer on a grand larceny charge.

The magistrate dismissed the charge and Norman was about to leave, it was related, when Hughes stepped up and told the court he had bought a ticket for the Hotel Commodore dinner dance, which was not held. On Hughes' complaint, it was charged, Norman was again arrested for petit larceny, held for Special Sessions, tried and convicted.

KAHN AND SINGER SETTLE HER SUIT AND TRIAL HALTS

New York, Nov. 11. — [Special.] — Otto H. Kahn, the banker and former chairman of the board of the Metropolitan Opera company, this afternoon settled on an undisclosed basis the $500,000 breach of contract suit brought against him by Mrs. Raoul Querze, formerly known as Lydia Lindgren, "the Swedish nightingale."

When the suit was tried more than a year ago it was thrown out of court by the trial judge, but the appellate division granted a new trial which began yesterday in Queens county court.

Today the jury entered the box at 10 o'clock, but the plaintiff and attorneys for both sides went into Judge Frank F. Adel's chambers and when they emerged at 3:15 o'clock this afternoon, it was to announce that the case had been settled.

Mr. Kahn was not in court.

Miss Lindgren offered two reasons why she was suing Mr. Kahn for half a million dollars. She alleged that he failed to live up to a verbal agreement to give her $100,000 if she would drop a slander suit against another opera singer in which his name was involved, the other allegation was that he did not keep a promise to advance her musical career.

About two weeks ago Mr. Kahn settled another damage suit, Rosalinda Morini, a singer, sued for $250,000, alleging damage to her reputation by his denial that he had said she had "one of the most beautiful voices in the world."

Nathan Burkan, attorney for the banker, said that the settlement in the Morini case was for "considerably less than $10,000."

BEG YOUR PARDON

It was said Friday morning that William Taylor, 2440 Albion avenue, had been arrested on charges of reckless driving after an automobile accident and would be arraigned in the Speeders' court on Nov. 15. Mr. Taylor was never held. He signed a complaint on which Edward Jones, 2431 Warner avenue, driver of another car involved in the crash, was charged with speeding and reckless driving.

VICTIMS POUNCE ON BANDITS, GIVE THEM A BEATING

Two Negroes who attempted to hold up Louis Schriber, 46 years old, and his son, John, 22 years old, in the Schriber filling station at 1443 South Halsted street, got the worse of a hand to hand fight last night. The bandits fled empty handed and badly beaten after one of them had been disarmed.

Only one of the Negroes was armed. When they entered the office of the filling station the elder Schriber started for them. The armed man struck Schriber on the head with the weapon. Young Schriber grappled with the second bandit.

All four men rolled to the ground outside of the office where John struck his man on the head with a hammer. Louis, meanwhile, was punching and kicking the other Negro, and finally seized his gun. The weapon contained dumdum bullets. As the worsted robbers fled, Harry Nathan, owner of a fruit store at 812 West 14th place, fired three shots at them.

Theft of 90 Pound Bust from U. of C. Is Revealed

Hyde Park police yesterday sought the thief who carried away a 90 pound bronze bust from the lobby of the George Herbert Jones chemistry laboratory at the University of Chicago. The bust, a likeness of Prof. John U. Nef, dean of the chemistry department until his death in 1915, was stolen Tuesday night.

PREPARE TO FIGHT CHARGE AGAINST CANAL DISTRICT

Attorney Joseph B. Fleming of Kirkland, Fleming, Green & Martin will assist Attorney William Rothman of the sanitary district in the oral argument before the United States Supreme court on the recent joint complaint against the district made by Wisconsin, Ohio, Michigan, and Minnesota. President Thomas J. Bowler announced yesterday. The arguments are set for Dec. 15. Horace P. Raimey, assistant chief engineer for the district, will appear with the attorneys.

The four complaining states charge that the sanitary district has violated the Supreme court's decree in the diversion case by delay in execution of the sewage disposal program. They ask a receiver.

"We are certainly not in contempt," said President Bowler. "Anyhow, you can't take a shirt off a naked man's back."

Writing Since Child, Is Story of Vicki Baum

Describes Early Start on Her Career.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"HELLO," said a friendly voice, as a tiny hand offered itself in welcome. It belonged to a diminutive blonde, with curls framing a face typically Viennese that recalls all the lovely feminine faces of Vienna that haunt the memory, with their wide eyes, limpid in some specially melting way that no other eyes in the world entirely achieve.

VICKI BAUM.

"Gracious, you're a shock to me!" I could not help saying, as I looked at the reality which I had seen so often in pictures of Vicki Baum. "You look ten years younger than any picture I ever saw of you."

"You're just being nice," she countered. "You know I have a son fifteen years old."

"Not flattery; fact," I said. "But you ought to sue the camera men for libel."

"I'm certainly not what the French call photogenique," she said, but she didn't seem to mind in the least that pictures malign her. And she was attractive even after arriving at 7:20 a. m., being interviewed for two hours, and having suffered for four days with a toothache. And, although they helped, it wasn't her Paris clothes, either. It was just Vicki Baum herself.

And that's her name—Vicki. When I asked her she said, "When I was born, destined to be called Victoria, I was so tiny that nobody could think of calling me anything but Vicki, and nobody ever thought, as I grew up, of calling me anything else."

I wondered how she started to write. "I never started," she said, "not consciously. I always wrote. They tell in the family of a time when I was four years old, when one of my mother's many sisters was getting married. I saw all of the grown-ups getting up and proposing toasts to the bride and bridegroom, and I got up myself and said a poem that I had made up. My family was shocked beyond words, but I didn't mind. All the time that I was in school I used to love to write essays, and when the teacher said to write three pages I used to hand in sixty. I was always trying to get adults to correspond with me, because I loved to write letters. When I was about 15 my teacher took a special interest in me and persuaded me to keep a diary. As I wrote the diary I knew that it would be read by a critical eye, so I wrote very carefully."

"No better training," I interposed, "than letter writing and a journal."

"None," she answered. "My first work was published when I was 14, and ever since then I have been writing and having things published."

"Was the great international success of 'Grand Hotel' a great surprise?" I asked.

"A tremendous one, because it is not only not the best of the things I have written, but it was not by any means the most popular in Germany."

"What was?" I asked.

"A book about student life in Heidelberg, not the old Heidelberg with steins and scars, but the new Heidelberg. It is about a girl—how do you say in English—Studentchen? It was published five years ago in Germany and is still popular. It is to be published in America next spring, under what title I do not know. But my best book nobody liked, 'Nolle the Dwarf,' and 'Life Goes On' is better than 'Grand Hotel.'"

"You're not, I take it, going to write about America in the near future?" I said.

"Not I. Not until I know it better. We're coming to America to live, and I have a plot that must have New York as a background, but I don't really know it yet, and I must before I dare write about it."

"How eccentric of you!" I said. "Mostly foreign writers don't feel that way about using America as material."

We almost had the Baums as Chicagoans. Herr Lert-Baum, conductor at the state opera in Berlin, was invited to come to Chicago for a season of German opera during the World's Fair.

"But Chicago is poor and Germany is poor these days," she explained, "and nobody can afford either to bring or to send my husband, so that unfortunately we will not be in Chicago next summer."

I was very amused at her quickness of mind over the telephone. Some reporter called her on the phone and put her through many paces. (I couldn't help overhearing her replies, though of course I missed his questions.) She told him that her English (which she learned only a couple of years ago, I think, but which is excellent in conversation) wasn't good enough to give an interview over the telephone. But he insisted, and he evidently asked her how she liked the Chicago weather. I heard her say, "But is the weather a specialty of Chicago? Yesterday in Detroit we had the same and just as much."

Among the New Books

FICTION.

The Bishop's Jaegers, by Thorne Smith [Doubleday-Doran], wickedly and gayly tells about a bishop, a nudist colony, and young love.

To Make My Bread, by Grace Lumpkin [Macaulay], realistially portrays life in the southern mountains.

NONFICTION.

A Half Day's Ride, by Padraic Colum [Macmillan], traverses the world and its strangenesses in a variety of moods and with charming imagination.

ABOUT PEOPLE.

The Empress, by Carola Oman [Holt], presents the life of the wife of Emperor Henry V. and describes the stirring times in which she lived.

ABOUT PLACES.

Proves Triumph for Under Fifty Brigade.

BY FRANK SWINNERTON.

LONDON.—[Special Correspondence.]—The novels London is reading at this moment are Hugh Walpole's "The Fortress" and Francis Brett Young's "The House Under the Water." This is a triumph for the Under Fifty Brigade, who may in future be expected to assume the places until lately held by their seniors. When it is added that in general literature pride of place is taken by the "Letters of D. H. Lawrence," it will be seen that the novelists who first appeared around 1910 have gradually arrived at a point of acceptance with the reading public, which justifies the curious process of "sorting out" employed by the late W. L. George in the American Bookman for some months in 1911. All George's selections for the future were good; some were better than others.

EDWARD SHANKS.

But when Henry James spoke of Lawrence "toiling dustily in the rear" of his contemporaries, he did not realize that Lawrence would now be considered the only genius among them. A book by Lawrence's sister, dealing with the early life of the novelist, is described to me as remarkably interesting. It is not yet published, but will be ready this year. So will a volume of short stories, now collected for the first time, and including one which, after its publication in the London Mercury, was temporarily suppressed on personal grounds, at the instance of the original "Man Who Loved Islands."

Other novels attracting attention are Jeffery Marston's "Jubilee," which is the story of an old servant, and Edward Shanks' "Queer Street." The former is a brief book; the latter is an omnibus of life in London. Mr. Marston is still closely connected with the London publishing world, both in his own right and because his wife represents one of the leading American houses; while his brother, Maurice Marston, is secretary of that excellent organization, the National Book Council.

Edward Shanks, who was at one time a poet, recipient of the Hawthornden prize, and a novelist of future times, is now a journalist and writes about the very much present. "Queer Street" is an immense work, greatly concerned with those who frequent a not too high class night club in Soho. It is both copious and detailed, in the new modern ancient manner, and it is full of characters.

As is proper to an author who has given his name to a drink [a "Shanks" is a particular variety of whisky and soda, of no great venom], Mr. Shanks tells his readers what the people in "Queer Street" had in the way of liquor, but he does it very adroitly, and "Queer Street" is a novel which should be read by those who like their fiction long, racy, and human.

Grant Richards, the publisher, has written his reminiscences. He has had one of the most romantic histories in English publishing. First of all with a great wholesale firm in London, he sprang upon the world early this century with new methods and great daring. His success was immediate. His first failure was a sensation. If his book is as good as it ought to be [he has successfully published his own novels] it should be extremely readable, witty, and delightful.

Government's Graft in Expense Records Is Exposed in Book

"Washington Swindle Sheet," by William P. Helm [Boni], is a book that every taxpayer will enjoy reading, and will become indignant after reading. Swindle sheet in bookkeepers' slang means the expense account, and the slang phrase is certainly more accurate in the present account. The author considers the expense account of the United States senate the greatest swindle sheet in the world.

The mistakes and errors, intentional and otherwise, of the legislative and executive leaders in Washington are revealed. The financial records of the house and the senate are examined by the author and instances of petty graft, oftentimes covered by legislation, are disclosed.

MEETINGS AND LECTURES

On Tuesday Prof. Fred B. Millett of the department of English of the University of Chicago will start a series of five lectures on "Modernism in Literature" at Fullerton hall, the Art institute, at 6:45 p. m. This week's lecture will deal with "The Roots of Modernism."

Angus Fletcher of the British Library of Information of New York City will speak on "Recovery and the Special Library" at the meeting of Illinois chapter of the Special Libraries association on Tuesday evening at the Medinah Athletic club.

DELIBERATE

"Weighed in the Scales"

A deliberate decision is one based upon a weighing of the facts and arguments involved—and that is the literal meaning of the word deliberate. It is derived from Latin deliberatus, formed from the verb deliberare which is a combination of de, a prefix denoting "down," and hence "completely," and librare "to weigh." Librare comes from libra "a balance or pair of scales."

The Merriam-Webster

Not only do these word stories make the most interesting reading, but to know them will give you an effectiveness in speaking and writing that can come in no other way. When you know the origins and the essential meanings of words, as they are presented in The Merriam-Webster, your own use of words will become more forceful, accurate, and colorful. The Merriam-Webster gives you the whole word power of the English language. It is a library in one volume, its type matter equivalent to a 15-volume encyclopedia. Its encyclopedic information makes it a general question-answerer on all subjects. In its 2,700 pages there are 452,000 entries, including thousands of new words; 12,000 biographical entries; 32,000 geographical subjects; 100 valuable tables; over 6,000 illustrations.

Rely on the testimony of Presidents and Department Heads of the leading Universities; the indorsement of hundreds of Supreme Court Judges; the judgment of Librarians all over the country who choose the MERRIAM-WEBSTER for their own use. Remember: A Merriam-Webster appears on the cover of every dictionary for which G. & C. Merriam Company is editorially responsible. Get the Best.

A New Novel By WILLIAM FAULKNER

"To say that Light in August is an astonishing performance is not to use the word lightly . . . it is a powerful book, a book which secures Mr. Faulkner's place in the very front rank of American writers of fiction." New York Times Book Review.

"Light in August is by any standard a remarkable book. Let the skeptic, alarmed by his (Faulkner's) violence, or doubtful of his symbolism, compare Light in August with the post-Hardy novels of a roughly equivalent English life. ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

COURT JUGGLING TO SET PRISONERS FREE IS PROBED

Judge Reveals Changing of Records.

An investigation into practices in the offices of State's Attorney Swanson and Municipal Court Clerk Joseph Gill which, it is alleged have allowed freedom to convicted criminals because of the mishandling of court records, was begun yesterday by Municipal Judge Thomas A. Green. He also asked representatives of the Bar association grievance committee and the crime commission to examine records of habeas corpus hearings by which Criminal court judges have freed Municipal court prisoners.

JUDGE GREEN.

Judge Green has ordered a hearing for Monday afternoon on the case of Raymond Hall, a colored bondsman, who was arrested on Jan. 20, and charged with driving while intoxicated. Hall injured a woman pedestrian when he lost control of his automobile. Arraigned before Judge Frank M. Padden in the Municipal Speeder's court, Hall asked for a jury trial. At that time Judge Padden discovered that the complaint which had been signed against Hall was technically incorrect and ordered an amended complaint to be added to the court records.

Sentenced to 90 Days.

In April, Hall appeared before Judge Green in the Municipal Criminal Jury court. On the testimony of several witnesses he was convicted, sentenced to 90 days in the Bridewell, and fined $200 by the judge. Hall asked leave to appeal his case and Judge Green granted the plea, ordering him to file a $1,500 appeal bond immediately and allowing a stay of the mittimus for 30 days pending the appeal. Hall was unable to post the bond and he was sent to the Bridewell on the evening of his trial.

No bill of exceptions was presented to Judge Green for the appeal. A month ago he asked his clerk to look over the records of Hall's case. They disclosed that Hall remained in prison only three days. At the end of that time his Negro lawyer, W. G. Anderson, appeared before Criminal Judge Rudolph F. Desort and obtained a writ staying the Municipal court mittimus and freeing Hall pending the appeal.

Judge Green said yesterday that power for such action rested only with the Appellate court which might grant a writ of supersedeas halting the sentence until it had passed upon the case.

Reveal Switch in Complaints.

Records in the office of Municipal Court Clerk Gill show that Attorney Anderson then asked for a certified copy of the complaints against his client. When this copy was presented to the Appellate court the properly drawn amended complaint was made to appear as the original record. The technically incorrect original complaint was made to appear as the record upon which Hall had been convicted.

The Appellate court judges reversed Judge Green's ruling on the grounds that the complaint against Hall was invalid when the case was heard. The records of that court, however, disclosed that the state's attorney's office had made no defense in the case and had filed no records with the higher court. When Judge Green asked how this had occurred he was told that "orders had been given to lay off" Hall's case, he said yesterday.

Seek Change in Rules.

"Such procedure is making a mockery of the courts," said Judge Green. "Chief Justice Sonsteby and myself are going to stop it. This case is but one among scores which we have discovered recently. We are going to suggest rules which will cause every judge to be notified when any of his prisoners are released from jail for any reason other than the completion of their sentences. We are going to plug up these loopholes.

"Also Judge Sonsteby is going to meet with Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal court to suggest to him that judges of his court must stop releasing prisoners on habeas corpus writs when the only legal procedure calls for a writ from the Appellate court."

Mrs. Marjorie Morton, 23 years old, of Tampa, Fla., was captured and her husband, James, escaped yesterday when their automobile overturned in Route 53, one mile southwest of Orland Park, ending a 50 mile chase with Policeman D. C. Boatman of Palos Park. The chase started in Palos Park, where Boatman attempted to halt Morton for speeding.

Morton speeded up and opened fire on the policeman, who gave chase and returned the shots. Unable to lose the policeman's car in the twisting chase of 50 miles, Morton turned into Route 53, where he was forced into a ditch to avoid a collision with another automobile. Morton ran across a field and escaped as Boatman drove up.

Mrs. Morton was found unconscious in the wreckage. She was treated at St. Joseph's hospital, Joliet, and then taken to the Willow Springs county highway police station. She said that her husband feared arrest because he is a gambler. A charge of disorderly conduct was placed against Mrs. Morton.

GIRL SCOUTS AID FUND FOR HUNGRY SCHOOL PUPILS

Day's Contributions Take Spurt to $225.

Two nice things happened to the Hungry School Children's fund yesterday. The fund took a sudden spurt upward, $225 being the day's total in gifts, and Girl Scout troop No. 157 adopted the fund and right away did it a good turn by giving a penny social in its behalf.

Parents and friends of the troop of 30 Girl Scouts turned out enthusiastically last night at the troop's headquarters in Trinity Evangelical church, Austin boulevard and Fillmore streets. They allowed themselves to be tagged with the special bright colored tags bearing the faces of smiling children on one side, and "thank you" on the other. Then they bought at a penny each, cookies, cake, and cocoa, prepared by the Scouts, knowing every cent would go to the Hungry School Children's fund.

Dramatize Scout Ballad.

There was entertainment, too. Twelve girls in costume dramatized the Girl Scout ballad, "Three Pirates Came to London Town," and there were other stunts to make the guests feel they were getting their money's worth. But best of all was the way that the indicator on the troop's Hungry School Children chart shot upward.

"Our goal is $13 for the fund," explained Ethel Hanzlick, lieutenant of the troop. "Each time we 'ring the bell' we mark the chart. So far we have $7.07. We made $3.56 on the penny social and we already had shown $3.51 on the chart. Our troop is very happy to do this for the hungry school children and we hope to turn over to it the rest of the $13 and a lot more."

Those of the troop in charge of the social were Olive Pelikan, Evelyn Klien, Grace Weier, Marjorie Marshraf, Shirley Parsons, Genevieve Keller, Genevieve and Clara Karvanek, Martha June Jangken, Annabelle and Bessie Capek, and Louise Contursi.

Ask Other Troops to Aid.

There are 262 Girl Scout troops in Chicago, which have as one of their laws: "Be a friend to all." The troop of Trinity Evangelical church expressed the hope that other troops might follow their lead in aiding the hungry children in the public schools.

"HUNGER MARCHERS" ARE WARNED NOT TO INVADE WASHINGTON

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Steps were taken by the District of Columbia commissioners today aimed at preventing the descent or "hunger marchers" and other unemployed armies upon the capital during the coming winter.

In a telegram dispatched to governors of all states and mayors of 14 principal cities, the commissioners urged local officials to cooperate "in discouraging participation in such marches by your citizens."

Even as the message was being sent, Herbert Benjamin, New York radical who organized a hunger march on the capital last winter, announced plans for a larger demonstration on Dec. 4, the day before congress convenes. And at the same time plans were being pushed by the Farmers' National Relief conference to invade Washington on Dec. 7 with a caravan of 500 disgruntled farmers.

BOLIVIA DENIES PLANNING WAR ON THREE NATIONS

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Nov. 11.—(AP)—The ministry of war today denied reported Paraguayans' assertions that documents were found at Platanillos in the Gran Chaco battle zone revealing Bolivian plans for war against Argentina, Brazil and Peru.

"The story is absolutely unfounded. Such documents never existed," the ministry's statement said.

In response to a Paraguayan bulletin, which asserted that Bolivian airplanes had bombarded a hospital in the Chaco, the war ministry declared that such reports were "absolutely false." Military planes have not made any incursions beyond the zone of operations, the statement said, and Paraguay is spreading false accounts in an effort to create an unfavorable atmosphere so far as Bolivia is concerned.

Sails for U. S. to Build German Colony on Amazon

BERLIN, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Gen. Hans Kundt, former military adviser to the Bolivian government, sailed last night for the United States hoping to negotiate in North and South America for the settlement of German pioneers in the upper Amazon valley. He may also help in the solution of the dispute between Bolivia and Paraguay.

WINKLER FREED ON $40,000 BAIL ON BANK CHARGES

Gus Winkler, 32 years old, one time Capone gangster and friend of Fred [Killer] Burke, notorious bank robber, was released from the Kane county jail yesterday in bonds of $40,000, furnished by a security company.

Winkler was arrested by the Chicago police on Nov. 4. He is charged with robbing the First State bank of Plano, Ill., where bandits obtained $7,000 in December, 1930. Bank employés have identified him as one of the band of robbers. There is to be a hearing on the charge in the Kendall county Circuit court on Nov. 28.

Wisconsin authorities also want Winkler as a bank robber, and $20,000 of his bonds guarantee his appearance in that state. When arrangements for his freedom had been completed Winkler called a Chicago telephone number and a little later a liveried chauffeur called at the jail in Aurora and took him away in an expensive automobile.

Mexican Revolt Officer Seized Here; Must Go Back

José Gilberto Rangel, 34 years old who served as a lieutenant colonel in the forces of Gen. J. Gonzales Escobar in the latter's ill starred Mexican revolution three years ago, was held at the detective bureau last night for violation of the immigration laws. He was arrested at his home at 9124 Brandon avenue. Rangel entered the United States on a six months' permit, which he has overstayed, police said, and will be sent back to Mexico. Rangel said that if returned he would probably be court martialed.

Woman Elected, but Didn't Know She Was Candidate

Council Bluffs, Ia., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Unaware that she was a candidate Miss Mildred Vanacek, 21 and comely was elected justice of the peace for Garner township, Pottawattamie county. Her margin of victory was three votes—the total cast for her. Miss Vanacek, clerk in a local law office, was notified her name had been written on three ballots. She is the county's first woman justice of the peace.

Workmen Open Cornerstone of Historic Lutheran Church

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Trinity Lutheran church, which was built "way out on the prairie" at the corner of Grand avenue and Peoria street in 1871, is no more. Yesterday workmen practically finished wrecking the edifice with the removal of the corner stone, which had been laid at a time when the congregation was divided over building such an expensive church in a rural location.

In contrast with the solemn observance when the corner stone was placed, on Aug. 27, 1871, the workmen yesterday removed the stone and opened its metal box without ceremony. The contents were found to be badly damaged. A Norwegian Bible and a few tracts, which could not be identified, were removed.

Recalls Parish History.

The Rev. H. A. Hansen, pastor of the present Lutheran church, 1701 North Richmond street, yesterday recalled the history of the parish. He told of the sale of the edifice more than thirty years ago to an Italian congregation that occupied the building several years, and then was forced to return it to its original owners.

Later, the Rev. Mr. Hansen said, the church was purchased by other Italians, who had settled in the neighborhood, for religious use.

Records of the parish show that it was founded by the Rev. Elling Eilsen, the first Norwegian missionary to visit Chicago, in 1839. Under the Rev. J. Z. Torgenson's leadership in 1857 the church was formally organized. The Rev. Mr. Torgenson came to be known as Chicago's first "marrying parson." The congregation worshiped in a small frame structure. This strucure was soon outgrown and a new church was planned to accommodate the 1,200 members.

Untouched by Fire.

The building on the remote Grand avenue site was erected despite the controversy it caused and was used until after the great fire as a center for a theological school. The fire failed to reach the church, although homes in the immediate neighborhood were wiped out.

Trinity church is known as the mother of the Norwegian Lutheran churches of the city. The present Italian congregation had used the church from the time of its purchase until it was partially destroyed by fire early this year.

STALIN'S WIFE IS BURIED WITH SHOW OF POMP

Given Greatest Funeral Since Lenin Died.

MOSCOW, Nov. 11.—(AP)—The most impressive funeral pomp seen in soviet Russia since Lenin's death today accompanied the body of Nadya Alleuieva, young wife of Joseph Stalin, to her grave.

But amid the splendor Stalin himself—the most powerful figure in the soviet union and head of the communist party—scorned a luxurious automobile and marched four miles on foot behind the red coffin of his wife, who died Wednesday at the age of 30.

Stalin was attired in his usual khaki blouse, breeches, and boots. With him were their two little children, and behind them all members of the powerful political bureau of the communist party.

Public Barred from Ceremony.

The procession began at Red square, where the general public was barred from a two hour ceremony. They were barred also from the final services at Novodevichi monastery, where Mme. Stalin was buried near the graves of the first wife of Peter the Great and Chekhov.

Mme. Stalin was the first person of importance since Lenin to die here and not be cremated, which is almost an invariable soviet custom.

Highest officials of the government participated in the funeral ceremonies, including V. M. Molotoff, president of the council of people's commissars; Michael Kalinin, president of soviet Russia; A. I. Mikoyan, Maxim Litvinoff, Klementi Voroshiloff, and other commissars.

Troops Guard Funeral.

Large units of infantry and cavalry were in the line of march, and others guarded the whole length of the funeral route, assisted by metropolitan police. Several thousand persons were in the procession, which required a half an hour to pass a given point, with most of the "comrades" marching four abreast.

Persons associated with Mme. Stalin in the industrial academy from which she was graduated last July and others engaged with her in revolutionary work had important places.

Police lines broke at one point and hundreds of persons swarmed into the street to catch a glimpse of the cortège. They were soon herded back by mounted police reserves.

A crack cavalry troop, with horses taped on forelegs with red ribbons; seventeen men and women bearing floral wreaths, and two military bands which played Chopin's Funeral march and other dirges preceded the catafalque. This was deep red with a block dome and was drawn by three teams of jet black horses. Within lay the body in a plain red casket covered with flowers.

Hold Funeral Services for Cassius O. Smith, 73

Funeral services for Cassius O. Smith, 73 years old, were held yesterday at the chapel at 1411 East 60th street, with burial in Cedar Park cemetery. Mr. Smith was a former business manager of Valparaiso university. He died Wednesday in his home at 5528 Cornell avenue. He is survived by one son, Cassius F. Smith, and two daughters, Elva and Hertha.

FILE INVENTORY OF A. G. NORRIS $1,500,000 ESTATE

A list of the security holdings of the late Arthur G. Norris, grain broker, who left an estate of $1,500,000, was disclosed yesterday when an inventory of the property was filed by the Northern Trust company, executor. Mr. Norris died last July 30.

The inventory revealed that he possessed a total of $60.000 in five banks. It also listed $749,000 in bonds, mostly of municipal and federal land bank issues. Only a few of these were reported as either doubtful or bad.

The stocks listed include the following: 5,100 Standard Oil of Indiana, 2,268 Union Carbide and Carbon, 1,140 United States Steel, 1,226 Beacon Building corporation, 1,000 Socony-Vacuum corporation, 400 American Locomotive, 107 Anaconda Copper, 736 Canadian Pacific railroad, 800 Central Illinois Securities, 500 Commercial Solvents, 242 Continental Can, 225 Diamond Match, 648 Stewart Warner, 733 United States Realty corporation, 562 Westinghouse Electric company. Several other stocks were listed as bad and doubtful.

Mr. Norris is the brother of James Norris, head of the grain brokerage house of that name. He was 45 years old when he died. His will left the income of a $500,000 trust fund to his widow, Alice, 6200 Kenmore avenue. In event of her marriage she receives one quarter of the principal and the remainder goes to her son Arthur, 21 months old. The child receives most of the remainder.

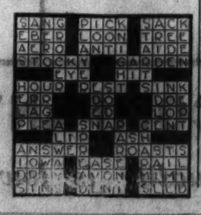
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED



E. J. HARGRAVE IS DEAD AFTER 2 DAY ILLNESS

Edward J. Hargrave, 64 years old, head of the Hargrave Secret service, 145 North Clark street, died yesterday of heart disease in his home, 4124 West End avenue, after an illness of two days. Mr. Hargrave organized his Chicago detective agency 44 years ago and had actively directed the work since that time. He had worked on many famous murder cases, including the Belle Gunness mystery of La Porte, Ind., in 1908.

E. J. HARGRAVE.

He was active in politics and was defeated for the Republican nomination for congressman at large two years ago. Mr. Hargrave is survived by his widow, Daisy, and a son, George, general manager of the detective agency.

HOLD MEMORIAL SERVICES FOR M. A. RYERSON

A memorial service for the late Martin A. Ryerson, for 35 years a trustee of the Art institute and its first honorary president, was held yesterday afternoon in the Italian Renaissance library he erected and presented to the institute.

Four hundred invitations had been issued to friends and employés who worked with him in the art galleries, the cards being sent jointly by the University of Chicago and the Art institute, which will share the major portion of his $,000,000 estate.

Potter Palmer, president of the Art institute; Robert Harshe, director, and Robert Maynard Hutchins, president of the university, gave eulogies. Alfred Hamill, another trustee, arranged the program, and a string quartet was provided by Russell Tyson, also one of the institute trustees. Other associates on the board, with their wives, attended, as did scores of prominent Chicagoans who had been his friends.

Howland, Ex-Policeman, Starts for U. S. Prison

James Howland, colored, a former policeman, who was sentenced to a two year term in federal prison for violation of the Harrison anti-narcotic act, left last night to begin serving his sentence in Leavenworth prison. Wellington Britton, another former policeman, who was sentenced in the same case, was given a stay pending an appeal to the United States Supreme court. Seventeen other prisoners, sentenced for various federal law violations, composed the group sent to Leavenworth.

Alfred G. Lanio, Former County Commissioner, Dies

Alfred G. Lanio, former county commissioner, died suddenly yesterday of heart disease in the home of his son, Edwin J. Lanio, 904 Circle avenue, Forest Park. He was 75 years old. Mr. Lanio lived for 50 years at Randolph and Curtis streets, on the old Haymarket, where he was engaged in the harness business. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Monday in the West Side Masonic temple, 12 South Oakley boulevard. Burial will be in Forest Home cemetery.

Dr. Murri, Once Italy's Greatest Surgeon, Dies

BOLOGNA, Italy, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Dr. Augusto Murri, once regarded as Italy's greatest surgeon, died today at 91 of apoplexy. His death recalls the family mystery which surrounded the murder of a son-in-law who was killed thirty years ago. Dr. Murri's son, Tullio, was sentenced to seventeen years in prison. He died last year and it was said that he had left a written revelation to be opened only after his father's death.

Elie Sheetz, Founder of Candy Company, Is Dead

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Elie Sheetz, founder of the Martha Washington Candy company, which grew under his guidance from a capital concern to a national chain, died tonight. He was 54 years old.

DR. HEMINGWAY, MISSIONARY IN CHINA, IS DEAD

Dr. Willoughby A. Hemingway, 58 years old, formerly of Oak Park, died on Tuesday at Taiku, Shansi province, China, where he had been a medical missionary since 1903. According to a message to the American board of commissioners for foreign missions, he had been ill only a short time of influenza.

Dr. Hemingway was head of the Taiku hospital and had recently been director of a health movement for students in Chinese government schools. He was decorated in 1919 by the Chinese government for his work in halting the spread of bubonic plague in Shansi.

Dr. Hemingway was a graduate of Oberlin college, Rush Medical college, and the Chicago Eye and Ear college. He is survived by his widow Mrs. Mary Williams Hemingway, and three daughters. He was a brother of George R. Hemingway, 639 North Oak Park avenue, Oak Park, and an uncle of Ernest Hemingway, author of "The Sun Also Rises" and "Death in the Afternoon."

SEES 2-3 OF U. S. PEOPLE IN CITIES WITHIN 20 YEARS

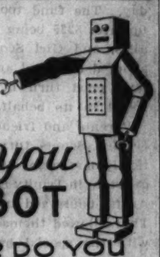
The future of the American city was discussed yesterday before the American Municipal association by Prof. Charles E. Marriam of the University of Chicago's political science department. The meeting was held in Judson court on the Midway.

Mr. Merriam pointed out that 96 metropolitan regions of the United States contain half the country's population. He predicted that in twenty years more than two-thirds of the population will be found in these urban communities. He emphasized that while the ten smaller states in the forty-eight have a combined population which is 500,000 less than that of Chicago, these states have 20 senators and Illinois has but two.

JOHN F. KIDWELL FUNERAL TO BE HELD TOMORROW

Funeral services for John F. Kidwell, a leader in the floral industry since 1890, will be held tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. from his residence at 4800 Middaugh avenue, Downers Grove. Burial will be in Mount Hope cemetery. Mr. Kidwell, who was 72 years old, died in the Lake View hospital on Thursday after an operation.

Mr. Kidwell was the first president and manager of the Chicago Flower Growers' association and a member of the Chicago Florist club. He also was the first mayor of Downers Grove under the commission form of government, serving six years.



Are you a ROBOT
OR DO YOU THINK FOR YOURSELF?

DARE you throw off the shackles of tradition and orthodoxy? Do you close your eyes and say, "What was good enough for those before me is good enough for me?"

For centuries the knowledge about himself has been kept from man—suppressed. Today the Rosicrucians, a NON-RELIGIOUS Brotherhood, offer every man and woman the opportunity of a frank study of life's mysteries. Do you know the facts about thought formation, law of vibrations, life on other planets, whether there is a soul?

Miss Hooker Becomes Bride of Rockefeller

BY TOM PETTEY.

New York, Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Miss Blanchette Ferry Hooker, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elon Huntington Hooker of Greenwich, Conn., was married to John Davison Rockefeller III. this afternoon in Riverside church.

The spacious church which John D. Rockefeller Jr. was instrumental in building was filled with a throng of society notables. Outside more than a thousand spectators stood for two hours in a biting wind to catch a fleeting glimpse of the wedding party as its members sped away to a dinner and reception at the Colony club.

Potentially, the bridegroom is the world's richest young man and third in line of his famous family. The bride is 23, was graduated from Vassar last year and came out in the winter of 1927. It was at Miss Hooker's debutante party in the Italian garden of the Ambassador hotel that her romance with young Rockefeller began.

The lofty domed church was decorated with cedars, white chrysanthemums and lilies. The front pews were filled with members of the two families, only the aged John D. Rockefeller Sr. being absent. There were 22 attendants in the wedding procession as the couple stood before Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, minister of the church, who performed the ceremony.

Small boys on roller skates ducking under the arms of fifty policemen, mothers with babies in their arms or pushing carriages, schoolboys and girls and shabbily dressed old women scrambled for vantage spots on the wide sidewalk as flashlights heralded the approach of the newlyweds.

The seventy-two bells in the great memorial carillon in the belfry sent their chimes across the Hudson as the wedding party marched through police lines to their automobiles.

The reception at the Colony club was more exclusive than the church ceremony and while the guests filed past the bride and groom an orchestra played classical selections. There was no dance music played until after the wedding dinner.

Miss Helen Huntington Hooker, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Nelson A. Rockefeller, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Two other sisters of the bride and three of the bridegroom's brothers were in the wedding party.

The wedding this afternoon was one of the first important social events to take place in the $4,000,000 Riverside church. In was also the first time the Rockefeller family has appeared there as participants in a ceremony of this nature. Nelson Rockefeller's wedding two years ago was near Philadelphia and Miss Abby Rockefeller was married at her parents' home.

The bridegroom is 25. He attended the Browning school in New York, Loomis school at Windsor and was graduated from Princeton in 1929. He is connected with his father's firm. The bride is a member of the Junior league and chairwoman of the Junior league committee and charity organization society. Like young Rockefeller, she is a Baptist.

Velvet Scores Big Success in New Handbags

BY RHEA SEECER.

Velvet has smoothly and suavely completed a grand invasion among the best handbag collection . . . you will now see stunning velvet bags for tailored street wear, puffed pouches with narrow glittering frames of gold or silver, for afternoon and some evening velvet vanities that are the most charming creations imaginable.

Garnet red velvet together with a collection of crimson bags are designed for afternoon wear, the kind you clutch under the arm of your dress parade clothes. They are trim flat affairs, very simple in design, and usually of the envelope style. One good looking red velvet has a concealed frame with a pair of gold round clips to keep the contents in close harmony, another has a zipper that pulls the thing together whether you still have or have not a necessary supply of shekels.

Color conscious shoppers can indulge every sort of wild yen for color this year, for the newest velvet bags are as gay and vivid as new paint jobs . . . you can carry a bright green contrast, or a splash of crimson, or the spicy new shades of ginger brown. And for the even gayer soul there are lots of ruby reds in that lovely new crushed and crinkled pale ruby red velvet that are audaciously eye-filling.

And what seductive interior decorations these trifles for the haven of extra cash can boast about. Sleek shining satin with all the numerous cases, double beveled mirror, transparent combs, and snippy little coin purses skillfully anchored to home base with a thin strong metal chain. Some of the swankiest handbags have all the separate compartments and divisions outlined with silver or gold pipings.

The pets of the collections are the muff handbags as sponsored by Vionnet [illegible] good looking, practical, and as smart as the original from Paris. They are just what they are called—handbags with a muff attachment. They are exquisitely made of either white or black velvet, perfect foils for your evening wraps and decorative accents for your evening gowns. A deftly concealed zipper operates when a velvet tab is pulled and so skillfully has the handbag been submerged in the muff that it would take an expert to discover the double life this trick new bag is living.

Something else to linger over are the collections of snowflaked velvet bags that are incredibly beautiful. Tiny crystal beads have been thickly sewed all over the surface of the velvet, and the finished effect is glittering charm by the bushel!

When you see the sooty black affairs shimmering with thousands of twinkling beads you are speechless but when you see the utterly ravishing conceits of snow white velvet sprinkled with star dust you are practically stunned for a week.

If this crystal idea takes you by storm you will then appreciate the sparkling, twinkling, glittering glory of the all crystal beaded bag over white silk. This splendor can be displayed equally as well during the summer as it can shine during the winter season, so it is perhaps the most practical of all these new low priced feminine accessories that shrewd shoppers are constantly appraising.

Mrs. Goodspeed Is Elected Head of Arts Club

About twenty-two of the thirty-six directors of the Arts club met yesterday afternoon and elected from among their number Mrs. Charles Barney Goodspeed as president of the club. Mrs. Goodspeed, formerly Elisabeth Fuller, is one of Chicago's younger social leaders and is well known as a collector of modern French paintings.

She has been a member of the board of the club for some time and has served as chairman of the reception and membership committees and every one feels that she is peculiarly fitted to take the place left vacant by the death a year ago of Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, who had headed the club almost since it was started fourteen years ago.

Mr. Carpenter, who some had thought would be elected president, is too busy undoubtedly to take on such a job, and yesterday he was chosen second vice president. The other officers were all reelected: F. J. Reichmann, first vice president; Eames MacVeagh, third vice president; Gerald Frank, treasurer, and Shreve C. Badger, secretary.

A Job a Day

Every little improvement we give our home richs now helps us—and the other fellow, too.

If you have not one of the new combination faucets at your bathroom lavatory and kitchen sink, now is a timely moment to consider its advantages. Tempered water is not only easier to wash with, but it saves on hot water used, which in turn saves on fuel for the hot water heater. On bathroom lavatories there is less metal to clean and more space available for toilet accessories, while the faucet with a swing spout at the kitchen sink is a bit of modernity well worth investigating.

"Cyrano" as Operetta Will Open at Harris Theater November 22

The operetta version of "Cyrano de Bergerac," with its title changed to "Roxane," will begin an engagement at the Harris theater Tuesday evening, Nov. 22. This show had its first performances in the repertory of the St. Louis Municipal Opera company last summer. It was recently restaged by the Messrs. Shubert in Boston, with notable success. Originally booked for an immediate Broadway premiere, the production will be brought to Chicago for its first metropolitan engagement.

George Houston, formerly of the American Opera company, will have the role of Cyrano de Bergerac. Gladys Baxter, an operetta prima donna of established reputation, will be the Roxane. Allan Jones is cast for the role of Christian. Other principals are George Hassell, Nick Long Jr., Evangeline Raleigh, Lorraine Weimar, Frank Horn, and Virginia Watson. The company contains 100 people, including a specially trained male chorus to represent the Gascony Cadets.

The Harris theater, although usually devoted to drama, has occasionally offered long run musical shows. "No, No, Nanette" occupied its stage for forty-nine weeks in the season of 1924-1925. Other song and dance entertainments in the history of this playhouse are "Topsy and Eva," with the Duncan sisters; "White Lilacs," "Good News," and "Strike Up the Band."

"Of Thee I Sing" will end its run at the Grand Opera House Dec. 3, after eleven weeks in Chicago. It will be followed by Ed Wynn in "The Laugh Parade," opening Sunday night, Dec. 4. C. C.

BY JUDITH CASS.

An engagement being announced today in Joliet of great interest in Chicago is that of Miss Florence Higinbotham, daughter of Harlow D. Higinbotham of Joliet, to John Skelton Williams Jr. of Richmond. Miss Higinbotham is one of the Chicago Junior league's most active members and is business manager of the Children's theater and one of those directly responsible for the great success of the theater.

It will be good news to her co-workers that she plans to keep on with her work this winter, for she and Mr. Williams will not be married until spring. Mr. Williams' father was an eminent citizen of Richmond and was controller of the currency and assistant secretary of the treasury during the world war. Young Mr. Williams is a graduate of the University of Virginia and of the Harvard Business school. He was in the consular service, but now is in business in Richmond.

Miss Higinbotham is a Farmington girl and had a year at Miss Risser's in Rome after leaving Miss Porter's. She studied at the Art Institute after returning from abroad, and never made a formal debut. She has been prominent in the artistic side of the Children's theater as well as the business part, and has designed costumes for many of the productions. She is a granddaughter of the late Harlow N. Higinbotham, prominent Chicagoan, who was president of the World's Columbian Exposition in 1892-'93.

It's too bad she won't be here when the league puts on children's plays at the "Enchanted Island," the paradise for children at the Century of Progress, isn't it? For it would be nice to have a granddaughter of a president of the old exposition active in the present day one. But she has been active in plans for the league's work at the Century of Progress, for those plans have been in the making since early last spring, but it was only recently that the contract was signed and the real work started. Miss Higinbotham is a niece of Mrs. Richard T. Crane, the former Florence Higinbotham, and of Mrs. Joseph M. Patterson, who was Alice Higinbotham.

Junior League Play Today.

Those clever Junior leaguers who are responsible for the presentation of "The Secret Garden" will delight hundreds of youngsters again this morning with the production which was given its first performance last Saturday at the Playhouse.

The settings, the work of Mrs. Walter Paepcke, are almost too chic to be appreciated by children—not that they don't like them, for they do, but they cannot know how really good they are—but the acting and costumes (designed by Mrs. Paepcke and Mrs. Shreve Badger) make them feel as if they really were living with Mary (Mrs. Robert M. Hoffman Jr.) and Colin (Mrs. John R. Winterbotham Jr.) and all the other characters, and there wasn't a child in last week's audience who wasn't sorry when the final curtain descended.

Tickets may be obtained at the box office for the performance which starts at 10:30 o'clock. All funds made by the Junior League Children's theater

Maday	The princess
Rajan of Bali	Her father
Lango	The blind sorcerer
Rubo	The high priest
I. Maris	Well known dancer
A Legong	Dancing girl

Balinese dancers, Balinese Gamelan Gong orchestra, Balinese natives.

BY ANNA NANGLE.

After a long run in New York, "Goona-Goona" has come to Chicago to give us a glimpse of life as lived by the natives of the island of Bali.

It relates the story of the romance of Wyan and Dasnee, a young Balinese couple, and, through the powers of a sorcerer's love potion—"goona-goona"—the tragic termination of of their happiness. There's a conniving woman in the case, too.

Wyan is a handsome coolie, and his fiancée an attractive, dark-eyed girl with a most engaging grin. All goes well for them until the young prince of the island returns from a tour of Europe and casts longing glances at the winsome Dasnee. The maiden's papa appreciates the honor, but his daughter doesn't, and quickly elopes—in the Balinese manner—with her coolie.

Enter the snake in the form of Rei, sister of Prince Nonga, bringing disaster through her desire to secure happiness, in the form of Dasnee, for her brother.

The scenery on the little island is exquisite, and the natives take well to acting.

MINUTE MYSTERY CAN YOU SOLVE IT? BY H. A. RIDLEY

Dr. Fordney is professor of criminology at a famous university. His advice is often sought by the police of many cities when confronted with particularly baffling cases. This problem has been taken from his casebook covering hundreds of criminal investigations.

Try your wits on it! It takes but ONE MINUTE to read! Every fact and every clew necessary to its solution are in the story itself—and there is only one answer. How good a detective are you?

CLASS DAY.

"Almost every one loves a parade," said Prof. Fordney to his students, "and I am no exception.

"There is nothing quite so colorful as the pomp and ceremony attending the review of his Britannic majesty's troops on the royal birthday. Three years ago I was fortunate enough to witness this magnificent spectacle while visiting Shepard of Scotland Yard.

"We had a box next to the royal family. I thrilled as the troops approached. My old friend, Col. Lawton, at the head of the Cold Stream guards looked every inch the British soldier as he passed controlling with a strong right arm his nervous, prancing, coal black steed. As they came abreast, King George smiled his approval and at the same moment the queen, turning slightly, nodded to me in recognition. Shepard whispered, 'You should feel mighty flattered, old man. Two years ago, wasn't it, when you met her majesty?'

"I nodded agreement and assured him that had I not been in his company she probably would never have remembered me. At the time I had the honor of being presented Shepard had just completed a most delicate undertaking for her majesty. As we were leaving the box, after the review, an attendant hastened to my side and said, 'Prof. Fordney, her majesty would like . . .'"

"No doubt, sir," interrupted Jim Barry, "you did make quite an impression on the queen and I might have believed your yarn if you hadn't . . ."

DO YOU KNOW?

Perhaps you have one you would like him to submit to his class. If so, send it to Prof. Fordney in care of this paper and he will be delighted to see what his students make of it.

[See solution on page 29.]

Society Spends Armistice at Supper Dance

Red, White, and Blue Club Gives Benefit.

BY JUDITH CASS.

If the supper dance given last night by the women of the board of the Red, White and Blue club was as successful financially as it was from the standpoint of the guests' having a good time the club will be able to carry on for some time its splendid work of keeping children off the streets and teaching them useful things in its clubhouse at 1338 Wade street.

The clubhouse is an old brewery and there hundreds of children each day are taught to cook, sew, take care of babies and younger children, and take part in athletics. Fathers and mothers have night meetings occasionally and the club fills a great want in that neighborhood.

The club was started during the world war by Mrs. Joseph G. Coleman, honorary chairman of the board and of the committee in charge of last night's gay party. The feature of the party was a fashion show in which costumes designed by Chicago architects and showing the influence of the Century of Progress architecture on dress design were displayed by professional models. Perhaps we all will be wearing such unusual looking gowns and hats and accessories next summer, but perhaps not, too!

The onlookers found the show interesting and it occasioned plenty of discussion as to whether fashion's edict would favor such angular and stiff lines next summer, when this winter we are returning to femininity with its ruffles and puffs and even busties.

A large part of society celebrated Armistice night by attending the party which was given in the ballroom of the Hotel Sherman. Some of those there were Mrs. Coleman, Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Fifield, she was general chairman of the committee and is president of the board; the Warren Ripples, the Charles H. Chadwicks, Lady Faith Montagu, Lord Hastings, the Philip Mayers, the Walter Paepckes, Donna Fernande Villarosa, Mrs. Jacob Baur, Mrs. Townsend McKeever, Miss Betty Offield, Miss Ann Elizabeth Walsh, the "Ned" Hageys, the Thorne Donnelleys, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel D. Rowe, Mr. and Mrs. Loring Coleman, the Hathaway Watsons, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCormick Adams, Mrs. John L. Cochran, the Howard Linns, the Perry Kenlys, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Logan, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. Graham, Dr. and Mrs. Charles K. Corsant, and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Kelley.

Selling cigarets were some of the debutantes—they sell so many during their first year out they must feel sometimes as if they were employes of a tobacco company—including the Misses Eleanor Litsinger, Barbara Eldridge, Louise Dewey, Kathryn Evans, Martha Lee and Elinore White.

The ballroom was decorated with many flags and the debutantes appeared in red, white or blue costumes.

By ALICE CAMPBELL.

SYNOPSIS.

Neil Starkey, American biographer, is engaged by Caroline Bundy to compile the life and letters of her late father, a famous English biologist. Caroline tells Neil that her father, a man of science, was also a mystic. Miss Bundy is in poor health and acting peculiarly. She has hired a photographer, named Tilbury, as bailiff, and he and his wife, an ill bred pair, hold a strange influence over her. The three hold nightly seances in the library. Natasha Andreyev, Caroline's half Russian niece, acts as her aunt's secretary. She detests the Tilburys. Giles Gisborne, vicar of a nearby parish, and his sister, Rachel, are friends of Neil's. Neil is attracted to Natasha, but is baffled by her odd behavior. She is giving money to a man she meets secretly. Caroline promises to visit Emily Braselton, an old friend, in Paris. Natasha drives her to London. Natasha returns a few days later and tells Neil that her aunt gave her a pearl necklace, which she sold. She receives a wire which Caroline sent from London asking her to search for an alligator bag left in the car. The bag is not found. Caroline doesn't reach Paris. The police are notified. Her body is found in a ditch near her estate. She'd been brutally murdered. The Tilburys are left Caroline's fortune, on condition they search for the Holy Grail in the ruin of an ancient abbey on the estate, which Caroline believed to be her father's wish. Natasha is arrested. It is learned that the man she'd been meeting secretly was her wastrel brother, Michael, who is wanted for theft and has left the country. News is received of his death. Natasha is brought to trial. There is no proof of guilt. She is freed, though still under suspicion. Neil continues the murder search. A notice appears in newspapers asking the return of an alligator bag, reward offered, no questions asked. Neil suspects Albert Stokes, attendant at the garage where Miss Bundy's car was kept, of stealing the bag. Neil knew the bag contained papers which Tilbury might be anxious to recover. Natasha disappears. Neil forms a searching party.

INSTALLMENT LIV.

THE SECRET OF THE CRYPT.

The rat-tat echoed within. Was there no one here? Two of the group, those in uniforms and helmets, waited imperturbedly. A third, wearing a clerical collar, looked sternly anxious, while the fourth was hatless, disheveled, his black hair clinging in moist wisps to his brow.

The door opened to frame the owner's harmless looking figure.

"Mr. Gisborne. This is a surprise. And you, sir?"—with a glance at Neil. His eyes strayed glassily towards the two constables. "Why, what's up?"

The vicar addressed him pleasantly.

"Sorry to trouble you, Tilbury, but the fact is Miss Andreyev can't be located. As she was last seen in or about your grounds, we want to have a look round. You've no objection, I hope?"

"Miss Andreyev, sir?" The blue eyes scanned their faces in bewilderment. "Seen abaht here? It's the first I've 'eard of it, and I didn't know she was missing—but then I've not stirred outside the place all day. Don't you suppose she's took a sudden notion to go away?"

"No, we can't—" Neil was beginning when Gisborne checked him.

"She may have met with some accident, or——" The vicar hesitated. "As a matter of fact, we rather fear suicide. So you've seen nothing of her?"

"Not a hair, sir—but you're more than welcome to search. Come inside, do. I dare say you'd like to start with ouse itself?"

Tilbury stood aside. As he held back t' door Neil noticed that his fingers were stained black, with something which appeared to be paint.

Had this sign, freshly painted, been here two nights ago?

The party trooped silently to the attic, and under the owner's guidance poked into every room and cupboard. Throughout the tour Neil kept his eyes on Tilbury, who, to his thinking, seemed to overstress his anxiety to help. Standing behind him Neil felt an overpowering desire to seize him by the throat and throttle him into confession, but realizing the futility of such tactics, held down the impulse.

"Well, that's that," pronounced the senior constable, as they wound up their fruitless exploration in the back lobby. "But it's the grounds we're chiefly interested in. Mind if we poke about a bit?"

"Go wherever you like, sir. There's a wild bit towards the far corner I've not been near for days. Sort of ravine, with bamboos 'anging over. If you'll step this way, I'll just show you."

As they set forth on to the terrace a deafening clamor broke from the kennels. It came from the two Alsatians, who were not only barking with might and main, but hurling themselves against the doors. The racket grew positively hysterical as the five men filed along a gravel path, Tilbury leading the way.

It was Connie Tilbury. But she had gone to Cornwall! What had brought her back, after only a day's absence?

Tilbury strode rapidly towards her. Impossible to say if any wordless communication passed between the two, but the woman's startled eyes glued themselves to her husband's face. In them was a still-born question.

Tilbury spoke quickly, and to Neil's ears there was relief as well as command in his tone.

"Got back, have you, old girl? That's all right, then. Don't let this 'ere upset you. Fact is, Miss Andreyev's gorn off, and these gentlemen are 'unting 'igh and low for her. Think she was seen somewhere in this direction. You go along in and get off your things. We'll tell you if we come across anything."

As though afraid to venture any comment, she gazed at her husband like a mesmerized rabbit, then slowly, her color faded to a sickly tint, retreated indoors.

Letting the others proceed, Neil whispered to the younger constable: "Keep that fellow under your eye, and on no account let him get in touch with his wife. I'm going off on my own."

With this he turned back and sprinted towards the lodge. Behind him the dogs kept up their irritating hullabaloo. It crossed his mind they must have been shut up for many hours.

The lodge was locked. He managed to scramble in through the kitchen window, and upstairs and down made a rapid survey. Nothing seemed amiss, but on the living room table he noticed a confirmation of Bert's story—in a collection of sticky rings, large and small, where two bottles and some glasses had been set down. So far, good—but there was no sign to suggest anything connected with Natasha.

In the open once more he ran hot foot along the right hand wall to the top of the hill, and here cast his eye over the much trampled ground in search of revealing footprints. If those he sought were here, they were trodden in by others of more recent date—a hopeless muddle.

His attention was caught by a sign, freshly painted, and still only partly dried—a big board, on which was daubed: "Private Property—Trespassers Keep Off." Had this been here two nights ago? He thought not. All at once he recalled the paint on Tilbury's fingers. That suggested the man himself had done this—probably today. Was he merely annoyed at the influx of holiday prowlers, or had he some other reason?

He peered in at the window of the tool hut. Among various implements was a ladder which he fancied he had formerly seen inside the garage. With a sudden cold fear in his heart he bent over the well-curb and dropped a lighted match down the black shaft. No, nothing here to substantiate his morbid dread. Then another idea came to him. He turned back toward the gaping entrance to the crypt and stooping, let himself down the sloping planks. There was just sufficient light to see the place was empty.

But what was this. On the rough door shutting off the slimy stairs, a new staple and padlock had been fixed, making access into the opening impossible. This precaution had been taken since Thursday night—but now much later? With a vivid recollection of the cramped descent ending in black vacancy he pressed his ear against the boards and listened. Silence, unbroken, equivocal.

The new padlock was one of several queer things which called for immediate investigation. For that matter, what accounted for Connie's sudden reappearance? If she went to Cornwall only yesterday with the intention of spending the Whitsun holidays, how was it she had returned in barely more than twenty-four hours? Not only had she rushed in with great excitement, but judging from her reception she had been expected. Either she had not been any real distance, or else—here was an idea!—she had been hastily summoned home.

Far off, among flowering shrubbery, he caught sight of a blue coat moving along. He started towards it, not noticing the small figure just making for the kennels; but midway the descent he heard the clank of chains, a scrambling rush, and the next instant two tawny forms, frenzied from confinement, swept past him like a tornado.

Instinctively he turned to watch them—Bistre and Tiger, mad, drunk, their fierce eyes scanning the ruin as they circled round, and then with one accord plunging into the crypt. He was after them like a shot.

There they were, muzzles pressed against the crack beneath the door, whimpering and sniffing the dank air from within with the force of suction pipes.

Good God! Could it mean——?" Icy horror gripped him at the thought of what might lie below in that tomblike void. The dogs knew—straight as a die they had come here. He seized the staple, wrenched at it with all his might. It held firm as a rock. Never mind, he would break down the door. One of those tools in the shed would do the trick.

Smashing the window glass with his fist, he tore out the flimsy frame and reached a broken pick. A moment more, and he was raining blows upon the stout boards which cracked, but would not yield.

Actors in Play of Chicago to Sit in Pews of Characters

Early Chicago will live again tomorrow morning at the Second Presbyterian church, Michigan avenue and 20th street, when members of the cast of the play "When Chicago Was Young" take their places in the pews occupied four or five decades ago by the distinguished pioneers whom they are impersonating in the production.

Dr. W. Clyde Howard, pastor, yesterday invited Miss Herma Clark and Miss Alice Gerstenberg, co-authors of the play, now being given at the Goodman theater, and the cast to attend the 11 o'clock service. During the '70s, '80s, and '90s the Second church boasted one of the most, if not the most, fashionable congregations in the city. Dr. Robert W. Patterson was the first pastor.

Dunlap Clarke, cast in the play as Long John Wentworth, will take the place tomorrow once occupied by Chicago's early mayor. Mrs. Thomas Fiske will be in the pew of Mrs. Mark Skinner.

Miss Florence Higinbotham of Joliet Engaged

go to the charities to which the league contributes.

Today's debutante—no Saturday during the winter is complete without its young bud—is Miss Barbara Eldridge, who is being presented to society by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Eldridge, at a reception at home, 1244 Stone street, from 4 to 7 o'clock. Assisting will be the Misses Louise Dewey, Laura Thorne, Jean Schweppe, Nancy Taylor, Ethel Dixon, Helen Marie Castle, Edna Doering, Eleanor Litsinger, Caryl Bloomingston, Mary Reed, Julia Kramer, Susan Badgerow, and Barbara Graf. Miss Marjorie Goodman was to have been among the assistants, but she left yesterday to attend the Yale-Princeton game at Princeton this afternoon.

Tonight Miss Eldridge and her assistants and their escorts are to attend the Doering dinner dance at the Blackstone hotel. On Nov. 26 Miss Eldridge's aunt, Mrs. Joseph E. Otis, will give a dance for her at the Casino, the invitation list to be limited to this year's and last year's buds and their beaux.

Dinner Dance for Miss Goodman.

The dinner dance that Mr. and Mrs. James M. Hopkins are to give on Wednesday, Dec. 28, for their debutante daughter, Miss Marjorie Goodman, is to be in the red lacquer room of the Palmer house. Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins and Miss Goodman are to be at home at 1530 State parkway on Friday, Dec. 2, and on Friday, Dec. 9, to their friends.

Miss Goodman's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William O. Goodman, had planned a tea for her earlier in the season, but Mrs. Goodman has become so engrossed in charity work this winter that she has given up social activities of all sorts and she has no plans for any entertaining just now.

Miss Edna Mary Doering, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund J. Doering Jr., wore a green velvet dress and carried a bouquet of orchids when she was presented to society yesterday afternoon by her parents and her grandmother, Mrs. Edward T. Jeffery, at a tea and reception at the residence at 1344 Astor street.

Mrs. Jeffery wore gray silk and held an old-fashioned bouquet, and the debutante's mother was in black velvet with a gardenia corsage.

The Misses Ethel Dixon, Lydia Swift, Louise Badgerow, Honore White, Mary Reed, Jean Schweppe, Eleanor Litsinger, Barbara Eldridge, and several other buds assisted Miss Doering. All of the debutantes and their beaux have been invited to attend the dinner dance Mr. and Mrs. Doering are to give for their daughter tonight at the Blackstone hotel.

Miss Skinkle Bride Today.

In order not to put her attendants to the trouble of buying special outfits for her wedding, Miss Virginia Skinkle is not having her bridesmaids precede her down the aisle of St. Chrysostom's chapel this afternoon when she becomes the bride of Sydney Heyworth Heap, and only the maid of honor, Mrs. Otis Chatfield-Taylor, will be in the processional with the bride and her uncle, Robert John Randolph, who is here from Washington to give his niece in marriage.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. James W. Morrisson of Groton, Conn.; Miss Esther Kirkland, Miss Betty Dixon Miss Virgene Richey, Miss Louise Juergens, all of Chicago, and Mrs Lewis Barnes of Minneapolis will be the only ones outside the families and best man and ushers who will attend the ceremony, which will be performed by the Rev. Dudley Stark at 4:30 o'clock.

Parker Bryant will serve as Mr. Heap's best man, and ushering will be Frederick A. Poole Jr., Thomas Keyster, Cornelius Crane, and Charles F. Bowey. After the ceremony there will be a reception at the Lake Shore Drive hotel. Miss Skinkle is the daughter of Mrs. George E. Skinkle, and Mr. Heap is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney R. Heap of Leamington hall, Montgomeryshire, England, whom the bride and groom will visit on their wedding trip. They leave for New York Monday to sail next Friday on the Britannic, and will return to New York late in January

Mrs. Lillian Wheeler Tyner and Leonard Morton Prince will be married at 5 o'clock this afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Tyner's brother, Gordon B. Wheeler, in Hinsdale. The ceremony will be solemnized by the Rev. Wilfred A. Rowell of Hinsdale and will be attended by members of the families only. The bride will have no attendant, and Thomas Belknap will be best man for the bridegroom.

Mr. Prince, who is the son of Mrs George Halleck Taylor, and his bride will live at 63 East Division street.

When I heard that the junior Sidney S. Gorhams were giving a huge party tomorrow afternoon I thought of course it was for her debutante sister, Miss Jean McVoy, but it isn't; it's for the eldest McVoy girl, Celeste, now Mrs. Holden, who has been living abroad and in the east for some time.

And the party is to announce that Mrs. Holden will be married to Walter J. Kohler Jr., son of former Gov. and Mrs. Kohler at 4 p. m. Monday at the residence of the bride's mother. After a wedding trip to Mexico the couple will be at Kohler, Wis., by Christmas.

The party is to be from 4 to 7 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. Gorham's mother, Mrs. Fortunato Jerace, at 720 Lake Shore drive, and about two hundred have been invited to drink cocktails with the Gorhams and Mrs. Holden. A supper for about fifty will follow the afternoon party.

Mrs. Jerace is busy with plans for the debut of her youngest daughter, Jean McVoy, at a dance on Dec. 27 at the Blackstone hotel and for the arrival of her husband from Rome later this month. Mr. Jerace has been appointed by the Italian government to be the architect of the Italian building at the Century of Progress, which means that the Jeraces will occupy her residence here until after the exposition has opened.

The luncheon that Mrs. Tracy Buckingham had planned to give for Miss Eleanor Litsinger today at the Tavern has been postponed because Mrs Buckingham has been ill this week.

Mrs. Waller Borden will introduce Vicki Baum to the audience at the fourth of the Town Hall lectures this morning at the the Drake hotel.

The German consul general, Dr. Hugo Simon, and Mrs. Simon will receive with Miss Baum at an informal reception at the close of the lecture, which is entitled "Looking at Life." Miss Eleanor McCormick, Mrs. Conway H. Olmsted, and Mrs. Walter F. McLallen will usher, and as usual Emerson house will benefit from a share of the proceeds.

Chauffeurs' Ball Next Wednesday.

The annual ball of the Chicago Private Chauffeurs' Benevolent association, an affair in which society takes much interest every year, is to be held next Wednesday evening at the Aragon ballroom. This means that people who have private chauffeurs will either stay at home, drive their own cars, or take taxicabs if they go out on that evening, for no employer ever thinks of preventing his chauffeur's attendance at the ball.

William J. Bingham, secretary of the association and chauffeur for Mr. and Mrs. John J. Mitchell, is in charge of publicity for the ball. These affairs have been given annually for 22 years and the proceeds are used to help unemployed or needy chauffeurs and their families.

Mrs. Frank G. Logan, that great patroness of the arts, whose especial interest just now is to help Chicago artists sell their wares, has sent out 3,500 invitations to a tea next Tuesday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock to open the gallery she has leased on the second floor of the United Exhibitors' building at 9 West Washington street as a place for the artists to display their pictures. Some of the well known artists of the city are among the exhibitors.

The Alliance Française will meet at noon today in its quarters in the Fine Arts building to hear a lecture by Prof. Marius Jean on "Camille Pissaro, Painter."

Excerpts from "Ouanga," by Clarence Cameron White, will be presented at the first of the American Opera society's operatic concerts tomorrow at 3:30 o'clock at the Three Arts club. Mr. White is a Negro composer who has studied extensively in Europe and is now director of music at the Hampton institute.

The late Julius Rosenwald was a generous contributor to the institute, and some of the members of the Rosenwald Foundation are to be present at the concert tomorrow.

Mrs. Clarke to Go Home Sunday.

Mrs. Charles F. Clarke [Virginia Dennehy] and her infant daughter will leave Alice Home hospital tomorrow and return to the Clarkes' Lake Forest residence. The new baby, who was born on Nov. 3 and who as yet is unnamed, has an older brother and sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Peabody Butler have closed their Winnetka estate and have taken the John T. McCutcheons' Lake Forest house for the winter. Mr. and Mrs. McCutcheon are to be at Phoenix, Ariz., during the cold weather months.

Mr. and Mrs. William Roy Carney have closed their Lake Forest estate and are in their new apartment at 1260 Astor street for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Wrights' lovely new house on the ocean front at Miami Beach, Fla., will be completed about the 15th of December and Mrs. Wright intends to go south in early January to supervise the finishing touches.

GASOLINE ALLEY—THE ENEMY WITHDRAWS

I THINK THE SHACK SHOULD BE TORN DOWN, MR. WALLET. NOT JUST BECAUSE GOOTCH WAS SHOT THERE EITHER.
I FEEL, MR. REDMOND, THAT IT ABSORBS SOME OF THE KIDS' ENERGIES. THAT MIGHT OTHERWISE BE TURNED INTO MISCHIEF.
IT SEEMS TO BE FASTENED UP. I DON'T THINK THEY HAVE BEEN USING IT MUCH LATELY.
IT APPEARS TO ME TO BE A FINE PLACE TO HATCH DEVILTRY.
GEE THAT WAS A CLOSE ONE!
I'LL SAY.
YES, SKEEZIX, YOUR UNCLE WALT IS ON OUR SIDE. IT'S BUSINESS AS USUAL.

Don't forget that Saturday each week brings around the question clinic. Your questions, if they will be of interest to other women, are held over and answered for you in these Saturday columns. Otherwise a self-addressed, stamped envelope brings the answer back to you.

First, a question from Miss M. A. W.: "When a recipe calls for two tablespoons melted butter, does it mean to measure two tablespoons butter in a solid state and melt it or to measure two tablespoons of liquid? Also, what is Bulgarian buttermilk?"

"Melted butter" means butter measured in the melted state, while "butter, melted," means the reverse. However, unless in the melting the butter is heated sufficiently to boil out considerable of the water content there will be practically no difference in amount between the two, providing the butter is packed tightly.

Bulgarian buttermilk is whole sweet milk which has been heated to the boiling point, treated with a Bulgarian culture, and then heated long and slowly. It is very thick and quite sour with curds that are much finer than those in ordinary buttermilk.

Next from Mrs. E. B., who is planning a party. Says Mrs. B.: "I am putting on a 'wild and woolly bridge,' with each player bearing the name of a cowboy or dance hall girl, and each table named after a ranch. Should the guests come in 'hard time' attire? What refreshments would be clever?"

Yes, certainly invite wild west or hard time clothes on your announcements. As for luncheon refreshments, how would the following strike you? A menu could be printed on a saddle shaped card and a real hemp wound around the pummel:

Golden Nugget Drink-Her-Down
Bones in a Blizzard
Five Gallon Salad
Salt Licks
Cowboy's Mirage
Coffee

The drink-her-down can be a clear yellow fruit juice cocktail with a few tiny floating white grapes atop. For the bones, prepare a savory minced salmon croquette mixture, form in the shape of three inch "bones" enlarged at both ends, dip in crumbs and egg, and fry to a golden brown. Serve two to a plate with a well seasoned white sauce [the blizzard] poured over. For the salad, which may go on the same plate with bones, take a slice of pineapple and in the center, for the crown of the "five gallon hat," erect a mound of pimiento cream cheese formed with appropriate dents. Add a rim of cream cheese formed through a pastry tube for the edge of the hat brim. Place on a lettuce leaf and pass mayonnaise. "Salt licks," of course, will be salty soda crackers. The mirage may be a vanilla and whipped cream parfait with a layer of lime ice in the center, showing half way down the glass. "Baked lassos" could be plain sugar cookies cut in strips before baking and each strip coiled in the form of a lasso. Coffee may be served, too. . . I can't seem to think what it would be called.

Next, Miss M. B. asks: "What is the difference between English muffins and crumpets?"

It is this. Both English muffins and crumpets are similar in shape and appearance. The crumpets, however, are made of a slightly richer batter.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—The retiring dean of the diplomatic corps in Washington, Giacomo de Martino, left Washington this morning by motor for New York to sail tomorrow for Italy, where Signora de Martino has been since the early summer. The ambassador is retiring from the diplomatic service of his country. He has been dean of the corps here for several years, having succeeded Señor Tellez, Mexican ambassador. Paul Claudel, French ambassador, succeeds Sig. de Martino.

Two Armistice night balls were given here tonight, the regular Armistice night ball of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, which has been given for eleven years for the benefit of their national home for their widows and children in Michigan, and another ball arranged by the George Washington bicentennial commission called the American Legion ball.

Big Brothers Plan Annual Dinner to Launch Campaign

Plans were completed yesterday for the annual dinner of the Big Brothers association to be held in the Hotel La Salle next Thursday at 6:30 p. m., at a meeting of the arrangements committee in the hotel. Beginning with the dinner meeting, the Big Brothers association will launch a campaign for 1,000 members among business leaders of the city to aid 1,000 underprivileged boys of the city.

Judge Mary Bartelme of the Cook county juvenile court, Judge John P. McGoorty of the Superior court, and Municipal Judge Francis B. Allegretti will speak at the dinner.

Members of the arrangements committee attending the meeting in the hotel were N. A. Nelson Jr., chairman; Potter d'Orsay Palmer, Ernest Street Stevens, Paul Teetor, Milton E. Falker, John M. Trainer Jr., and other young business men.

Club Delegates Hear Tax Discussion at Civic Affairs Forum

The necessity of reducing the cost of government and the tax situation in Cook county were subjects of discussion yesterday at the all day annual civic affairs forum of the Chicago and Cook County Federation of Women's Organizations. Two hundred delegates from clubs over the county attended the meeting, held in the federation's headquarters in the Republic building.

Controller M. S. Szymczak spoke in place of Mayor Cermak, discussing the tax situation and saying that further reduction in the cost of city government would be necessary in 1933. J. I. Connolly spoke on "The New Trend in Civic Housing."

Child's Need for Attention Takes Roundabout Ways

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Here's an interesting letter:

"It seems as though 3 year olds are quite as much a problem to other mothers as mine is to me. He's a darling baby, so sweet, so mischievous and aggressive, rather sensitive to attitudes, and quick mentally.

"We have a baby brother 1 year old and our situations become quite tense at times when the older boy's desire for attention becomes apparent. Most of the time I can handle that because I can understand his feeling, but—if he hits or hurts the baby I insist he kiss his arm or the injured part and say he's sorry. My friends tell me he's going to continue that if he can 'get by' so easily. I don't want to spank or punish him. Am I wrong?

"And the most serious thing is this: I simply cannot put that child to bed and expect him to stay there. I no sooner leave his room than he's out of bed. I put him in bed again and he repeats the performance. I have come to the conclusion that I've missed some vital idea to get the desired result. I'm really at my wits' end to know what to do. I've tried everything I can think of—a quieting, cooling bath; a story; talking quietly; spanking."

This bedtime difficulty I feel almost certain has its roots in the craving for attention—but not the "obvious craving."

By some sort of accident perhaps, he discovered that not staying in bed kept mother right on his trail—made him the star performer for the time being. Absolutely unconsciously, remember, he repeats the device and it works!

Now there's the cause. As to the cure—here's a generality: This little lad needs to be reinstated in his world—to feel reinstated by having more interest shown to him as a person, by times quite cozily alone with his mother or father, or perhaps an occasional little jaunt minus the eternal go-cart!

As to direct treatment—his antics must be ignored, but praise in large "gobs" be administered for his going to bed so beautifully, being such a help etc. "Because he's our oldest son now," why not tell him he can stay up later and make it 7:30? He may not go to sleep at once but that is not to be fussed over. Children vary from five to forty minutes in this respect.

Elizabeth Moritz Reveals Herself as Pianist of Interest

A piano recital by Elizabeth Moritz at Kimball hall last night revealed her as an artist of more than usual ability and interest. She is finished, pliable, skilled, a somewhat feminine player in that she makes no effort to tear down the mechanism of the piano with the fury of her perform once but at the same time keeping all dynamic effects in scale.

Somewhat curiously, considering her technical qualifications and what she has done with them, she apparently cares little for compositions in miniature. At least, last night she went in for some of the mountain ranges of music, the Beethoven Sonata, opus 110; the Handel-Brahms Variations and Fugue, the Schumann "Carnaval," the Chopin Allegro de Concert, and nothing else. With these she showed that she is a pianist to be seriously reckoned with, one distinctly with something to say.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Needs Suit for Job.

"After a long period of unemployment I found a job today as clerk in a hotel, but unless I can get some clothing suitable to wear I will not be able to take it. We have been getting groceries from a relief organization. I will need a suit, size 38 or 39. O. E."

It will be just too tragic if this man must pass up such an opportunity because he lacks presentable clothing. Surely there is some one in the city who can come to his rescue with the much needed suit.

Report Finds Jobless Men Abandon Home

Feel Wives Can Secure Charity More Easily.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Why do men abandon home and family after the loss of their jobs?

According to one of the officers of an unemployment relief bureau there was found to be a definite connection between the loss of job and the disappearance of the male head of a family.

This and the striking increase in youthful first offenders are the two most appalling features uncovered by the investigators for the relief bureau.

Arraignments for abandonment in New York alone in 1931 were more than double that of previous years. Men between 25 and 35 accounted for 46 per cent of abandonment charges.

It was found that where only a man and his wife comprised the family unit they fared better than where there were children to support. Employed wives, in many instances, were making enough money to support husbands who, through no fault of their own, were out of work.

"Children," the report reads, "complicate the problem, the wage of the average woman worker being too small to support both husband and children, with the result that the husband leaves home."

An increase in abandonment cases threatens unless families can be helped during the coming winter. The conversations at the dinner table are offered as another cause of men leaving home. In a home stricken by unemployment, there is apt to be constant talk of lack of food, the menace of the landlord, the cost of fuel and the need of clothes. The male member of the family is likely to say to himself: "If I leave home now, there will be one less to provide for and it will be easier for the women to get help from charity."

Historical Society to Open New Park Structure Today

The Chicago Historical society will hold the formal opening of its new building at the south end of Lincoln park at noon today.

Charles B. Pike, president of the society, will lead a party of distinguished guests on an inspection tour of the building. President Pike and his guests will assemble at the Racquet club and drive to the new building. On the east plaza of the museum the Black Horse troop, under Capt. Paul Butler, will be drawn up to receive them.

President Pike will deliver a short address and then take his guests on a tour of inspection. They will start with the Spanish exploration room, containing the Columbus anchor and other relics pertaining to the discovery of America. Visits will also be paid to the reproduction of the Paul Revere house in Boston, the senate chamber, modeled after Congress hall in Philadelphia, and reproductions of the Lincoln house and the room in which Abraham Lincoln died.

At 1 o'clock the doors will be thrown open to the general public and the society will resume its educational work, suspended during the last year while its exhibits were being packed and moved from the old building at 632 North Dearborn street.

Smooth, Satiny Skin Coveted by All Women

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Why is superfluous hair? Why do some faces have it, others not? What can be done about it? What treatment is best?

Daily the queries are put to me, indicating the numbers of women who resent a facial fuzz. I don't know why this trouble arises. Neither do my betters in scientific learning, apparently. I've studied them conscientiously without enlightenment. It's just there on some faces. Faces that are young! Again, it does not appear until middle life on other faces. Youngsters' legs may be covered with a thick fuzz, their faces, arms, and body be without it.

We know more about its treatment here. And one thing we know for sure is that it is dangerous to tinker with X-ray treatment for this specific facial growth. Hair may be removed with X-ray, understand—but don't let it be done that way. Too many cases are reported of skin difficulties later to warrant its recommendation.

The electric needle comes as close to permanent riddance of superfluous hair as anything known. If the growth is heavy it is bound to be a slow, tedious, and sometimes expensive treatment. And the great difficulty here is to have assurance of the reliability of an operator. One who is backed by a reputable physician is your best bet.

There are a number of excellent depilatories, pastes, powders, liquids and wax. The paste, powders, and liquids are easy to apply. Of recent days there has been a great improvement in these productions, the odor minimized and their effect more lasting. And there is wax, a depilatory which claims to remove hair by the roots when applied properly. Wax is a little harder to apply, but done carefully following directions given with the purchase, it leaves a clean, clear surface.

NOTRE DAME BATTLES NORTHWESTERN TODAY

GOLDIE ESCAPES KNOCKDOWNS IN SECOND, THIRD

Battaglia and Shade Win Matches.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Barney Ross, headed for a fight with Tony Canzoneri for the lightweight title, last night swept aside Goldie Hess at the Stadium with a hurricane of punches which gave him all ten rounds. Hess finished the 30 minutes apparently only because of his determination to maintain his record of never having been knocked down.

Record or no record, Hess never was nearer being knocked down. In the second round and again in the third, the high tide of Ross' effectiveness, Hess weaved on rubbery legs which threatened to buckle and pitch him to the floor. In the third round he clung to the top rope with his right hand, swaying at a sharp angle. He would have fallen except for his support.

Nearly Stops Bout.

Referee Dave Barry stepped between Hess and Ross. Many though he intended to stop the bout, but after several seconds, during which Goldie stood helpless and oblivious of his position, Barry motioned Ross to continue.

Stadium officials announced the attendance as 9,187. Gross receipts were $15,196.

Ross was not hit effectively more than four or five times. Hess flailed wildly with an overhead right which Barney evaded by stepping backward or by turning the direction of the blow with a sharp left to his opponent's face. In close, Hess had better success.

At times Hess appeared bewildered. When he didn't cover up completely, peering cautiously over protecting forearms, he waved his gloves futilely, striving to ward off a flurry of punches as one might fight a swarm of bees.

Hess Survives Battering.

The bout might have ended in the first minute of the second round. Ross shot a vicious right to the side of Hess' head. Goldie jigged as one suddenly seized by St. Vitus dance, and a second blow, a left, drove him back into the ropes. But remarkable recuperative power enabled Hess to weather the attack.

Then came the third round, with Hess all but out on his feet. From this point to the end the thumping of Ross' gloves continued monotonously.

The seventh round established a new low for Hess. From bell to bell, he scarcely returned a blow as he was driven around the ring. Ross, a former Golden Gloves champion, nearly became arm weary hitting him. In the ninth round Ross once more staggered Hess and from then on the Californian fought against time, staggering in relief to his corner at the end of the final round. Minutes later he stumbled down the steps, beaten but still grinning because of his ability to stay the limit.

The best fight of the card was the technical knockout which Frank Battaglia, Winnipeg, Can., middleweight, wrote into the record of Young Terry from Trenton, N. J. Battaglia, a sharper hitter and far more accurate, dropped Terry to the floor four times before Referee Johnny Behr stopped the fight in the seventh round.

Weakened by Body Punches.

On the face of these returns it would seem that Terry was completely outclassed. But it was Terry, last to leave the ring, who received the cheers of the crowd. Knocked down twice in the first round, Terry rallied to take the second round on points and a charitable scorer also might have given him a draw in the third and fifth. But Terry, against one of the hardest punchers of the 160 pound division, absorbed body punishment which eventually sapped his strength.

Shade Reverses Decision.

Dave Shade, veteran middleweight, who last winter lost a ten round decision to Sammy Kid Slaughter, Terre Haute, Ind., Negro, last night reversed that decision. Shade, as usual in his victories, slapped and cuffed to get a point advantage.

Joey Medill won a four round decision from Harry Roberts. In the last round Roberts went down for one second. Both are Chicagoans. Hymie Schmidt, Grand Rapids, Mich., lightweight, had the better of the opening four rounder against Jack O'Connell of Chicago.

TEXAS CHRISTIAN DEFEATS TEXAS, 14 TO 0, FOR LEAD

Fort Worth, Tex., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Texas Christian university defeated the University of Texas today, 14 to 0, to take the lead in the southwest football conference race.

Richard Oliver, Texas Christian half back and conference leading scorer, made both touchdowns. Otho Tiner, reserve back, went in to kick both placements.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 11.—When A. A. Stagg, the shepherd of the Midway, steps out on to the stadium field tomorrow he will be presented with a silver service, a token of esteem from members of the Michigan "M" club.

And some of the old timers who will be in on the ceremony probably are the same, who, as boys more than 25 years ago, helped to paint the sidewalks of Ann Arbor with such snappy sentiments as "To hell with Stagg," and "To hell with the conference." That was when Michigan, what with conference troubles which culminated in its withdrawal therefrom, regarded the now aged Chicago coach as a collegiate monster.

That's all changed now, and Michigan, knowing that Stagg will not come this way again, is making this gesture to prove that the sidewalk painters of long ago were merely exhibiting their talents with the brush.

Want to Exceed Purdue Score.

With the above ceremony disposed of, Michigan's unbeaten eleven will trot forth against the gallant Maroon gridiron squad. There won't be any sentiment attached to this procedure, for the Wolverines have an unblemished slate they wish to maintain. And, if possible, they will maintain it with a score exceeding the total rolled up by Purdue against the Maroons last week.

That's one way for the men of Michigan to make at least part of the world believe they are superior to the Boilermakers, whom they do not play this year. If the score is not large it will be because Stagg has evolved one of his old time sterling defenses.

Michigan professes to be a bit worried about what Stagg's valiant little band may spring. This idea apparently has been developed to get the Wolverines out of the nonchalant mood they were in a week ago while beating Indiana by one touchdown. However, no effort has been made to key the squad for one of those most important games. That is being reserved for use next week, when the Wolverines take their last hurdle in the Big Ten race. It is likely to be quite a hurdle in the shape of a Minnesota team.

400 Points in 28 Games.

Besides its record for this season Michigan has another that it does not care to have spoiled to any extent. Back in 1929, after a poor start, the Wolverines found themselves against Harvard and spanked the Crimson by 14 to 12. From that day to this Michigan has marched forward almost without a hitch. In 28 games, including the affair with Harvard, the Michigan standard has been on the winning end 24 times. Three games were ties and one was a defeat. That solitary trimming was the work of Ohio State in 1931. In these 28 battles Michigan scored 400 points to 63 by the enemy.

Chicago has not felt the joy of a victory over Michigan since 1919 when the Maroons triumphed, 13 to 0. In 1918 the Wolverines erased the Maroons by the same score. The last game between the two schools prior to that was the memorable 1905 battle

My Greatest THRILL in FOOTBALL

[As told to Charles Bartlett.]

My greatest thrill in playing football came out of the closing minutes of the Chicago-Iowa game of 1919 at Stagg field, which we won, 9 to 6. We had started the season with a fine looking squad, boasting two great tackles in Capt. Higgins and Red Jackson, three fine ends, and a good back field. If it could be said there was any weakness, it was in the center of the line, because of the inexperience of the guards.

CHUCK McGUIRE.

Accordingly, at the start of the season, Coach Stagg arranged to strengthen that weak point by playing Higgins and Jackson at tackles on the offense, and shifting the lineup on defense so that Jackson and myself played tackles, Higgins went to center, and our center moved to guard.

Shifted to Oppose Big Duke Slater.

I had been on the injured list with a twisted knee and right ankle for five weeks and more, but prior to the Iowa game had been running signals with the team. Just before the game started, the Old Man told me he was putting me in at guard and I should shift over to left guard to play opposite Slater.

Early in the first quarter Iowa took a 6 to 0 lead when one of our backs fumbled and the Hawkeyes scored after a series of beautiful passes. In the second quarter we tied the score and from then on the game seemed to be going pretty much our way. Finally, in the fourth quarter, after having twice penetrated deep into Iowa territory, Red Graham dropkicked a goal to put the score at 9 to 6 in our favor.

It looked as if we had the game won, but late in the quarter one of our men fumbled and Iowa recovered.

In three plays Iowa smashed and passed its way for a first down on our 30 yard line. We stopped them on the next two plays and seemed to have the situation pretty well in hand. Just then Tony Hinkle came running onto the field to replace Halliday, and in the enthusiasm of the moment clapped his hands and let out a shout, "Come on, boys, let's go!" The referee picked up the ball and paced off 15 yards toward our goal for violation of the rule against talking by a player entering the game.

Smash to Maroon One Yard Line.

Before we recovered ourselves, Lowman, the Iowa full back, cracked through for five yards, and Aubrey Devine got nine more on the next play, making it first down, one yard to go for a touchdown. That's where I got my thrill. On the first play Devine shot into the middle of our line. All the other Maroon forwards and myself grabbed everything and finally unscrambled ourselves to find that Devine had made no gain. As we lined up for the next play I was opposite Slater and heard Duke say, "Aubrey, play 45."

Devine again came back at us through Slater and once more we unscrambled ourselves to find that Aubrey had not gained, and still Slater was pleading, "Aubrey, play 45." We lined up again and Lowman crashed into our line with no gain. From the bottom of the pile I could hear Duke, almost in tears, beseeching Aubrey to "play 45."

Starting to line up for the fourth down the gun sounded and the game was over. The ball was about ten inches from our goal line. Apparently Aubrey did not take Duke's advice, and to this day I have wondered what the Iowa 45 play was and whether it would have worked.

Charles E. (Chuck) McGuire, one of the greatest linemen in the history of University of Chicago football, was born at Lake Geneva, Wis., but his family moved to Chicago when he was 11, and for two years he starred as a tackle at Hyde Park High school. He played with Chicago in 1919-'20-'21, captaining the team in 1921 and winning a place on Walter Camp's All-American team. He is now practicing law in Chicago.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Madison, Wis., Nov. 11.—Forty-two times in 42 years have Wisconsin and Minnesota engaged each other in football. Tomorrow the Badger and the Gopher will square away for clash No. 43. There's no other conflict which stirs a Wisconsin or a Minnesota partisan quite like a battle between these two principals in the central states' most ancient football feud.

Nonpartisan dopesters, or most of them, at least, have expressed the opinion that tomorrow's doings will be just a breeze for Minnesota. But do you think the Madison experts and fans are conceding any edge to the Gophers? They are not. It's Wisconsin to win, in face of dope, precedent, and all the other things that determine football scores before games are played.

Gophers Hold Edge.

In the 42 games played between Wisconsin and Minnesota, the Gophers have won 22, lost 15, and tied five. Since 1922, however, the Badgers have been able to win only one game—a 14 to 0 triumph in 1930.

Then there is the matter of hunches. In the past when either Doc Clarence Spears, new Wisconsin coach, or Bernie Bierman, new Minnesota coach, has been around when a Wisconsin-Minnesota contest was being played, Wisconsin never has won. This includes the games in 1914 and '15 when Bierman was a Gopher back, and the five years ending with 1929, while Spears was coach at Minnesota. The best the Badgers got out of all this was a 12 to 12 tie in 1925.

Spears, instead of being looked upon as a jinx in Minnesota-Wisconsin matters, is looked upon as the old man Moses in tomorrow's drama. It is claimed here that the Doc has been able to teach his lads more of his system this year than Bierman has been able to give to his new protégés in the same interval.

Now Just Take Scores.

Then there is the matter of comparative scores. Everybody knows that you can't go back of a comparative football score.

Well, it seems that on Oct. 8, Minnesota played a team from Purdue on the Gophers' home premises and lost, 7 to 0. The following Saturday Wisconsin went right down to the Boilermakers' own shop and there played to what is here considered a moral tie, though the books say Purdue won, 7 to 6.

Wisconsin followers also say that Wisconsin can be keyed for a big event more effectively than can Minnesota. They point to the Badgers' 7 to 7 tie with the great Ohio State team as proof of this contention.

Then, and this is important, in Madison, anyhow, the matter of personnel. There is the belief here that Mickey McGuire, the Hawaiian Irishman, is destined to play his greatest game tomorrow. The red hot sports of this town are gambling that his total yardage will exceed that of Pug Lund and they are gambling that his longest gain will be longer than Pug's. That's how detailed things have become up here.

Badgers Set for It.

Minnesota fans, on the other hand, think that Jack Manders, Minnesota's great senior full back, should have a picnic against a light Wisconsin line. If he does, he will have done more than any other full back has accomplished this year.

There also is the element that Wisconsin has been pointing solely to tomorrow's game. Minnesota has a more extensive concern, for a week hence it must fight another ancient enemy, Michigan. And this year the incentive is greater than in recent years, for Minnesota can determine the Big Ten championship in its meeting with the Wolverines.

Tomorrow's game will be played in temperatures below freezing, with snow flakes whipping hither and thither. But this won't worry the hardy Gophers from way up north. And the Badgers know something about that snow stuff, too. About 32,000 customers are expected to form the biggest crowd at Randall field in about four seasons.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 11. — Along Green street here tonight — no, it doesn't resemble Michigan avenue or Broadway—one group of undergraduates is humming "By Thy Rivers Gently Flowing, Illinois" and another group is getting plenty of harmony out of the tune, "On the Banks of the Wabash Far Away."

A new President has been elected and many history making events have taken place during the week. But the kids who will be the men of tomorrow—the Presidents and the senators—are not allowing the political science or the political history or whatever you might call it to make them serious tonight.

A New Football Quarrel.

Tomorrow afternoon, as the climax to the Dad's day jubilation, the football quarrel between the two old neighbors—University of Illinois and Indiana university—which began away back in 1899 and has been stirred up at spasmodic intervals, will blaze afresh and with more fury than ever at Illinois stadium.

It isn't a championship football struggle. Both have been beaten by teams which are fighting for the title. Yet old-timers of the Western conference can't recall a game in which two Big Ten teams have been more

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 11.—Rescued from the custody of the coaches who manhandled the morale of last year's team and left the athletes worse licked in spirit by their practice than they ever were beaten by any of their opponents, the current Princeton squad comes up to the Yale game, the big, final game of the season of 1932, optimistic enough to hope for nothing worse than a tie.

Under the teaching of Fritz Crisler, who learned his football and his teaching methods from A. A. Stagg, the players of this year's varsity have acquired some effective football routines and have arrived at the climax of the season without having once heard the word yellow from any of the men who are paid wages to show them how to play. The Crisler method has differed from the 1931 coaching system in two important points. It has cultivated mutual respect between the athletes and the coaches and it has also promoted an intelligent football plan.

New Method Thrives.

It seems to have required some salvage work as a preliminary to reconstruction because the spirit of the Princetons was pretty effectively wrecked last year. But by now the new team, including the survivors of 1931, conform to the old Princeton type and, with special confidence in their defensive work, the Princetons do not believe Yale can score on them. Whether they can score on Yale is another phase of the problem and the whole affair can do without any futile Friday night anticipation.

The players were down in the stadium practicing until long after dark today, and when it was not longer possible to see the ball they were called together in a sort of meeting at one end of the lot. Occasionally, as Crisler's voice rose to make some point, a word or two could be heard, but the word yellow was not one of them.

It seems incredible that young students, paying a lot of money for education and with spirit enough to turn out for the hard, brulsing work of varsity football, should put up with personal indignities from men who are lucky enough to draw good salaries for the job of teaching them and wish to turn the blame for their own incompetence to the victims thereof. It happens in football now and again, however, and there is no record of any

BY HARVEY WOODRUFF.

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 11.—Notre Dame students tonight held the greatest pep meeting and bonfire, both in number of participants and amount of fuel consumed, since the night before the Southern California game of 1929. It was a demonstration, painstakingly planned but enthusiastic rather than perfunctory, of joint tribute to a friendly rival of fighting qualities and to an eleven whose business in hand is to defeat Northwestern tomorrow as a step toward later victories over Army and Southern California.

The significance of this enthusiasm is that Notre Dame students, ordinarily phlegmatic in accepting accustomed victory and therefore not prone to pep meetings, have been stirred by the Pittsburgh reverse. In Notre Dame circles, both student and coaching, defeat by Northwestern would be a calamity. Therefore nothing which the students can offer in the way of firing the eleven is neglected, although the Purple, while many times a most valiant foe, has achieved only one victory and two ties in eleven contests. That lone triumph was back in 1901.

Band Plays N. U. Song.

As soon as the 2,780 students emerged from the dining commons after supper, groups began forming in front of each of the 14 halls or dormitories. There impromptu pep sessions were held while a parade formed, visiting each hall in turn, and finally forming a great line which marched, with cheers punctuating the trek, to a wide open parking space on the campus off Notre Dame avenue, far from any danger to campus buildings from the roaring bonfire.

At this point Capt. Paul Host, whose injuries will prevent him from full service tomorrow, lighted the huge pile of collected wood and introduced in turn each member of the team. Typical collegiate greetings were extended to these warriors, interspersed with Notre Dame songs by the band, which had played its part also in the triumphal parade of anticipated conquest. Even in this hour a complimentary "On Northwestern" was blared forth.

First Team to Start.

The parade, bonfire, introduction of players, and various speeches occupied about three hours, although the team was hustled away before the finish to enjoy sweet dreams of victory.

Those who know their Notre Dame can better understand what all this means—a united and enthusiastic front, a wish to show confidence in the present team and coaching régime.

Now for the happenings on the morrow. Coach Hunk Anderson states he will start his first string eleven, with the exception of ends, where Dominick Vairo and Hugh Devore will take the places of Kosky and Capt. Host, still feeling the effects of bruising contests with Pittsburgh and Kansas. Both regulars, however, may be expected to compete at some time during the afternoon. Among these regulars, at center is included Jack Robinson, appropriately monickered so far as speed is concerned. Robinson, a sophomore from Long Island, has earned this preference by his speed and 200 pounds of battling strength.

Irish Will Pass.

Notre Dame plans to meet a passing attack, estimated here as Northwestern's best offense, with passes. Practice all week has been toward that end, with stress on blocking to protect the passer and give him time to get away his throws.

In explanation Coach Anderson says: "We'll probably be in the hole all the time owing to Olson's punting, so we'll have to gain back the ground some way." This is in line with the best proverbial coaching gloom. Anderson has not been head coach long enough to have gloom to its finest finesse, but he has made rapid progress and is eminently satisfactory as a gloomist, especially recently.

While he had gone contrary to precedent in previous games, even including that with Pittsburgh, in anticipating victory, he characterizes the pending issue, for publication, as a tossup, which is contrary to expert opinion.

According to the probable starting lineups, Notre Dame will have an advantage of 15 pounds to the man in the line, also presenting two of the War Glory Wins by Two Lengths in Mud.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—The Glen Riddle farm's War Glory, a chestnut son of Man o' War, captured the Walden handicap before a crowd of 10,000 at Pimlico today. Leading practically from start to finish the colt was the winner by two lengths at the end of the mile and a sixteenth over a muddy track.

Galloping strongly through the stretch War Glory was greeted by a tremendous cheer as he was probably the best known of six horses coupled in the mutuel field. Another field horse, G. H. Bostwick's Garden Message, finished second, two lengths before Joseph E. Widener's Golden Way, the favorite, but was disqualified.

Jockey Coltiletti Suspended.

Jockey Frank Coltiletti, rider of Garden Message, was suspended and his case referred to the Maryland Racing commission. The disqualification of Garden Message moved Golden Way up to second place and gave Sarada, winner of the Spalding Lowe Jenkins, the third position. The time was 1:39 1-5 and the purse of $5,370 by far the most important which War Glory has earned.

Racing luck played a large part in the result since the favorite was pinched back at the break and then again met with interference from Garden Message in the stretch.

Belizzi Rides Three Winners.

To Dominick Belizzi, who first came into prominence at the recent Empire City meeting, went the riding honors of the day, for he gained a consecutive triple with Tetrarchal, Character, and Frigate Bird. The two last named were saddled by Trainer Hirsch Jacobs.

ST. JOHNS MEETS CULVER TODAY AT DYCHE STADIUM

Seeks Revenge for Pair of 19 to 0 Defeats.

Potential generals will abandon military maneuvers this afternoon in the interests of charity when the elevens of Culver Military academy of Culver, Ind., and St. Johns Military academy of Delafield, Wis., battle at Dyche stadium in Evanston. The game is being sponsored by the Young Women's auxiliary of Evanston, with Mrs. Kenneth L. Wilson and Max Hayford in charge.

The game will be given a military color by the presence of the corps of both schools, which will parade through downtown Evanston before the game and will pass in review before the guests of honor, Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commander of the Sixth corps area, and Admiral Wat T. Cluverius, commandant of the Great Lakes Naval Training station, at 1:45 o'clock in the stadium. They will be led by the respective commandants of both schools, Col. Robert Rossow of Culver and Maj. Charles T. Smythe of St. Johns.

St. Johns Favorite Again.

St. Johns will enter the game in the same position in which it went into the preceding two battles, that of favorite, but with the best chance in three years of fulfilling that rating. In the two games played before, both of them at Soldiers' field, the Badger cadets were overwhelming favorites, but each time the Culver team turned on them and handed out a 19-0 defeat.

This year, with a record of five victories and no defeats, St. Johns' followers see an opportunity to avenge the defeats of 1930 and 1931. Oshkosh State Teachers, Lawrence, Ripon, and De Paul university freshmen, and the Wisconsin School of Mines have been defeated by St. Johns.

Another point in favor of St. Johns is a forward wall with more poundage than many a college team. In this line are Capt. Park Wray, tackle, 220 pounds; Richard Georgi, tackle, 225 pounds; Hugh Hoyt, guard, 190 pounds. Frank Riley, younger brother of the Northwestern Rileys, guard, 190 pounds; Pat Carroll, end, 190 pounds, and Mike Calvano, end, 187 pounds. The St. Johns' back field includes Eastman at quarter back; Swisher and Conrad at halves, and Geyer at full back.

Culver Also Packs Weight.

Against this record and array of weight and talent Culver offers a veteran back field and a tally of three victories and two defeats. They defeated Central High of Evansville, Ind., Brazil High of Brazil, Ind., and Valparaiso university freshmen, but lost to Mooseheart academy and the Notre Dame freshmen.

The Hoosiers' ball carrying quartet is composed of Cherry at quarter back, Vaughan and Wieland at the halves, and Sample at full back. Culver's line is not lacking in beef either. Among those in it are Capt. Jim Hack, a resident of Chicago, who will weigh in at center at 192 pounds; Edward Klich, a tackle, 244 pounds, and Irvin Londy, a guard, 203 pounds.

MENDOTA WINS, 13-7.

Bears, Spartans Battle for 2nd Place Tomorrow

Second place in the National Professional Football league will be at stake tomorrow when the Chicago Bears meet the Portsmouth Spartans at Wrigley field. Portsmouth now holds the runner-up position, but would be dropped to third by a Bear victory. It will be Portsmouth's first appearance of the season in Chicago.

The Spartans arrived in Chicago Thursday, two days earlier than usual, to prepare its defense for the Bears' vaunted running attack. Clark, Cavosie, Presnell and Lumpkin were named to start in the Spartan back field. This quartet finished just a jump behind Green Bay for the title last year and lost to the Packers, 15 to 10, in the closing minutes of the game this year.

Clark is the one the Bears will pay most attention to. He is a constant threat, who shifts from full back to quarter back. In addition to his passing and running he has scored the only two field goals made in the league this season. These two goals enable Clark to lead Red Grange in league scoring.

The Bears also have every reason to remember McKalip, who rates among the best pass receivers in the league. He will oppose Bill Hewitt tomorrow. McKalip is in his second season as a professional and Hewitt is in his first.

Coach Ralph Jones announced after yesterday's practice that Joe Kopcha, guard, is the only doubtful starter for the Bears. Kopcha is not fully recovered from injuries.

Storm Sweeps More Honkers Into Illinois

BY BOB BECKER.

Waterfowl hunters who go into the Illinois river country this week-end should see a number of new faces among the flocks of ducks along the stream. The rain and snowstorm which swept over the upper lake states and much of the northwest, brought down more ducks. Prior to the arrival of this storm which sprinkled Chicago with a little snow we had received numerous reports telling us that thousands of birds were still enjoying the north country.

Lakes Poygan and adjacent waters in Wisconsin has thousands of canvasbacks and other open water ducks which, during the warm weather sat out in the middle of the lakes and quacked derisively at the hunters on shore.

The latest report from Miller City, Cache and Olive Branch, the towns near Cairo which cater to wild goose hunters, tells of thousands of honkers on the sand bars and in the wheat fields. Moreover, exceptionally good bags have been made.

Cairo Is Territory for Honkers.

The report reads: "There are more geese in Alexander county now than there were at the close of the season last year. Hunters are having no difficulty in obtaining their limit early and one hunting organization reported that 12 hunters brought down 36 geese in a few hours one day." The bag limit is four to a gun per day.

We recommend the Cairo, Ill., territory to hunters who wish to try their luck with the big Canadian honkers. One can get both field and sand bar shooting there.

Last week-end waterfowl hunters in the Illinois country had to carry sunshades and mosquito sprays in order to enjoy hunting.

First Signs of Spring?

On Sunday afternoon when we occupied a blind with James R. Offield we recorded one honey bee in the blind and one mosquito paid us a visit. In addition, we saw two butterflies, heard a song sparrow trill spring-like notes and found bluebirds were more common than ducks. By 4 o'clock it was decided that for November hunting it would be advisable to equip the blinds with screens to keep out the insects!

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Purdue's undefeated Boilermakers will meet the University of Iowa football team here tomorrow in the final home football game for the Hawkeye team.

Against almost any other Western conference team the Hawkeyes would feel that with a break or two they might edge out their first Big Ten victory, but the only hope in tomorrow's affair is that the home team will hold the visitors to a low score.

Look for Cold Day.

As usual on the eve of a game Coach Ossie Solem gave the Hawkeyes only a light workout, with only signals and passing to limber up. The high wind and cold weather curtailed the passing workout.

Purdue's squad arrived in Davenport, sixty miles east of here, this morning and worked out on the Davenport High school gridiron. A special train bringing the football squad and Purdue alumni will arrive here at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Iowa May Use 7 Sophomores.

In contrast to the veteran eleven from Lafayette, Coach Solem's team appears inexperienced. If Solem starts the same team which faced Nebraska last Saturday, the lineup will include seven sophomores, while the visiting team will have only a single recruit.

Light practice has been forced in the Iowa camp this week due to adverse weather. Although there has not been an opportunity for real scrimmage, Solem has spent most of the available time in devising a defense which he hopes will check the great Purdue back field of Pardonner, Hecker, Purvis, and Horstmann.

BUCKEYES FACE PENN.

Columbus, O., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Fifty-five University of Pennsylvania football players arrived in Columbus today on the heels of the city's first snow, to help Ohio State celebrate its annual homecoming day tomorrow.

It was the first visit of a Pennsylvania team to Ohio State. Incidentally it is the only away from home game the Quakers will play during the 1932 season.

Both teams are handicapped by injuries. Pennsylvania will be unable to use Carl Perina, 220 pound full back and pivot man in the Quaker defense. The regular quarter backs, Masavage and Collis, are injured and their use problematical.

Ohio State finds that Carl Cramer is definitely out of the Buckeye lineup at quarter back. Hinchman will be at left half, but the right half position still is a toss up between Carroll, Greenberg, and Keefe.

OHIO STATE.		PENNSYLVANIA.
Padlow [190]	L. E.	Burnett [172]

BROTHERS LOSE C. Y. O. MATCHES AT DES PLAINES

It was a poor evening for the Wolopec brothers of St. Mary's Training school, both of whom were defeated in the first round of the middleweight battling in the northwest suburban district C. Y. O. amateur bouts at Des Plaines last night. John was knocked out in the second round by Peter Knittle of St. Mary's, Des Plaines, while his brother, Bill, lost a three round decision to Harry Hodgins from the same parish as his brother's conqueror.

Results of the preliminaries:

Bantamweight—Ralph Lewandowski, St. Paul of the Cross, beat Tony Puskus, St. Mary's Training school [3]; Leonard Carroll, St. Mary's Training school, beat William O'Connor, St. Mary's Training school [3].

Featherweight—Edward Tolza, St. Mary's Training school, beat Robert Donohue, St. Mary's [3]; Edward Rapeay, St. Mary's Training school, beat Gilbert Somdini, St. Mary's of Des Plaines [3]; Ed Daffner beat Mike Crowley, St. Mary's Training school [3]; William Berneau, St. Mary's Training school, beat Huch Lynch, St. Mary's Training school [3].

Lightweight—Edward Lanphier, St. Mary's Training school, beat Gene Gorman, St. Thecla [3]; William Doyle, St. Mary's Training school, beat Adam Denk, St. Belarmine [3]; Joe Schmidt, Immaculate Conception, beat Bern McHuch, St. Mary's Training school [3]; Robert Stolley, St. Thecla, beat Paul Fiantago, St. Mary's of Des Plaines [3].

Welterweight—Paul Trudell, St. Mary's Training school, knocked out Henry Baske, St. Belarmine [1]; Mike Morris, St. Juliana, beat John Alange, St. Mary's Training school [3]; Henry Jarzen St. Thecla, knocked out Edward Scanlan, St. Mary's Training school [2].

Middleweight—Everett Kelly, St. Mary's of Des Plaines, beat Edward Marek, St. Thecla [3]; Peter Knittle, St. Mary's of Des Plaines, knocked out John Wolopec, St. Mary's Training school [2]; Harry Hodgins, St. Mary's of Des Plaines, beat William Wolopec, St. Mary's Training school [3]; Gerald O'Donnell, St. Mary's Training School, stopped Frank O'Shinska, St. Thecla [1].

Old Spirit Is Princeton's New Weapon

student's ever turning on a coach to remind him that he is just an employé, after all, like the janitor or the gardener, and in no position to give impudence to the sons of the house.

Records Are Even.

Tomorrow's game, in relation to the eastern football championship, which does not exist, anyway, is something like one of those rare enmities between a couple of inferior club fighters. There have been many such pairings in which the boys fought like devils a half dozen times, although neither one was any match for a first class gladiator.

Yale has been beaten twice and tied twice, has won from Dartmouth alone and has scored only two touchdowns all season. Princeton's record is exactly the same as to defeats and ties but the boys have beaten two other clubs, Amherst and Lehigh. Princeton and Yale do not scout each other, but it is not scouting to read the papers and a man can't help hearing the wind blow on a stormy night, so they doubtless have a pretty fair sort of idea, back and forth, as to the sort of opposition they are meeting tomorrow afternoon in Palmer stadium.

The Princetons surely know that by a neat job of maneuvering, the Yales were given an extra week of rest for this game, there having been an open date in the Yale schedule last Saturday while Princeton was beating Lehigh, 53 to 0. They must have heard also, that the Yale team which seemed so ragged and wretched against the Army looked much worse because of the contrast in a meeting with one of the two positively best football teams in the country and appeared to much better advantage in the game with Dartmouth a week later.

Tigers Have Edge.

Moreover, the Yale style of play was set in a mold a long time ago and has not changed, so altogether, if there is anything in this agreement not to peek or pry or listen to gossip, it consists of a slight disadvantage for Yale. Princeton is playing a new style of football this year and anything the Yales may have learned by observation or experience last fall will amount to nothing but misinformation as to the present Princeton team.

They are expecting about 45,000 patrons down to this most inconvenient of all the football stops, at a rate of $4.40 per head, which would leave about 7,000 seats without claimants. They probably overestimate their attraction and the customers' capacity to pay and willingness to suffer.

The Army and Harvard drew barely that many in Boston last week with a much greater population to draw from and with due allowance for the innate thrift of the New England customer, they were appealing to a larger public and offering, up to the time of the kickoff, a much more pretentious show.

Few Great Players.

There are very few great players on either side of this contest, but the game counts as a big one for both teams and there exists between the Yales and the Princetons a very pleasant animus which feeds itself for the year when the football teams meet in the fall.

The lineup says that Dud Parker, the converted back, will start at right end for Yale, and Callan, the newly discovered running back who frustrated Dartmouth, will begin the game at right half. Converse and De Angelis, the guards whose nimble going was supposed to have made all the difference between the sluggish Yale team that floundered before the Army and the agile one that beat Dartmouth a week later, also are registered in the starting lineup.

However, these documents never are sworn to and experience has shown that it isn't wise even to believe that the teams will play at all until they come out on the field and start. And it makes little difference who is playing where at the start, anyway, because as a general rule everybody in school who has the price of a headguard and a pair of football pants gets into one of these letter games before the fighting is done.

Supreme Court Upholds Award to Injured Caddy

New York, Nov. 11.—[Special.]—The Appellate division of the Supreme court in Brooklyn today upheld a verdict of $4,988 returned by a jury in favor of John C. Simpson, 11 years old of Middletown, N. Y., against Teunis S. Fiero, a member of the Pocatello Country club, Middletown.

The boy alleged that on Aug. 16, when caddying for another man on the club's golf course, he was struck by a ball driven by Fiero. The boy's left eye was injured.

The court, in its decision, holds that the player is responsible for injuries to others by a golf ball driven by him, adding, however, that the situation might be different had the boy been caddying for the player. In that event it would have been the caddy's duty to watch the ball, as otherwise he would be guilty of contributory negligence.

greatest players in the country in the vital tackle positions. Northwestern has about two pounds average advantage in the back field.

Expect 40,000 Crowd.

Snow flurries were in evidence today. The athletic department, however, from past experience, accepts its weather predictions from the trick knee of an English professor rather than the official weather bureau. This trick knee was not aching, so fair weather and sunshine, perhaps a trifle cold temperature, is expected. Forty thousand spectators also are expected.

Northwestern has been granted permission for a telephone from the press stand to its players' bench, a post-game discovery which created something of a furore at Minnesota. Applications to take moving pictures of the contests, with slow motion possibilities, was denied in accordance with fixed local policy. Northwestern's Wildcats will arrive tomorrow morning, take luncheon on their special cars, and proceed direct to the game without local headquarters, according to advices asking if any preparations should be made at this end.

HAWKS DRILL FOR GAME TOMORROW WITH AMERICANS

Far from satisfied with the passing attack of the Blackhawks in the opening game at Detroit on Thursday, Coach Emil Iverson put the team through a strenuous two hour practice at the Coliseum yesterday and today gave the players a stiff drill in combination plays. These workouts will also familiarize the local players with all the contours of the Coliseum rink for the local opener tomorrow night against the New York Americans.

While having no alibi for the defeat at Detroit, the Blackhawk players were handicapped by the Olympia ice surface, which is much smaller than that of the Duluth arena where the Hawks did their pre-season practicing.

evenly matched, nor a game that has given more promise of exploding more thrilling fireworks in the way of spectacular passes and long runs.

There are the brilliant Capt. Berry of the Illini nearing the end of his collegiate career ready to pop passes in every direction, and the accurate Opasik, the Indiana quarter back, whose passes and runs have kept the Hoosiers right up with the Big Ten leaders all season.

Watch Young Froschauer.

And there's Froschauer, the sophomore kid from Lincoln, Ill., in the Illinois back field who made two touchdowns against Wisconsin a week ago. Many believe he will blossom into one of the greatest stars ever developed by Zuppke.

Then there are the two Georgetown, Ill., lads, Sawicki and Edmonds, who live just thirty miles from the Illinois campus, but who became students at Indiana and who play half back and full back for the invading Hoosiers. They've written home that they'll make a show of the Illini. All their neighbors are coming over tomorrow to see them do it.

More than 15,000 students, their dads and other Illini followers will see the game, which may be played under very disagreeable conditions. Snow was falling while the Indiana and Illinois players ran through their final drills this afternoon. The turf on the practice field was half frozen. The weather man says more snow and more cold weather tomorrow.

Can't Dampen Enthusiasm.

But does that dampen the enthusiasm of the youthful students on the eve of what promises to be one of the great thrillers of this year's Western conference football? You wouldn't think so if you peered out through the snow and the chilling wind which swept up Green street, crowded with the students and their dads, tonight.

The weather man will have to be in a very mean frame of mind to spoil the commemoration of Dad's day. A fine spectacle is in store. The famous Illinois band will be on hand to present special music and formations in honor of the dads. So will the "famous hundred," Indiana's marching military band.

The "famous hundred" from Indiana arrived late tonight and lunked on cots in the new Illinois gymnasium while the blizzard raged on the outside. The Illinois band will have to do its best to out toot the Hoosier musicians. A night among the rowing machines, punching bags, horizontal bars, iron horses, and a plunge tomorrow morning in the Illinois gym pool should, by every way of calculating, leave the Indiana bandsmen in the pink of condition.

Along Neil street late tonight—far away from Green street—they were letting you take your pick on the outcome of the football game and on the outcome of the band playing contest and betting even money that you are wrong.

NATALIE ADDS TO LEAD IN CUE TOURNAMENT

Pasquale Natalle of Chicago, northern sectional pocket billiard champion, increased his lead in the all-star pocket billiard tournament at the Bensinger Randolph room last night when he defeated William Collinwood, Asheville, N. C., 100 to 33, in 21 innings. He now leads the standing with four victories and no defeats. In the first night game Walter Franklin of Kansas City took a closely fought game from Bennie Allen, also of Kansas City, 100 to 93, in 13 innings.

CARNERA SIGNS FOR LEVINSKY; KING HOLDS OUT

Primo Carnera, 265 pound Italian boxer, has agreed to face King Levinsky in a 10 round bout at the Chicago Stadium on Nov. 30, it was learned yesterday. Levinsky, who had sought a second match with Carnera for several weeks, now is refusing to sign, due to disagreement over terms. It is said that Primo, who defeated Levinsky at the Stadium last Nov. 19, has been granted 32½ per cent of the receipts. King wants 25 per cent, but the Stadium, it is reported, is unwilling to give him more than 20.

St. Mary Is Victor Over U.C.L.A., 14-7

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—St. Mary's football team returned today from New York, where it lost to Fordham, to whip University of California at Los Angeles, 14 to 7, before an Armistice day crowd of 67,000. It was U. C. L. A.'s first defeat this season.

Apparently none the worse off for its round trip across the continent and defeat by Fordham all in the space of nine days, St. Mary's countered with hard, aggressive football after U. C. L. A. had scored in the second quarter on a 45 yard forward pass from Quarter Back Mike Frankovich, to Half Back Bobby Decker.

Decker's hurried kick went out of bounds on the ten yard line. Baird scored on the first play thereafter.

St. Mary's got its second touchdown in the fourth quarter, when Quarter Back Beasley ended a 50 yard march with an eight yard plunge for a touchdown. Jorgensen again kicked the extra point. Lineup:

on the Midway when a safety gave the Maroons a 2 to 0 verdict. Last fall the Maroons did well enough to lose by only 13 to 7.

Cold to Limit Attendance.

The Michigan-Chicago football argument had its inception 40 years ago Twenty games have been staged with Michigan winning 14 and Chicago six.

The battle tomorrow will not contribute much to the athletic association funds of either school. Winter weather will hold down the usual last minute ticket sales. The expectation is that 15,000 will be on hand, half of them students. This total doesn't include the newspaper men who will try to survive in the hurricane deck open air sanitarium which serves as a press box.

The field is covered by a tarpaulin, so the snow fall of last night will not have any effect on the turf. Harry Newman, the Wolverines' forward passing quarter back, will appreciate the conditions under foot.

The Michigan squad did little this afternoon before retiring to a nearby country club for confinement during the night. The Maroons did even less. They reached Dearborn, Mich., from Chicago after dinner and will remain close to the radiators until carted to Ann Arbor tomorrow noon.

Cueist Makes Difficult Shot, Then Drops Dead

New York, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Frank Miller, 49, of Los Angeles, professional billiard player, found himself confronted by an especially difficult shot in a game today. "If I make this I'll be proud of myself," he said. He made it, and then dropped dead of a heart attack.

Bloomington, Ill., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Illinois Wesleyan became the outstanding favorite for the Little Nineteen conference football championship by defeating State Normal here today, 14 to 0.

Normal, previously undefeated with a string of seven consecutive victories, was displaced by Wesleyan in the first position of the conference standings. For the twenty-fifth consecutive year Normal was unable to vanquish a Wesleyan team, and the Titans accounted for their tenth straight triumph over the Teachers since the last tie in 1921.

There was no scoring in the first quarter. In the second quarter Wesleyan seriously threatened the enemy goal line three times. One march was halted two yards from the goal line by a bad pass from center, which was downed by Kaska on the Normal 5 yard line. Goff punted out of danger to his own 45 yard line, despite the terrific ind. A pass, Mitchell to Capt. Bodman, placed the oval on the State 2 yard line. Three line plays failed to make first down and Mitchell then passed to Kaska, who took the ball on the three yard line and scampered across for the first touchdown. With Mitchell back to kick Kaska slipped through the line for the extra point.

The third period was scoreless. In the final period passes again were the nemesis to Normal. Two passes, Benson to R. Neuman, left the Titans 20 yards from goal. Here the State line braced and took the ball on downs. Goff's punt slipped outside at midfield. Two first downs in a row again carried the Methodists to the 15 yard line. Kaska got three, Campbell 8, and Kaska again 4, falling across the goal line for the touchdown. Benson's placement was good.

De Paul Leaves Tonight to Play St. Thomas Eleven

De Paul university football squad will leave tonight for St. Paul, Minn., where tomorrow it meets the St. Thomas team.

The contest will be the seventh of the season for the undefeated De Paul team. It finished preparations with a light offensive drill yesterday.

Every member of the squad is in excellent condition and De Paul will be able to command its full strength for the first time this season. Indications yesterday were that the starting backfield will be Marty Stadler at quarter, Capt. Matty Steffen and Ernie Butcher, at the halves, and Ted Jablonski at full back.

CATHOLIC LEAGUE.

St. Ignatius vs. Fenwick, Crevier stadium, 2 p. m.

Four teams—Harrison Tech, Morgan Park, Schurz, and Englewood—survivors of a field of 20 in the Chicago Public High School league championship race, step forward this afternoon to determine which of the quartet will meet in the title game next week.

Harrison Tech, Chicago's champion last year and a west section titleholder for the third consecutive season, has drawn Englewood in the pairings. They will meet at Normal park, 61st street and Racine avenue. Morgan Park, with its best team in recent years, faces the north section's representative, Schurz, at Logan Square park, Kedzie and Elston avenues.

Englewood Has Stars.

Englewood, champion of the central section, whence have come many league titleholders, climaxed its drive to the sectional championship by defeating Bowen last Saturday. Its surprising victories Saturday after Saturday with a green team have made it a favorite against Harrison, which takes the field regarded as an underdog for the first time this season.

But Harrison, defeated once in practice and tied three times, has not been scored on in league competition.

Two of the best ball carriers in the central section will be in Englewood's back field. They are Bill Atwood, full back, and Capt. Pete Rozgus, quarter back, who scored two touchdowns against Bowen last week.

Schurz Ties One Game.

Morgan Park enters the semi-finals for the first time since 1927. It piled up 58 points in scoring four consecutive south section victories. Schurz, in winning the north section title, won three games and was tied by Lake View.

Clint Frank, the Suburban league's high scorer, will lead the undefeated Evanston eleven against New Trier at Phelps field in Winnetka in the championship game. A victory over Evanston will give New Trier a share of the championship. Evanston leads the league with four victories. New Trier has won three games and lost one.

York and Riverside meet on the latter's field in the outstanding West Suburban league game. York will be seeking its fourth victory. Two other league games are scheduled, Glenbard playing Maine at Des Plaines and Hinsdale meeting West Chicago.

GRAIN TRADERS, TAKING HOLIDAY, WATCH STOCKS

Liverpool Rise Expected to Aid Wheat Here.

Interest in the grain markets yesterday was more animated as regards sentiment of traders, many of whom were in brokers' offices watching the sharp advance in security prices. Cables from Liverpool reporting a net advance of ⅝c to ¾c, due in a measure to stronger sterling exchange prices and lighter offerings, suggested higher prices for wheat in American markets.

There was no trading, however, but the disposition is to regard the American wheat market as well liquidated, and the tendency is to work more on the constructive side. Nothing was heard from the Argentine, but it was generally construed that crop conditions there are favorable and every day of good weather tends to enlarge the yield. Australian news is also of the same favorable character, and holders of wheat in that country appear to be anxious sellers.

Situation in Canada.

The Canadian crop report issued late Thursday, giving the crop in the three provinces as 411,000,000 bu, was lower than the trade had figured on, but Canada will have all the wheat it can probably find a market for in the next two months.

A strong undertone exists in the cash wheat market owing to light receipts. This has necessitated millers buying elevator stocks in terminal markets and premiums are holding strong. Flour trade has picked up and is making a fair showing, especially considering the increase in the volume of distribution of charity Red Cross flour.

Favors Bear Side.

A disposition was shown on the part of corn traders to regard the government crop report as being more favorable to the bear side—the increase of 51,000,000 bu in the eleven big states in October, and 440,000,000 bu more than last year, suggests large supplies, particularly in states that have a surplus. Iowa's production was approximately 540,000,000 bu, an increase of 24,000,000 bu for the month. This suggests 147,000,000 bu more than last year, so there are ample supplies for feeding, burning, and shipping. The crop is a record one.

Alaska Juneau Gold Mining.

I shall appreciate receiving in the enclosed self-addressed, stamped envelope any report which you may have on Alaska Juneau Gold.—E. M. O.

Alaska Juneau Gold Mining company operates in the Juneau district of Alaska. More than 90 per cent of its output in dollar volume is gold. It also mines silver and lead.

Average recovery in September, 1932, was 69.42 cents a ton, against recovery of 83.26 cents a ton in September, 1931. For the first nine months of 1932 gross revenues were $2,357,000 and net profit before depreciation, depletion and federal taxes was $845,000. For the first nine months of 1931 gross revenues were $2,929,000 and such net profit was $1,264,000.

On Sept. 28, 1932, a leading financial service estimated net earnings for 1932, after depreciation and federal taxes, at 65 to 70 cents a share.

The company produced $3,880,000 of metal in 1931, against $3,552,000 in 1930, $3,627,000 in 1929 and $3,316,000 in 1928.

Net income after all charges, except depletion, in 1931 was $1,070,000, or 74 cents per share, against net of $831,000, or 58 cents per share, in 1930. Net before depletion in 1929 was $1,025,000, and in 1928, $781,000.

On Dec. 31, 1931, current assets were $1,660,000, and current liabilities were $295,000.

There was no funded debt. Capitalization consisted of 1,440,000 shares of $10 par capital stock.

The stock has paid 12½ cents a quarter since the first quarter of 1932. It had previously been on a 10 cent quarterly dividend basis since the first quarter of 1931.

The company has no marketing problems. Its future depends on economies of operations and extent of workable ore reserves. No estimate of present reserves is available.

The stock is speculative.

Houston Electric.

What can you tell me about Houston Electric 6s?—N. O. H.

Houston Electric company is controlled by Galveston-Houston Electric company. It supplies transportation service to Houston, Tex. Net before interest and depreciation for the twelve months ended Sept. 30, 1932, was $512,000 and bond charges were $302,000. For the preceding twelve months such net was $812,000 and bond charges were $321,000. Fixed charges were earned 1.18 times in 1931, 1.48 times in 1930 and 1.70 times in 1929. On Dec. 31, 1931, current assets were $541,000 and current liabilities were $201,000. The $4,319,000 first 6s, due 1935, are more a speculation than an investment.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Bleachable cottonseed oil was firmer and trading was more active with final prices showing net advances of from 7 to 11 points on increased covering and commission house buying, influenced by the firmness of crude oil, stocks, and cotton, and in advance of the census bureau report tomorrow. Approximate sales were 70 contracts, or 10,500 bbls, including considerable exchanging from the near to the more distant positions. Bleachable spot closed, 3.85c; December, 3.98c; January, 3.99c; March, 4.20c; May, 4.29c.

TRADE REVIEWS FIND BUSINESS HOLDING UP WELL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 10.—"General business during the week reflected the impact of the quadriennial election and Armistice day, but most branches of trade held up surprisingly well in the face of the unsettlement that is an expected concomitant of such a political period," says Dun's review of the week.

"With the atmosphere now clarified a resumption of the gradual trade expansion, which has been in evidence for several months, is expected to proceed with fewer interruptions. The steadiness of retail business is an indication of strength, and a broadening of the seasonal revival doubtless will be manifest right up to the close of the year.

"The encouraging recovery of commodity prices this week gives evidence that the buyers' hesitation which has obtained in some markets may be broken soon, as both wholesalers and retailers are carrying inventories substantially lighter than those of former years at this season, and are supposedly inadequate to meet any long sustained demand.

Buying Is Cautious.

"Reports from the leading centers of distribution reveal that buying during the week was cautious, with transactions in nearly all directions on a modified scale. Variable weather was a factor in the sales of wearing apparel, cooler days stimulating trade sharply, but the continuous rains and warm temperatures were not conducive to any expansion in the distribution of seasonal items.

"The price structure in the dry goods markets sagged, and sales declined slightly, but holiday purchases soon should influence an upturn in this line. In fact, this already is in evidence in the early sales which have been made of packaged goods for gift purposes, such as sheets and pillowcases, towels, table sets and many types of rayon garments."

Business Not Yet Recovered.

Business has not yet recovered from the intense suspense which preceded the election, the advices generally agree. Reports to Bradstreet's weekly from fifty-five key centers throughout the country indicate that business is rubbing its eyes and trying in the first blush of complete consciousness to take stock of the situation.

"The results of the election, though not unexpected, seem to have been but dimly appreciated until the issue was settled," the review says. "Even the security market, which has been credited with a super-earthly power of anticipation, was caught flat-footed and is only now engaged in working out a balance sheet of the future.

"It is confident that no radical legislation will be passed in the coming short session of congress. It feels that the impulse to tinker with economics or achieve prosperity by formula is definitely on the wane. It has been greatly encouraged by the alignment of outstanding conservatives such as Owen D. Young, Albert D. Ritchie and John W. Davis with the new President. That he will continue the policies of his predecessor is certain."

Has a Vacant Lot Problem.

TO THE EDITOR: On the 5th of September, 1928, I signed a contract with the ———— company, Chicago, to purchase a vacant lot for $1,990 consideration; $400 paid at the signing of the contract and $20 a month for 47 months, these payments to apply on principal and interest. At the end of this period the balance was to become due and the deed was to be executed by the Union bank of Chicago.

I completed my payments on July 13, 1932, and at that time asked for an extension for two years on the contract with the same payments as heretofore. I did not receive any answer to my letter until Sept. 10, when the company agreed to extend the contract for two years. They did not send any papers to that effect.

I have paid the taxes on this property as well as special assessments. I now have a balance of $953 in addition to special sewer assessment, and I wonder if it is worth while to continue those payments, or would I be ahead to drop this contract. I could keep up the payments, but feel that the price paid was too high and that I will never realize on this investment.

The company assured me when I purchased the lot I could sell it for a profit; of course, they could not foresee the present condition of the real estate market. Your advice will be greatly appreciated in this matter. C. H. J.

ANSWER—You mentioned having received a letter from the company agreeing to extend payments for two years; this should be sufficient. Whether or not it is advisable to keep up payments on this property you alone must decide. We are reluctant to advise people to let property go by default. The writer talked to Mr. ———— of the company regarding your case, and you, no doubt, will hear from him.

Regarding Tax Rates.

TO THE EDITOR: I own several pieces of property in Rogers Park and would like to know the rate of assessed valuation for tax purposes on this property.—J. H.

ANSWER—Property located in the city of Chicago is taxed at the rate of 37½ per cent of the full valuation. Rogers Park rates per $100 in 1929, $5.53; 1930, $6. Example: A $10,000 property would be assessed on $3,750. 1930 taxes at the rate of $6 would total $225.

ATTENTION Stockholders

AVIATION CORPORATION

We have today been granted an injunction in the Delaware Courts restraining the Aviation Corporation and the directors of the company from issuing approximately 1,997,776 shares of the unissued stock of your company for certain assets of the North American Aviation, Inc., believed by us to be worth less than half of the value of the stock supposed to be issued for payment of same.

This deal was concocted by the present managers of the company in great secrecy and haste and without consultation with its principal stockholders and most of its directors. We believe it was originally planned to railroad this deal through a special directors' meeting called for today with ruthless disregard of all stockholders' rights, but as a result of our opposition and court action this was stopped. We have thus temporarily protected your interests, but in order to safeguard same permanently, a majority of stockholders' votes must be cast in opposition to the present management at a special stockholders' meeting, which we have today demanded be held.

Cord Corporation is the largest stockholder of your company, owning approximately thirty per cent of its outstanding stock. Our interests are identical with your own, and we enlist your support, confident that with this record of the present management before you, you will not permit your votes to be cast to perpetuate their power and control.

The control of your company has been in the hands of a small group of New York bankers, whose combined holdings, according to the records of recent date, aggregate less than 7% of the total outstanding stock.

Shortly after organization of your company, these same men furnished the New York Stock Exchange with a consolidated balance sheet showing assets of approximately $54,000,000. Today, the latest available consolidated balance sheet shows assets of approximately $16,000,000. Therefore, it appears that in the short period of three years, there has been lost through extravagance, waste, speculation, shrinkage of properties, cancellation of officers' debts, and various other types of mismanagement, the staggering sum of $38,000,000 of your money.

In contrast with the above, during almost identically the same period, the group of companies which we have managed has progressed, has furnished employment to tens of thousands, has manufactured and sold nearly $120,000,000 of our products and has had net earnings of over ten and one-half million dollars out of which we have paid dividends of several millions to thousands of stockholders. The financial position of our companies today is stronger than in 1929.

We have the greatest confidence in the future of the air transportation business, and strongly feel that it will be one of the major factors in leading us out of the present economic situation. No better assurance of our faith in this business could be offered than our recent investment of over $5,000,000 through which we became the largest stockholder in your company.

You will no doubt receive from the present management a statement taking credit for great savings and economies reflected in operation since April.

We wish to go on record with you at this point that practically every one of these savings that has resulted in operating economy has been placed into effect, not only at our suggestion, but at our insistence. Furthermore, if all of our suggestions and definite recommendations had not met so much opposition and had been carried out, we predict the savings already accomplished would have been nearly doubled.

For example, we recommended the complete closing of the New York offices, a ridiculous, inefficient piece of extravagance, costing the company $50,000 a month; the closing of the manufacturing plants that were operating at a loss of $1,500,000 per year; that much duplication of overhead be eliminated by the consolidation of the various operating divisions of the company that would have resulted in the saving of over $5,000 per month; the adoption of certain modern flying equipment that would operate at from ten cents to twenty cents per mile more economically than the equipment then being used, which would have shown a substantial saving of over $30,000 per month; we recommended that certain operating schedules be changed with certain increases and decreases in service, which would more efficiently serve the public and the Post Office Department, and at the same time could be more efficiently and economically operated; we proposed a bonus system by which employes in all branches of the service would be entitled to compete, and under which plan, the company would have received a potential saving of at least an additional $50,000 per month through the added efficiency of its personnel and through the further cementing of loyalty of employes to one another and to the company.

Of course, the detail of carrying out these suggestions was in the hands of the management, but the original suggestions for all these savings were from ourselves.

It was thoroughly understood by the management at the time of our entry into this company last April that we were utterly opposed to the policy of continual trading and speculation with the company's funds in stock market securities, having nothing to do with aviation, or any other speculative securities for that matter. We believed at the time, and believe now that regardless of the technical position of the market, the potential profit or loss, or recouping of losses from bad investments already made, or any other reason, that your company should take no further risks in stock speculations with your money, and that the company's funds should be kept entirely in cash and securities no less liquid than U. S. Treasury certificates, to be held as a backlog for future development purposes.

Our original investment in this company was made at the invitation of W. A. Harriman, former Chairman of its Board of Directors, who promised us three members on a board of thirty-five directors. At the annual meeting held on June 2, 1932, when our three representatives, Mr. E. L. Cord, Mr. L. B. Manning, and Mr. Lyndol L. Young were elected to the board, Mr. Harriman publicly announced that he had invited us into this company believing our experience in the manufacturing and transportation business qualified us to furnish to your company something which the existing management lacked, and which would be of unquestionable value to the company. We quickly ascertained, however, that our recommendations were being sidetracked, that too many careers were at stake in an organization infested with politics, and that the most important decisions regarding the company's business were being made in secret meetings of the reigning clique, instead of being openly arrived at in meetings of the Executive Committee and the Board, and in general the present management was more interested in perpetuating its own power, and trading in the stock market, and retaining control of the company, than it was in making the air transportation business, which is the primary business of the company, successful.

After innumerable conferences and delays, followed by subterfuge, broken promises, and connivance on the part of the few dominating members of the Board, while we were seriously trying to effect some compromise to bring about the co-operation necessary to place constructive and efficient policies in operation for the benefit of the stockholders, we reluctantly reached the decision that the only way this co-operation could be obtained was through a substantial change in the present Board of Directors.

Learning of our intentions to demand a special stockholders' meeting for the purpose of electing directors whose true purpose and sole motive would be to obtain efficient and capable management, the present management has concocted in great secrecy and haste this desperate scheme to issue nearly 2,000,000 additional shares of your company's stock for a wholly inadequate consideration, and in accordance with a secret understanding which would enable them to vote this stock for a period of ten years, and thereby forever deprive the majority of the present stockholders of all opportunity to control the corporation in their own interests, and to prevent a full investigation and disclosure of a record of their mismanagement during the past three years, that as previously stated has already lost your company $38,000,000.

Temporarily, this scheme has been halted by our injunction suit, but in order permanently to safeguard your interests, it is necessary that we have your proxy in order that the control of the directorate may be changed, and the management of your company placed in capable and efficient hands with a record of progress and constructive achievement behind it.

Whether you realize it or not, after your company was originally formed, the by-laws were so changed as to allow for the setting up of a classified Board, serving for one, two, and three years. As it now stands, only one-third of the company's directors are elected annually. We feel that this is a vicious set-up to perpetuate the control of the company and allow a few to continue to control without appreciable stock ownership. It is strongly believed that stockholders in all companies should have the right to elect all of its directors annually, and your proxy to this special meeting, which has been called, will be used among other things, to amend the by-laws of the company in such a way as to bring about annual election of its directors.

1. Economical and efficient conduct of the Company's affairs and business.
2. The reduction of operating expenses and the increase of revenues wherever possible to the end that this business may be placed upon a profitable basis and its stock made a profitable investment to you who own it.
3. The purchase of all supplies and equipment upon a truly competitive basis, with no purchases from companies in which we, or any interlocking directorate are interested, unless by proven tests they can furnish a better product for the job at the lowest price.
4. A constantly improved service to the public.
5. Elimination of the present bureaucracy and a square deal for all employes, with an opportunity for advancement based upon merit alone.

Do not be misled by other requests for proxies which you will no doubt receive. Regardless of whether or not you have signed any previous proxy, if you believe in the above policies it will be to your advantage to sign the proxy which we have mailed to the stockholders of record. If you own stock not registered in your name you will not receive my letter. For your own protection please write me the number of shares you own and in whose name it is registered.

Yours very truly,

BEER IS POT O' GOLD FOR REAL ESTATE RAINBOW

Brokers Cheerful at Outlook.

BY AL CHASE.

Beer is now the pot of gold at the end of the realty man's rainbow. For the first time since the depression closed down on him he's smilingly looking ahead to what he firmly believes will be a prime factor in bringing back the real estate market. Conversation with various well posted and in good times active realtors disclosed several new and significant angles to the present prospect of beerful days in the immediate future.

The first definite change in the real estate situation brought about by the recent election began to show itself yesterday when several property owners refused to consider leases of more than one year for certain sites famous in the pre-Volstead days as "good saloon corners." In one case a five year lease with a responsible concern was flatly turned down with the suggestion that a one year lease might be considered, but for no longer. The owner figures on much higher rentals when beer is sold legally.

See Higher Rentals.

Other landlords with vacant space which a few weeks ago they'd have leased at heartbreaking rentals, have ordered their agents to stiffen rates materially. They figure that even if the saloon doesn't come back, the legalized sale of beer, either in tap rooms, at tables, or in grocery stores or federal liquor stores, is going to create a demand for more selling space, with resultant higher rentals.

A second definite result of the prospective comeback of real beer is the wave of optimism which has swept over the restaurant business, with the result that several important deals which have been hanging fire for months are coming to life. Gilbert Keebler, head of E. F. Keebler & Co., one of the loop's old time reality firms, yesterday told of negotiations which are under way for the purchase of an entire three story and basement building in a prominent loop location.

"Just as soon as legal beer is assured my client will close the purchase of this building and spend a large sum of money in an elaborate remodeling of the property into a luxurious restaurant," said Mr. Keebler. "The new owner will use the entire building.

Restaurant Inquiries Active.

"The return of beer will put new life into the restaurant business in both hotels and independent eating places. We've had a number of inquiries for restaurant space during the last few days."

Louis R. Cerf of Cerf & Ehrenhalt said that property owners who a few days ago were anxious to lease space for what they could get and for as long as a tenant wanted it are now reluctant to make anything but the shortest of leases and those at advanced rentals.

"One corner we control, which in the old days was considered about the best saloon corner outside the loop, at Madison and Halsted, is practically out of the market temporarily," he said. "The owner states he won't make any leases except for a year or less. He expects to benefit heavily by the return of beer."

Busy Inspecting Breweries.

Arthur Levy of Mark Levy & Brother, said he's now busier than he's been for three years, inspecting breweries. He has had a number of inquiries for dismantled or abandoned plants by interests who will spend large sums in rejuvenating them when legal beer returns.

Several of Chicago's famous brewers of the days before prohibition have now reached the age where they prefer to sell their former breweries and retire, rather than reëntr the beer making business.

Most brokers predicted that the brewing interests will not voluntarily enter the retail field, though some pointed out that breweries often had to take over retail liquor stores and gradually acquire a chain of saloons. One broker predicted that in the event of the grocery store taking the place of the old time saloon, breweries might organize chain food and beer stores, where beer will be sold but not consumed on the premises.

One other fertile field for the prospective sale of beer is the countless empty banking quarters throughout the city. Until the question is settled of how beer is to be sold, brokers state little can be done except discuss sites with prospective customers. If beer legally can be sold at tables in cafés, it is predicted that a number of imposing banking floors will echo to the sound of clinking glasses—instead of gold.

Baldwin October Orders Increase Over September

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 11.—Business booked by Baldwin Locomotive works and affiliated companies for October amounted to $572,000, compared with $501,000 in September and $1,016,000 in October, 1931.

October Consumption of Cotton Shows Increase

The New York Cotton exchange estimates consumption of cotton by domestic mills at 504,000 bales. This compares with the census bureau figures of 491,000 bales for September and 461,000 bales for October, 1931.

British Save Huge Sum on Bond Interest

BY SCRUTATOR.

The British plea for postponement of a payment on the war debt to the United States next month, coupled with the suggestion that the whole subject of war debts be reconsidered, comes on the heels of England's successful refunding of a large part of her own internal debt. As the result of this effort England will pay generally lower rates of interest on its debt than the United States is paying on a considerable portion of its own debt.

Whatever may be the arguments of the British concerning ability to pay debts owed to this country, the English refunding program attests the high standing of that country's credit with its own people. The British internal debt stands around 21½ billion dollars. Since last July about 7¾ billion dollars of this debt has been refunded or called for refunding into bonds bearing lower interest. This will effect a saving of about 125 million dollars a year.

Refunds Large Issue.

The British treasury has refunded its largest war issue, amounting to about 6 billion 880 million dollars, mostly into 3½ per cent bonds, compared with 5 per cent paid on the original issue. It also converted other issues totaling about 505 million dollars bearing 4½ per cent into new issues bearing 2 and 3 per cent. Moreover, it has called for redemption next February an issue of about 278 million dollars of 5 per cent bonds.

As the result of these big transactions the British treasury now has scaled interest charges on most of the internal debt to 3½ per cent or less. In fact, only about 2 billion 700 million dollars of the debt bears more than 4 per cent, this amount being divided among issues bearing 4½ and 5 per cent. The British debt of 4 billion 600 million dollars to the United States bears only 3.31 per cent under the debt funding agreement.

U. S. Interest Higher.

In contrast with the fact that the British government is paying interest of more than 4 per cent on less than 3 billion dollars of its entire debt is the fact that the United States government is paying 4¼ per cent on bonds totaling more than 7½ billion dollars. The largest of these issues is the fourth Liberty loan, of which about 6 billion 268 million dollars is outstanding.

The fact that British investors have been willing to convert their war bonds into low interest bearing securities and also to absorb new issues bearing 2 and 3 per cent has led to considerable discussion. It has been questioned whether England is as impoverished as the debt revisionists claim and it has been suggested that the United States could refund its own debt on a lower interest basis.

Has Great Resources.

"Great Britain is a country of great financial resources and nothwithstanding the bad times has a constant surplus of income for new investments," the National City bank, New York, observes in discussing the British conversion program. "Conditions in the chief money markets of Europe are very similar to conditions here. This is particularly true of the leading creditor countries, Great Britain, France, the Netherlands, and Switzerland. Even in Berlin, where conditions a year ago were very stringent, the strain is much reduced."

It is pointed out that the United States government paid interest of about 640 million dollars on its public debt last year. The 4¼ per cent Liberty bonds are callable next year. An average reduction of 1 per cent in interest on such part of our debt bearing 3½ per cent or more would effect a saving of about 116 million dollars a year.

PRICE DECLINES SAID TO BE FACTOR IN BANK FAILURES

"The drastic shrinkage in commodity and security prices over the last three years might seem to account for the appalling succession of bank failures in the United States during the same period," Prof. Garfield V. Cox of the school of business of the University of Chicago, said in a talk last night at the Art institute.

"Yet the fact remains," Prof. Cox said, "that more banks suspended operations during the comparatively prosperous years 1922-'29 than have suspended during three years of acute depression and 18 months of incipient or open panic in international money markets. And there is the further fact that other countries whose financial difficulties have been more acute than our own have suffered no such record of failures. The evidence appears conclusive that our banking system is by comparison a fair weather one, that its structure and functioning are poorly adapted to cope with adverse economic conditions."

OCTOBER SALES OF SEARS, ROEBUCK & CO. GAIN SEASONALLY

Sales of Sears, Roebuck & Co. recorded another seasonal increase last month, the company's statement revealed yesterday. Sales for the four weeks ended Nov. 5 were totaled $23,652,111 as compared with $24,353,522 in the preceding 4 weeks and $27,652,111 in the comparable period last year.

As compared with the year ago period the decline amounted to 12.9 per cent as compared with a spread of 10.3 from 1931 in the September period. Last month's sales make a considerably better comparison than the first eleven months in which sales ran 19.9 per cent below 1931.

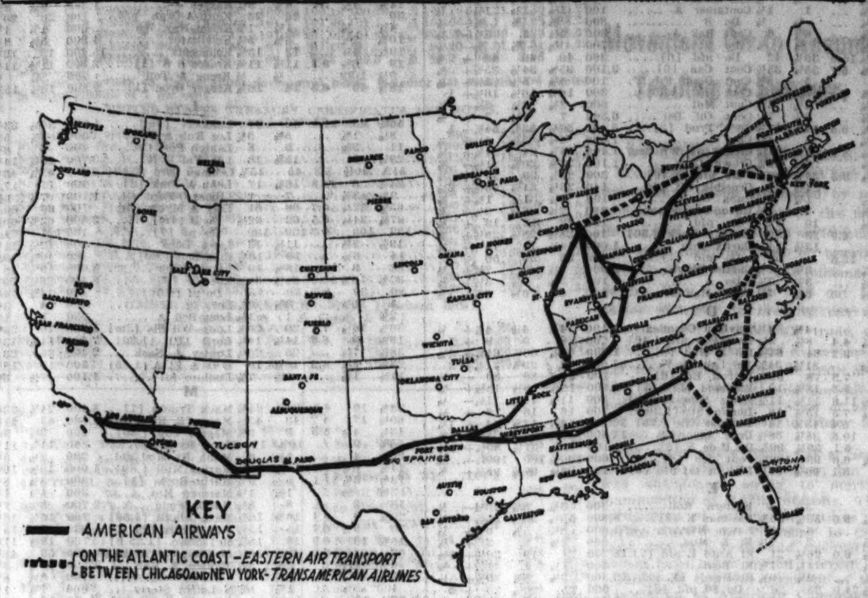
AIR LINES IN PROXY BATTLE



The indirect transcontinental route of the American Airways, and how it would be straightened out under the proposed merger of Aviation corporation and North American Aviation, Inc., holding company for Eastern Air Transport, unless the deal is halted by a proxy battle instituted by E. L. Cord, Chicago manufacturer. The proposed Chicago-New York route of Transamerican Airlines, also considered in the merger plans, is shown as well.

British Pound Given Boost of 3 1-8 Cents

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 11.—A stampede to cover short positions in sterling exchange, started by the action of Great Britain in requesting a postponement of her December war debt payment of $95,500,000 to this country, today whirled the pound up 4¾ cents before it was checked by official selling. The closing price of $3.31½ was up 3⅛ cents.

The covering movement began at the opening when sterling "came in" from London about a cent higher than Thursday's closing price. Quotations were maintained at about this level in the early trading but it soon appeared that the supply of exchange at that price was insufficient to meet the demands and the rate shot up.

Gain Is Reduced.

When it reached $3.32⅛ institutions here acting for the Bank of England began to offer sterling. The rise continued, however, until a price of $3.33⅛ was reached when a reaction set in that cut down the day's gain by 1⅝ cents.

The market here has been assured that the British treasury has sufficient dollar exchange on hand to meet the December payments but it has felt that to do so would greatly deplete the British holdings of dollar balances. If the payment is to be postponed this large additional fund will be available for use, if wanted, in supporting the London rate.

Explains Bank's Action.

One explanation of the recent refusal of the Bank of England to come to the rescue of the pound sterling in its severe fall from $3.45 was that to do so would mean the depletion of dollar balances needed to meet the war debt installment.

The action of the British authorities in stepping in to check today's advance, which was in contrast to their passive acceptance of the recent decline, was construed in foreign exchange circles as a further indication that Britain's monetary policy is more concerned with preventing an undue appreciation of the pound than in stopping a cheapening of exchange. The official sales of exchange, it was remarked, had the advantage of providing the Bank of England with further dollar balances.

BRITISH EXPORTS DURING OCTOBER IN SHARP RISE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 11.—British exports for last month were the best for five months, according to the Board of Trade returns for October issued today. Total exports have jumped $25,011,490, the October total being $170,663,575, compared with $145,652,085 for September. A feature of the returns is a drop of nearly $20,000,000 in United Kingdom imports from the Irish Free State for the three months, ending Sept. 30.

Coal Loadings on Great Lakes Reach New Peak

Cleveland, O., Nov. 11.—Coal loading into great lakes vessels reached a new high record for the year during the week ended Nov. 5. The total loaded was 1,172,985 tons.

ASSET TAKES ON NEW MEANING IN HONEST VALUING

Corporation managers are busy these days with the task of restoring the good name of the word "asset." It has fallen into some disrepute in the last few years because of loose usage.

During the prosperous era in the late nineteen twenties many corporation managements strove continually to expand the assets of their companies. Frequently, this was done in order to market new security issues. Banks, industrial corporations, utility companies, and other organizations developed overgrown capital structures.

In recent months many corporations have taken steps to readjust capital structures to conform with present day values. This involves the elimination of "deadwood" assets which in many cases have been carried on the books of the company for many years. Write-downs of inflated values have been made by several concerns.

One of the immediate advantages to be gained is the escape from excessive state and local taxation based on fictitious book values.

The changes being made do not alter the real financial position of the company or the relative position of the stockholders. The movement, however, will tend to build up public confidence in corporation financial statements. This confidence has been badly shaken by the disclosures of loose practices indulged in by many corporations which are now in receivership.

War Debts and Sterling's Fall.

Further indications that the recent decline of around 20 cents in the British pound sterling was deliberately engineered with the idea of scaring Americans into agreeing to scaling down of war debts is contained in the Oct. 28 issue of the London Stock Exchange Gazette.

In an article entitled, "Fall in the Pound, the Causes and Prospects," the Gazete says:

"The lower the pound the heavier the cost, and the more amenable our treasury will be to the suggestion that a stiff upper lip should be shown to American expectations of war debt payment on Dec. 15."

The Gazette hints that after the war debt discussion is finished the pound may be allowed to come up out of the cellar.

The article states:

"Beyond the shadow of a doubt there emerges the one reassuring fact that we are not merely on the right track, but are progressing and when the exceptional payments on Dec. 1 and Dec. 15 have been squared the strength of our currency will be demonstrated."

Greek Letter Men.

The market letters of brokerage house writers are frequently obscure, sometimes purposely ambiguous. Careful study of them sometimes elicits a remarkable lack of definite information. A well known New York brokerage recently began to issue a market leter in Greek. The purpose was not, as was first supposed, to further confound its clients. The letter is being distributed to Greek customers.

General Steel Castings Has Loss for Nine Months

General Steel Castings corporation for nine months reports a consolidated net loss of $1,815,564, compared with a similar loss of $2,003,125 in the like period of 1931. For the third 1932 quarter the loss aggregated $712,406, against $796,824 in the 1931 period.

Ludlum Steel Co. Reports Third Quarter Deficit

Ludlum Steel company reported for the third quarter net loss of $101,776, against loss of $61,835 for the corresponding 1931 period. For the nine months, the company had a loss of $242,027 against $28,347 a year ago.

Armistice day was observed yesterday by all grain markets in North America by a suspension of trading. Security markets in Chicago were also closed, as well as banks. Yesterday was not a legal holiday in New York and trading was carried on as usual on the New York Stock exchange and other markets there. Trading will be resumed in other markets today.

Kelly Tells Profits from Ads in Papers

High quality newspaper advertising, as a means of increasing sales and converting losses in the packing industry to profits, was suggested to the Institute of American Meat Packers by D. F. Kelly, president of the Fair, yesterday. The packers opened their 27th annual convention, with almost 1,000 in attendance, at the Drake hotel.

D. F. KELLY.

"As one who has spent almost his entire life in the field of retail merchandising," said Mr. Kelley, "I wish to express to you gentlemen the hope that the tremendous influence wielded by the press over the general public might be used to give the American nation a better understanding and greater appreciation of the packing industry and the importance of the rôle it plays in everyday life.

Public Watches Ads.

"Newspapers have helped you through their cooking schools. Is it not time to help yourselves by appropriating more money for advertising? The public has been educated to look for an invitation in the form of an advertisement before it feels the urge to buy."

In discussing the quality of advertising, Mr. Kelly said that recent experiences indicated as never before the need for newspaper advertising of the highest type.

"Many of us believe," he said, "that the newspapers are the most satisfactory media for retail merchants and that if the wares advertised are worthy the response will be satisfactory.

Newspapers Progress.

"The feeling seems to prevail that if you use one paper, you must use all. Railroads and packers have been supervised by the government to a greater extent than any other industries. For that reason the day is past when you need fear the attack of newspapers because of your not using their advertising columns.

"The last ten years have witnessed a radical difference in the viewpoint of the publisher, as well as the advertiser. No reputable publisher would penalize any corporation because of its failure to use his advertising columns."

Stores Depend on Ads.

Mr. Kelly told the packers that the department stores, considered one of the major industries of the country and one that spends more money for newspaper advertising than any other, could never have built up their sales volume without such advertising.

"You have done more or less advertising of fresh meats," said the State street merchant, "but the slogan, 'Use Less Meat,' has gone, I might say, almost unchallenged by you. Especially is this true in the case of beef. The average man or woman pays more attention to diet today in an effort to retain or regain a sylph-like figure. I believe I am a living example of the fact that meat does not necessarily produce fat, for I have eaten everything I wanted all my life and I still weigh 152 pounds."

FIRE BLASTS IN AVIATION CORP. PROXY BATTLE

BY HUGH SEXTON.

The battle for proxies between E. L. Cord, Chicago automobile and airplane manufacturer, and a group of New York bankers, to gain control of the Aviation corporation, holding company for American Airways, broadened in scope yesterday as both groups addressed appeals to stockholders. Cord was temporarily successful in restraining a merger of Aviation corporation and North American Aviation, Inc., through a court injunction.

The proxies are sought for a stockholders' meeting to be held Dec. 21, at which time the Cord group is expected to attempt to elect 33 directors, which, in addition to their 3 at present, would control the board if it is increased from 35 to 68 members.

The consolidation of Aviation corporation and North American would consolidate their respective operating companies, American Airways and Eastern Air Transport. At present American Airways has no practical transcontinental route of its own, but by a merger with EAT would secure an eastern link from Atlanta, Ga., to New York City, forming a direct southern route.

Another Deal Considered.

Another deal was under consideration for Aviation corporation to secure Transamerican Air Lines and combine its routes with those of American Airways also. That would give American Airways a direct route between Chicago and New York City.

The reason for Cord's opposition to the North American-Aviation corporation deal lies in the fact that it was to have been effected by the issuance of 1,996,000 new shares of Aviation corporation stock. That increase in the stock outstanding would reduce the Cord interest from about 30 per cent to about 15 per cent. Cord charged further that the deal involved a "secret agreement" on the part of officers of North American to hold the 1,996,000 shares in a block and vote them with the bankers' group for a period of ten years.

Cohu Sends Letters.

A letter being sent by La Motte T. Cohu, president of the Aviation corporation, to each of the 38,000 stockholders was made public in New York yesterday, according to dispatches.

"For your information," the letter reads, "a certain maker of airplanes, airplane motors, and automobiles, in an endeavor to sell your company his products in his own interest, is attempting to gain control of your company by manipulation, injunctions, and other devices.

"On only a few hours' notice he has secured an injunction preventing your company not only from submitting to you a constructive plan for growth, but he has also enjoined your directors from even communicating the plan or any information concerning it to you.

Urge Support.

"This information will of course be submitted to you shortly when the injunction is lifted, as we confidently expect. Your officers and directors are fully deserving of your support."

Officers of the Cord corporation announced that a proxy committee has been formed for the protection of the stockholders, consisting of Mr. Cord, Frank A. Vanderlip, former president of the National City bank; Louis C. Seaverns of Abbott, Hoppin & Co.; Alan J. Lowrey of E. F. Hutton & Co., and L. B. Manning, vice president of Cord corporation.

Meanwhile Mr. Cord, from his home in Beverly Hills, Cal., issued a statement declaring that the court action and proxy campaign mark "the opening of my battle against Wall street control of institutions financed by stockholders who have no voice in the management of their property."

He denied he had attempted to force officials to buy aviation equipment manufactured by his companies, as had been charged by Cohu.

Denies Cohu Charge.

He also denied Cohu's charge that a controversy over pilots' salaries had precipitated the battle for control of the company. He called the charge a "smoke screen" with which he had previously been threatened. The Air Line Pilots association, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, which called a strike on Cord's Century Air lines last February, last night issued a statement supporting the "present management" of Aviation corporation.

The substance of the charges made by the Cord group upon which the court action was based, and the proxies are requested from the stockholders is that:

1. The group of bankers in control of Aviation corporation seek to perpetuate their control although in possession of only 7 per cent of the stock by two means, a rotating system under which one-third of the board of directors is elected each year, and a secret deal by which a block of 1,996,000 new shares would be issued, to be held and voted for them in block for ten years.

2. That the present management has wasted $28,000,000 in three years.

Fight Has Political Angle.

The present directors of Aviation corporation include W. A. Harriman, chairman of the board, and Robert

Expects Slow, Steady Gain for Cement

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Present conditions in the cement industry point to a slow steady movement away from the low point of the depression to a more prosperous ground, in the opinion of B. F. Affleck, president of the Universal Atlas Cement company, a subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation.

B. F. AFFLECK. [Walinger Photo.]

Because of the present poor picture in the building industry, with which the cement business is closely linked, Mr. Affleck does not look for any spectacular rise. Rather he says that if the cement industry increases its volume 5 per cent or more each year during the next few years it will do well.

Lists Five Favorable Points.

However, Mr. Affleck finds a number of factors favorable to the industry, which are:

1. Present prices are more nearly stabilized than they have been for a long time.

2. Highway construction.

3. Fast rising obsolence in buildings which will demand either replacement or improvement.

4. Increasing demand on the part of the public for fireproof construction both in private and public buildings.

5. The present doubling up of families, which, when times become more normal, will demand construction to provide for their housing needs.

The peak was reached in the cement industry in 1928, Mr. Affleck said, when the nation produced about 175,000,000 barrels. In 1930 and 1931 production dropped sharply and it is estimated that the output for 1932 will not be more than 80,000,000 barrels. In 1915 production stood at 85,914,907 barrels, in 1920 it was 100,023,245 barrels, and in 1925 production was 161,658,000 barrels.

Cement Follows Steel.

The use of cement follows closely that of steel, Mr. Affleck said, and consequently the present production of this basic commodity in point of manufacturing capacity parallels that of steel. Cement plants are now operating at about 19 per cent of capacity. The steel industry has been currently running at from 19 to 21 per cent of capacity.

In the boom period of the late 1920s manufacturing capacity increased at a faster rate than did production, consequently the spread between production and capacity is very wide. One of the big problems of the industry will be to narrow this spread.

In 1932 the average price of cement was $1.44 a barrel, Mr. Affleck said, while now the price averages $1.10. A serious situation which formerly existed because of cutthroat competition has been much improved, he added.

The country's use of cement in normal times is divided as follows: Road paving, 33⅓ per cent; public and commercial buildings, 25 per cent; small towns and farms, 15 per cent; concrete products, 8 per cent; railroads, 6½ per cent; sewers, drainage, etc., 5 per cent; sidewalks and driveways ,4 per cent, and bridges, dams, reservoirs, 4 per cent.

PROSPECTS SEEN BRIGHTER FOR COPPER ACCORD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 11.—Prospects for a settlement of the world copper tangle appeared brighter today, despite the fact that problems facing producers are infinitely more complex now than they were a year ago when existing arrangements were made.

This opinion is being expressed privately in copper circles, even though the public utterances of large foreign producers who have arrived recently deny the view and state that they are not here to arrange any new curtailment arrangements.

It is understood the foreign contingent will attend a number of private conferences, at which a basis for negotiations will be reached and that formal meetings then will take place, possibly as early as the last week of this month. It is admitted the meetings this year will face a more complex situation in view of the new copper impost which went into effect in the United States last June and the British tariff which probably will become effective within a short time.

FRANCO-GERMAN TRADE PARLEY TO BE EXTENDED

BERLIN, Nov. 11.—(AP)—The Franco-German business conference which was opened here today will be eventually widened to include other nations, a government communique said tonight. A French trade and industrial commission headed by Raymond Patenotre, under secretary of state for national economy, arrived today to work out a system of coöperation between the French and German electrical industries.

Chancellor Franz von Papen gave the members of the commission a warm welcome and told them that he thought coöperation between French and German business men and industrialists could serve as a basis for political rapprochement between the two countries.

The chancellor said that existing Franco-German commercial treaties had been more effective and more successful than similar treaties with other nations.

The Graham-Paige Motors corporation is currently placing orders for $1,500,000 worth of material for delivery between Dec. 1 and Feb. 1.

STOCK LEADERS RECORD 3 TO 4 POINT GAINS

Market Most Lively in Five Weeks.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 11.—Stocks pushed on ahead today in the broadest and most active market in more than five weeks, or since early in October. Gains of 3 and 4 points were scored by numerous trading favorites and the turnover was in excess of 2,500,000 shares, nearly a million larger than that of yesterday.

The aggressive sponsorship behind the list which manifested itself in orders for blocks of from 1,000 to 6,000 shares aroused a widespread belief that another "confidence inspiring" market may be in the making. Much of the energy behind the movement is reputedly coming from sources which contributed so largely to the initial impulse of the summer advance. This is another way of saying that the rally so far is largely a professional affair and, since no one presumes to say that business has suddenly revived, therefore largely artificial.

Report Foreign Buying.

Brokers reported growing evidence of public participation and an encouraging volume of foreign buying, the last named interpreted to mean that European traders are counting on the change in administrations to provide a tonic for business in this country.

No doubt the excellent performance of the market in the late trading yesterday accounted for much of the buying which made its appearance early in today's session. The large number of orders on hand at the opening—the largest accumulation in weeks—enabled the list to push through the tops of its preëlection trading range in the first hour and establish what looked to a large number of tape followers like a definite upward trend.

Prices Move Higher.

This brought in fresh buying and prices moved steadily higher until about the middle of the afternoon. Then a bear sortie, inspired by a belief that the move had gone far enough without any more backing from trade statistics than it has, brought on a mild reaction. The trend soon turned upward again, however, and final prices in a majority of instances were around the highs of the day.

Railroad shares were again prominent on the advance. Union Pacific was the leader of the group, soaring nearly 5 points to close at 74⅞. Norfolk and Western rose 6 points on a couple of sales, and gains of from 2 to 3 points or so were made by Atchison, Delaware and Hudson, Lackawanna, Southern Pacific, Louisville and Nashville, and others. The generally accepted belief that tomorrow's report on freight carloadings would show another sizable drop was ignored in the conviction that the carriers are entitled to show the way out of the new slump that overtook the market in September as they did in the rally from the depths last July.

Leaders to Gain.

Such leaders as United States Steel, American Telephone, Westinghouse, Du Pont, United Aircraft, Consolidated Gas, Allied Chemical, and a majority of issues that stand to benefit from any modification of the Volstead act, such as National Distillers, Owen Illinois Glass and the like, were traded in briskly at mounting prices. Telephone went to 112¼, a net gain of 4½ points; Columbian Carbon rose 3¾, and International Business Machine 5½ points.

Although the Chicago wheat pit was closed in observation of Armistice day, the Liverpool market reflected a good demand, with an advance of about 1 cent a bushel in prices, and this gave the farm implements and mail order shares a fresh fillip. Case jumped ahead 3½ points and Sears Roebuck bettered its standing by more than a point.

Utilities Do Better.

The utilities got over whatever qualms they may have had on the score of the election result and various issues of the group performed better than they have in weeks. Brooklyn Union Gas jumped 4⅛ points on a small turnover.

One conspicuous exception to the general display of strength was Homestake Mining, which turned reactionary following recent exertions on the upside.

Sealed bids, in triplicate, subject to the conditions contained herein, will be received by the Veterans Administration, Room 704, Arlington Building, Washington, D. C., until 2:30 P. M., December 20, 1932, and then publicly opened for furnishing all labor and materials and performing all work required for constructing and finishing complete at Veterans Administration, San Francisco, California, Buildings and Utilities. This work includes wrecking, moving and reconditioning of old buildings, excavating, grading, roads, walks, grading and drainage, reinforced concrete, hollow tile, cut stone, architectural terra cotta, cast stone, slate stair treads, marble work, terrazzo, floor and wall tile, rubber tile, compressed asphalt tile and linoleum floors, waterproofing, iron work, aluminum sundries, steel sash, steel stairs, steel shelving, partitions and cabinets, built-up roofing, sheet metal work, insulators, skylights, lathing, plastering, sound deadening, carpentry, platform scales, insect screens, painting, glazing, hardware, plumbing, heating and ventilating, boiler plant equipment, steel stack, electrical work, electric and hydraulic elevators and dumb-waiters, refrigerating and ice making plant, and outside sewer, water, gas, steam and electric distribution systems, and such other items as shown or specified. Separate bids will be received for (a) General Construction; (b) Plumbing, Heating and Electrical Work; (c) Electric and Hydraulic Elevators; and (d) Refrigerating and Ice Making Plants, all as set forth on bid form. Bids will be considered only from individuals, firms or corporations possessing satisfactory financial and technical ability, equipment and organization to insure speedy completion of the contract and in making awards, the records of bidders for expedition and satisfactory performance on contracts of similar character and magnitude will be carefully considered. At the discretion of the Administrator, drawings and specifications may be obtained upon application in writing to the Construction Service, Room 704, Arlington Building, Washington, D. C., or to the Supervising Superintendent of Construction, Veterans Administration Hospital, Palo Alto, California. While no deposit will be necessary, return of the drawings and specifications within ten days after date of opening bids will be required. In case no bid is to be submitted, the return of plans and specifications, as soon as this fact has been determined and before the date for opening bids, is requested. Compliance with the requirement and with the request, indicated will be considered in connection with future applications for drawings and specifications. George E. Ijams, Assistant Administrator.

PRICES OF HOGS EASE AS LARGER SUPPLIES ARRIVE

Clearance Good and Close Proves Strong.

An increase in hog receipts yesterday sent prices down 10@20c at the opening, but demand expanded immediately on the break and part of the early losses were recovered on a strong close. The clearance was as good as any time this week. The extreme top reached $3.95 at the finish, showing only 5c loss from the preceding session, but the general average declined 15c to $3.85.

Buyers with eastern connections entered the market with the largest shipping orders in six weeks and met plenty of competition from local houses. Armour, Swift and Wilson handled a combined total of 8,500, most of them good to choice 200@300 lb averages at $3.60@3.70.

Fancy underweights on the pig order outsold all other weights, with 150 lb averages at the top of the list. The latter kinds are scarce and in demand at all centers. At this time in 1931 such weights were abundant due to the liquidation of light weights at that time.

Pork Price Rises.

Another rise in the wholesale price of pork loins put the top up to 15c, highest since early September and 7c above the low day of last week.

Receipts yesterday at 18,000 were 7,000 above the advance estimate and 9,000 above 10,200 a week ago. This increase gave the trade a chance to test the current level of prices. While prices lost some of the recent gains, which was to be expected, leaders were well satisfied with the performance of the market under pressure of receipts. Only a scant 2,000 pen holders were left at the finish.

Traders are a little concerned about the effect the first bad weather of the winter might have on receipts for next week. Reports indicate supplies are commencing to move more freely at some points, though snowstorms have curtailed the movement in some parts of the west.

Cattle Run Sells Quickly.

Yesterday's small run of 1,000 cattle sold quickly at strong prices on the liveliest session of the week. Nothing choice arrived, the best here selling at $7.75, while the bulk of steers brought $5.00@6.15. There has been a two way trend in cattle most of the week. Demand has been gradually shifting to lighter weights as the proportion of fat medium and heavy steers increased. The latter are closing 25@50c lower than a week ago, while all other weights and species show gains over a week ago.

This same trend of demand is evidenced in the wholesale beef trade, where biggest carcasses have been hard to move, with the lighter kinds active and higher. Cattle averaging 1,000 lbs and less show gains of 25@50c for the week, and in some places are 75c above the low point of a week ago.

Butcher stock closed the week with gain of 25@50c. Bulls advanced 50@65c. Canners and cutters went up 25@35c. Calves gained 50c, and stockers and feeders gained mostly 25c.

East Buying Lambs.

Further gains of 25c were recorded in lambs yesterday, with the clearance good for all classes of ovine stock. Eastern buyers were aggressive. Available supplies of dressed lamb in the coolers of packing houses have dropped down to where there is an actual shortage of the meat. Receipts the last few days of colder weather have not been large enough to take care of the current demand.

All interests paid $6.50, the top yesterday, for fed western and native lambs, while the majority of the crop were fed westerns averaging 85@103 lbs at $6.00@6.35. Slaughter lambs are closing 60@75c higher than a week ago. Yearlings advanced 50@75c during the week, while other classes of sheep closed strong to 25c higher. Receipts were smallest since the last week of July.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 200 cattle, 5,000 hogs, and 1,000 sheep, against 766 cattle, 4,415 hogs, and 3,225 sheep the previous Saturday, and 238 cattle, 21,686 hogs, and 4,602 sheep a year ago.

Probable receipts of hogs at Chicago for next Monday are estimated from 25,000 to 42,000. H. Pattison marked 25,000; G. Chandler, 30,000; W. T. Reneker, 31,000; F. W. Young and H. S. Turner, 33,000; S. Lund, J. M. Waters, R. B. Ellis, A. G. Welhener, and H. Wolfe, 35,000; F. M. Sherwood, 39,000; R. Trullinger, 40,000, and F. Knutzen, 42,000.

Big Carpet Shipment Here for Stocking Warehouse

One of the largest single shipments of carpet in recent months arrived in Chicago yesterday from Sanford, Maine, for the new warehouse and distributing rooms of L. C. Chase & Co., at 21st and Fisk streets. The first carload to reach the siding contained forty-seven rolls and twenty-eight cases of Seamloc carpet, a total of nearly 4,000 yards. A second carload is enroute and will be followed by others, according to Frank E. Steimle, in charge of the distributing office here. The establishment of warehouse and mill distributing facilities for the Chase company in Chicago territory follows appointment of wholesale and retail dealers here and was decided upon to meet the increasing demand for faster deliveries, in this territory.

Lehman, chairman of the executive committee. Lehman is a brother of the governor elect of New York state.

Silliman Evans, publicity director of the Aviation corporation, directed the publicity campaign of Vice President Elect John N. Garner. Breaking into print immediately after the election, the contest between the present management and the Cord group has acquired a political tinge, persons in the air transport industry disclosed yesterday.

Background of Fight.

The background of the battle between the Cord and Harriman groups extends as far back as the "boom" times in 1928 when the large aviation holding companies were formed. Harriman, Lehman, and others comprising the bankers' group were among the organizers of the large holding companies. Richard Hoyt of Hayden Stone & Co. was behind the formation of North American Aviation, Inc., and was associated with Curtiss-Wright.

Cord, on the other hand, is a newcomer in the air transport field. He formed the Century Air Lines early in 1931, reduced passenger fares drastically, and instituted severe operations economies as a corollary. Last February a strike of pilots who objected to a salary cut resulted in the merging of his Century Air Lines with American Airways, subsidiary of Aviation corporation.

Since last April 1, when the deal became effective, many of the economies practiced by the Cord industries have been put into effect in American Airways with a resulting decrease in operating costs to the point that the system of air lines is about to make an operating profit. In the original Century deal, and by later purchases, Cord secured about 800,000 shares of the 2,770,000 outstanding of Aviation corporation.

Then Cord, through an agent, purchased 45 per cent of the stock of Transamerican Airlines, operating between Detroit and Chicago. It was obviously an attempt to create a second air route between Chicago and New York, the most heavily traveled route in the world. Subsequently, Transamerican has extended its service to Buffalo, and American Airways is understood to be seeking a connecting route between Buffalo and New York City.

Hoyt Blocks Plan.

But Cord could not secure control of Transamerican. More than 50 per cent of the stock was controlled by Hoyt. In spite of the Cord interest, Transamerican has purchased more than $300,000 of Curtiss-Wright airplane equipment.

At this point Cord proposed an alteration of the bylaws of Aviation corporation which, he said, would make possible the selection of directors more in accordance with the wishes of the stockholders. Instead, he claims, the "secret deal" between Harriman and controlling interests of North American Aviation, Inc., was conceived and about to be pushed through a directors' meeting when he intervened with an injunction.

The dominating influence in North American Aviation, Inc., is now Bancamerica-Blair corporation, it was learned. Yesterd. y George N. Armsby, chairman of the board of Bancamerica-Blair corporation, was elected chairman of the board of the North American Aviation.

THOUSANDS BACK AT WORK ON NEW CHEVROLET CAR

General Motors Spending 40 Million on Program.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 11.—The Chevrolet Motor company, which claims leadership for sales volume in 1931 and 1932, yesterday announced that a new model will be placed on the market next month. There are well founded reports, but nothing official, that other General Motors corporation units, Buick, Oldsmobile, Pontiac, La Salle, and Cadillac, are also under way with their 1933 models.

Smoke is belching from foundry stacks. Thousands of men are being recalled to work and former employes only are being hired. The corporation is building $20,000,000 worth of vehicles merely to stock the dealers with demonstrators and sales room displays. And hundreds of tons of iron and steel are being molded, shaped, machined, and tooled.

Will Have Sweeping Lines.

This much was made known about the new models. General Motors, with its reputation for conservatism, is breaking away from its styles of former years, adopting the sweeping lines that were thought radical when they were introduced by a few manufacturers in 1931 and by others in 1932.

Officials also stated that none of the General Motors line will reduce size or quality to obtain a price cut greater than consistent with economies in production and marketing.

The corporation will not follow a depression merchandising line of other businesses of selling a 10 cent bag of apples for 3 cents by removing some of the apples.

The statement is particularly significant as it applies to Chevrolet because it squelched rumors that the company was coming out with a half sized automobile or a model stripped of all appliances except the bare needs of transportation.

Will Be Larger.

"Our 1933 model," said Harry J. Klingler, vice president and general sales manager, "will be bigger and more luxurious than its predecessors. We'll stay in our present price class and sell more automobiles next year than in 1932, regardless of whether there's any improvement in general economic conditions.

"If beer is legalized there will be an improvement in the automobile trade as well as business generally. The repeal of a measure enacted for war time economy will have the beneficial effect intended by its original enactment. Chevrolet is prepared to get its share of this new business."

William A. Bices, general sales manager of the Buick-Olds-Pontiac Sales corporation, declined to verify the reports, but it is believed that the Buick will be the first of the new General Motors cars to be seen by the public. All, however, will be ready before the national automobile show opens in New York shortly after the first of the year.

PRODUCE MARKETS

Trading in produce was of fair volume yesterday, supplies generally were ample, and prices were little changed. Thanksgiving time always brings a good business in dressed poultry, the interest in which has increased sharply within the last few years, with trade more general and prices decidedly reasonable as compared with recent years.

Turkeys advanced 1c yesterday, while prices on other poultry were steady. Receipts of potatoes were 48 cars, and for the 5 days this week 300 cars, against 344 cars the previous week and 489 cars last year. The market is said to be in good condition, although dealers are not stocking up.

The government report for November makes the potato crop 353,000,000 bu, or 17,000,000 bu less than harvested last year, which is about equal to the five year average.

BEER PROSPECTS GIVE NEW HOPE FOR BARLEY CROP

Movement On to Resume Trading in Futures.

BY CHARLES M. CHAELS.

Prospects of a return of real beer to the general public are hailed by numerous interests as one of the best things that can happen to agriculture, railroads, manufacturers of brewing machinery, and labor. The millions of dollars that would be paid out for barley annually in brewing has revived interest in the grain trade, especially at Chicago, and a movement has been started among the grain men here and in the west and northwest looking toward a resumption of general speculative trading in barley for future delivery.

For many years there was a large speculative trading in barley, but it was abandoned, owing to market manipulation of strong interests. The resumption of trading in futures in barley started on Thursday in Chicago, and cash grain and speculative houses have taken special interest.

James E. Bennett, president of the Association of American Commission Merchants, says he will call a meeting of the association next week to discuss the situation and provide for investigation into future developments. He believes there should be two grades of barley established, a malting and feeding grade.

Wants Rules Changed.

Mr. Bennett advocates having rules of the Chicago Board of Trade changed to provide for delivery of both grades of Chicago as well as Milwaukee. That is, barley that is stored at Milwaukee can be delivered there on purchases made in Chicago futures, the same as cotton futures bought at Chicago are delivered at Houston or Galveston. Rail freight rates, he thinks, can be readjusted so that barley from southern Minnesota, South Dakota, and Iowa can be moved to Milwaukee and Chicago on the same basis. There are understood that rates to both Chicago and Milwaukee are practically the same.

Mr. Bennett is enthusiastic over the prospect of reviving the speculative and cash grain in barley to a volume that will compare with years ago when there were numerous specialties who catered to the interests of brewers and the general public, and millions of bushels were handled.

Will Reopen Corn Mills.

The return of the manufacture of real beer will result in the reopening of corn mills in different parts of the country that consumed millions of bushels of corn annually in the making of corn grits used especially by brewers. The barley crop of the country is produced largely in Illinois, Iowa, and the northwest. The total production of the United States for this year is 312,000,000 bu, compared with 198,000,000 bu last year and a five year average of 219,000,000.

The price of barley is determined largely by its color and malting possibilities, and at present it is sold largely by sample. Receipts from Chicago run from 20,000 to 30,000 bu a week, with shipments close to the receipts. Sales of No. 2 in the cash sample market at Chicago on Thursday at 27c and sample grade at 30@27c. At Chicago it is by no means necessary to change that it will not be necessary to change that it will not be necessary at Chicago—No. 1 fine grades of barley at Chicago—No. 1 fine grades of barley is deliverable at 2c over contract price, and special No. 2 barley at contract price.

MEN—TODAY!

AT 11 A. M.—NO OTHER TIME!
WE ARE INTERESTED IN TALKING TO a few serious-minded men, outlining a plan that will bring you the same early, continuous and increasing financial results it has brought others! Men in this business make $400, $500, $600, $800, and up to and beyond $1,000 monthly after they thoroughly learn how to properly present our products. Included in the lines in 47 countries and requires several large factories to produce, giving employment to thousands of persons. This business is in its 34th consecutive months of increase in America, and 1932 will be our best year. Beginners must be satisfied with less for a few weeks as they learn this business. Our men are from all walks of life and many are making far more than they ever dreamed possible in trades or professions. This work is year 'round and permanent.
MANY men in this business enjoy increased weekly earnings because of proper training and intelligent effort. You start on the same basis as the oldest men in Electrical Refrigeration. Don't get mad, and enjoy the same financial independence.
GOOD CHARACTER REFERENCES are necessary. We prefer men 26 to 45 who can finance $100 INVESTMENT or deposit of any kind required.
BE HERE AT 11 SHARP THIS MORNING —no other time. It will be the best investment you have ever made. Call at Room 329, Madison-Kedzie Bldg., 9 S. Kedzie-av.
